NO COSTUME FOR A COED!—Vicki Gross, Edna Maguire School eighth grader, cocks a quizzical look at the uniform of Ted Schneider, captain of the honor rank in Tamalpais High School's marching band. Reason for her interest is that there is a squabble at Tamalpais as to whether girls should be admitted to the all-male band and Vicki, a band student, will enter Tamalpais in the fall.

$8.4 Million In Point Reyes, Bolinas Harbor Funds Asked

Entire California Coast In Planning

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Small boat harbors at Bolinas and Point Reyes costing 8.4 million dollars, as a part of a chain of refuge harbors the full length of the state, were proposed to the legislature today.

The 81.6 million dollar project, envisioning harbors every 35 miles from Mexico to the Oregon border was recommended by the State Small Craft Harbor Commission.

In an interim report requested by the legislature, the commission said construction of 13 harbors would cost 61.3 million dollars and improvement of four others at 7.3 million dollars. Under the plan, prepared for the commission by the consulting firm of Leeds, Hill and Jewett, Inc., of San Francisco, the Army Engineers also would spend 13 million dollars in improving the existing harbor at Noyo in Mendocino County.

The commission asked the legislature to "appropriate funds for formation of definite plans for the specific refuge harbors."

'IMMEDIATE' ONES

The report listed construction costs at Bolinas harbor at 6.2 million dollars and Point Reyes, 2.2 million dollars.

Elvin A. Curtis, administrative officer for the Small Craft Harbors Division, said the two were "among the 13 most immediate ones, the ones that we'd like to see constructed as soon as possible."

The Bolinas project involves construction of a west jetty for 3,700 feet into the ocean and a 900 foot east jetty flanking the entrance to Bolinas Lagoon. The west jetty goes about 3000 feet to sea in a southerly direction, then turns almost at right angles and goes east for another 700 feet.

DRAKE'S BAY

The Point Reyes harbor would be in Drake's Bay east of the Coast Guard station, protected by a 2,200 foot breakwater which would start about 2500 feet north of Chimney Rock and run north and slightly west. The project also calls for installation of navigational aids and fixed anchors.

It also described possible construction of berths and other facilities for home port development at Point Reyes, but notes these would not be needed for a refuge harbor.

It was estimated that there are 19 existing harbors which would fit into the refuge chain, including Bodega Bay in Sonoma County which would get a $700,000 improvement project.

Lachlan Richards, chief of the division, said 130,000 boats now venture into the ocean from California ports each year, but can't range far from their home ports. He said they make 3.6 million trips a year.

President Details Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy urged Congress today to cut taxes by 3.2 billion dollars this year as the first step toward an eventual 18 per cent slash in the average tax bill.

Setting forth the long-awaited details of his tax program, Kennedy asked 1963 cuts be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

However, the pocketbook effect on individuals would only come if and when a new tax law was enacted and employers began withholding less tax money. Kennedy assumes, perhaps optimistically, that this can be done by July 1.

Proposed tax savings, to be parceled out over a three-year period, would go as high as 39 per cent for nearly 10 million low-income house-holders. At the upper end of the income scale, the average cut would be 9 per cent.

The program would combine 13.6 billion dollars of individual and corporate rate cuts with 3.4 billion dollars of revenue-raising changes in time-honored special tax benefits. The net tax reduction thus would be 10.2 billion dollars.

In seeking revision of benefit provisions, Kennedy called for the most sweeping overhaul of the basic tax law in more than 20 years. His proposals would affect itemized deductions, capital gains taxes, sick pay benefits and a variety of other entrenched items.

Plugging for early action, Kennedy said:

"Our economy is checkreined today by a warborn tax system at a time when it is far

SCIENCE CENTER OUT

Tiburon Net Depot To Be Used For Rocket Research

The Tiburon Navy Net Depot will be used as a base for research on rocket testing and not as a science center for marine research as Marin civic leaders had hoped.

The intention to convert the base, which manufactured submarine nets during Warld War II, into a rocket launch test facility has been confirmed in two letters from top-ranking Navy Department officials.

One of the letters, dated Jan. 10 from James H. Wakelin Jr., assistant secretary of the Navy for research and development to Daniel C. Davis, president of the Marin County Development Assn., was read last night to members of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council.

"At the present time," the letter said, "the Navy Department plans to utilize all available space at this activity to support its astronautics research program.

"The research to be conducted at the Tiburon facility is directed toward the development of the concept of launching rocket-propelled vehicles from a floating or submerged position."

Branwell D. Fanning, chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council, said council members last night were relieved to hear that there would be no manufacturing on the site as earlier rumored. But they were disappointed, he said, to be told that the possibility of a permanent marine science center

Hub City Parking Project Launched

The San Anselmo city council last night authorized a $2,500 outlay for the first stage of a parking project aimed at building about nine offstreet parking sites for more than 400 cars.

Mozart Kaufman, chairman of a citizens committee which has been working on the city's town center plan, presented a four-stage program of setting up a parking assessment district to be financed by property owners and businessmen. The money advanced by the city will be repaid when the assessment district is set up, Kaufman explained.

He warned that giant shopping centers like the Northgate

$1.6 MILLION BONDS FOR DIXIE BALLOT

A 1.6-million-dollar bond issue will be put on the ballots of voters in the Dixie School District April 16 at the regular school trustee election.

The district board agreed last night to propose the big bond issue for future school construction after a study and review of recommendations made by the district finance committee.

Size of the bond issue was determined by:

1. Population growth in the district indicates that by 1968 there will be a need to house an extra 2,500 pupils.

2. Assessed valuation of the district is expected to be at least 35 million dollars by 1968, twice that of present assessed valuation.

Future needs will include, the board said, a new seventh and eighth grade school at the Miller Creek School site in Marinwood at a cost of $500,000; a new school in Terra Linda at a cost of $300,000; a new school and site west of the Nunes Ranch in the Lucas Valley at a cost of $450,000; possible new school and site between Lucas Valley and Terra Linda at a cost of $450,000; additions to existing schools, and possible new sites for schools east of Highway 101.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis said the bond issue would be a continuation of the district's building program and that the combination of bond retirement and state loan retirement will not affect the present tax rate but will only extend the time necessary to retire debts.

The board authorized Penrod Moss, curriculum consultant, to teach in a summer school at Cambridge, Mass., sponsored this year by the National Science Foundation.

PG&E Requests Cut In Rates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pacific Gas and Electric Co asked the California Public Utilities Commission yesterday for permission to pass a four-million-dollar yearly saving on to its customers.

The rate cut would be effective Jan. 31.

The proposal mirrors a $4,091,000 reduction in the cost of gas purchased from El Paso Natural Gas Co. The El Paso cut was ordered after a long fight by California authorities against a series of price raises by the Texas corporation.

PG&E serves 1.8 million gas customers in 33 California counties. The price cut would lower base rates of "firm customers," such as householders, by 1.186 cents a month per thousand cubic feet.

'Squaws' Want To Join Band

Should Tamalpais High School permit girls to join its all-male Tamalpais Marching band?

This is a big issue on the campus of the Indians today since (1) the school must order new uniforms and (2) a number of girls, who are taking band instrumental music at Edna Maguire School, a junior high, will be coming to Tamalpais in the fall.

No girls have been allowed in the band for 15 years although more than 60 per cent of other California high school marching bands have girl members.

Last Friday students met with band director Robert Greenwood in the Band Box to discuss the subject.

One student, speaking against "squaws" in the band, said that a girl in a military dress uniform, which is primarily what the band uniform is, looks "positively ridiculous."

Others felt it is a girl's right to join and that, instead of long pants, girls could wear skirts.

Greenwood said if girls were allowed to join they might have to supply their own uniforms since the school couldn't replace them every time the style changes.

On a more concrete basis it was stated that the band, now about 50 strong, would gain 20 members.

No Air Cover Plan, Kennedy Asserts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said today there never was any plan to use U.S. air cover for the Bay of Pigs invasion.

At his news conference, the president supported the statements of his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who denied earlier this week that U.S. Air Force cover had been promised and then withdrawn.

Higher Aid For Aged Demanded

Marin County supervisors unanimously adopted a resolution yesterday demanding state increase of the rate schedule of the medical assistance to the aged program which threatens care of the aged in Marin convalescent homes.

"We should put a seal on it and send it special delivery to the governor," Chairman Walter R. Castro suggested.

On motion of Supervisor Peter Behr, the board agreed to ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown for "a reply within two weeks as to what and when action will be taken."

The resolution will also be sent to the State Department of Finance. It was submitted by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire as a revision of an earlier resolution which the board found too strongly worded.

The revised resolution again said the finance department's cost analysis included only the three smaller and lowest-priced of nine Marin nursing homes and declared that the "reasonableness" of such procedure was "questionable" since Marin costs actually average $350 monthly rather than the $219 finally set.

"Unreasonable and realistic" was the board's term for the whole method of audit which was said to have created a price structure which "will for all practical purposes in Marin County effectively destroy the MAA program which has been established by state law."

HUB IS DEADLOCKED OVER COUNCILMAN

San Anselmo city fathers, deadlocked 2-2 last night on the choice of a new councilman, will meet again tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in an attempt to break the impasse.

A successor is needed for Councilman Robert E. Rouse, who resigned Jan. 8 because he moved to Sacramento. Unless a successor is picked in 30 days (by Feb. 8), a special election must be called.

Mayor John M. Reichmuth announced five possible candidates which had been submitted to him. He nominated Cedric E. Clute of 84 Melville Avenue, a real estate salesman. Councilman William Franchini seconded the nomination.

Councilman Woodrow Capurro then nominated Lawrence Antolini, who owns Laurie's Cleaners and is a member of the San Anselmo Board of Review. Councilman Arthur W. Smith seconded that nomination.

Nominations were closed, and the subsequent voting found the four councilmen split two and two on both Clute and Antolini.

Capurro then called for a public election, pointing out that there are many good men available, and "I believe it should be left to the people to elect."

Administrator Douglas Flautt estimated that the cost of a special election would be $800 to $1,000.

Mayor Reichmuth made one more try for a compromise selection by nominating Charles R. Leitzell, chairman of the city planning commission. But his colleagues pointed out that the nominations had been closed.

Capurro moved for a special election, but that motion died from lack of a second.

At Councilman Smith's repeated suggestion, the councilmen decided to meet again tomorrow night. "I think we can get together," Smith said hopefully.

Besides Clute, Antolini and Leitzell, two others were mentioned last night. They are Homer Crowell, supervisors at San Quentin Prison, and Richard Hartshorne of 300 Oak Avenue, an engineer. Crowell ran unsuccessfully for the council post in April of last year.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Two Red Border Guards Escape

BERLIN (AP)—Two uniformed East German border guards were injured today in desperate 25-foot leaps from a house as they made good their escape to West Berlin. The Red guards were taken to a hospital.

West Berlin police said the guards jumped from the roof of a house on the northern end of the Communist wall dividing the city.

Another escape attempt during the night failed. Western police saw a Communist search party of 10 guards with dogs track down a man near the wall. He was taken away.

Nearly 50 Die In Europe Freeze

ROME (AP)—Southern Europe's worst winter in a decade continued full force today, leaving nearly 50 persons dead in Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece.

The freeze isolated hundreds of mountain communities in Italy and northern Greece and piled up unaccustomed snowdrifts in southern Italy as it spread along the Mediterranean to Turkey.

Italy counted 20 dead, Greece three and Yugoslavia 25 in the recent days of extreme cold.

Hundreds of cattle and other livestock also have perished.

Princess Engaged

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI)—Danish Princess Anne-Marie, 16, is engaged to Crown Prince Constantine, 22, of Greece.

The Creek and Danish royal families made the surprise announcement yesterday.

Aid To Retarded

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Youngsters who can't learn because of brain damage from birth or unknown reasons would benefit from an educational program proposed by Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie (D-Antioch).

Waldie said yesterday that such children aren't in on present programs for mentally retarded or physically handicapped children.

Expecting 8th Child

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, wife of the attorney general and sister-in-law of the president, is expecting her eighth child in July, the Washington Post reported today.

Cubans Ready To Leave

HAVANA (AP) — Hundreds of Cubans leaving for the United States aboard the American freighter Shirley Lykes hurried to comply today with the Castro regime's departure requirements.

Under recent regulations they were required to forfeit their homes and automobiles to the state and to pay all utility bills before leaving. They were allowed to take no jewelry and were permitted only three changes of clothing.

No sailing time was announced for the Shirley Lykes.

The Pan American Airways plane which flew in cots and blankets returned to Miami yesterday with 102 passengers. All were U.S. citizens of Cuban descent or their dependents born in Cuba.

Absentee Ballots

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Senate bill introduced yesterday would allow receipt of absentee ballots up to 5 p.m. the day prior to an election.

At present, said Sen. Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville), ballots must be in by midnight three days before election day. This law was passed following the 1960 election when absentee ballots prevented for eight days knowing whether Richard M. Nixon or John F. Kennedy won the state's presidential electoral votes.

A Hero No More

POMONA (UPI) — A 30-year-old father of five, who was hailed as a hero for rescuing his children from a fire Jan. 9, will be arraigned Feb. 5 on charges of attempting to murder the youngsters.

William Carrell was bound over to superior court yesterday after a preliminary hearing on five counts of attempted murder and one of arson.

After the fire, Carrell told investigators he set his home ablaze in an attempt to prove to his wife she was neglecting their children. He said he did not think of the youngsters, ranging in age from 19 months to nine years, until later.

Sculptor Dies

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Lee Lawrie, 85, one of the world's leading sculptors, died yesterday. Lawrie probably was best known for his statue of Atlas, which stands in Rockefeller Center in New York City.

'Antique' Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — American-made Jupiter missiles seem destined to be pulled out of Turkey and Italy because in only four years they have become antiques of the rocket age.

Behind the scenes negotiations point toward withdrawal of 30 Jupiters from Italy and 15 from Turkey.

When they are dismantled, and 60 somewhat similar Thor missiles are finally removed from Britain, there will be no more deep-striking land-based ballistic missiles implaced in North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries and aimed at targets in the Soviet Union.

Rhodesia Speaker

Herbert Ramushu, principal of Rusununguko Elementary School in Southern Rhodesia, will speak to the Problems in American Democracy classes at Tamalpais High School on Feb. 4. He will speak as part of the School Affiliation Service Conference which is presented by the American Friends Service Committee.

Tippy Will Not Leave Boy's Bed

TWO DEAD IN FIRE

Mongrel Dog Sticks By His Dead Master's Bed

SUN VALLEY (Los Angeles County) (AP) — Authorities have given up attempts to lure Tippy, a mongrel dog, from the bed of his dead 4-year-old master.

The dog was the only survivor yesterday of a fire which killed his owner, Hayes Eaton Jr., and the boy's mother, Barbara Eaton, 35. Both suffocated.

Mrs. Eaton's husband, Hayes, a bartender, was at work when the fire broke out in their two bedroom home.

After the fire, Tippy, jumped up on the boy's bed. He was lured away once but he came back. Repeated efforts by firemen and neighbors to keep him away failed.

DeKaplany Is Called 'Delusive Paranoid'

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Dr. Geza deKaplany, acid-bath slayer of his beautiful wife, was pictured as a "delusive paranoid" by his defense attorney at his sanity trial yesterday.

Attorney E. F. De Vilbiss concentrated on the issues of paranoia and homosexuality in questioning two court-appointed psychiatrists serving as prosecution witnesses.

De Kaplany, 37, an aristocratic former Hungarian rebel, poured nitric acid over the body of his wife, Hajna, last Aug. 28.

De Vilbiss displayed a picture of a woman on a couch to Dr. Kristian Johnsen, an Agnews State Hospital psychiatrist who interviewed de Kaplany several times.

He asked the psychiatrist to study the picture and tell the court whom he thought it was. The psychiatrist looked at Dr. deKaplany and said he did "see a resemblance."

De Vilbiss then said, "If I told you it was Dr. Geza deKaplany would you put much faith in his statement of a normal sex history?"

Dr. Johnsen said that "normal sex history" was deKaplany's phrase.

De Vilbiss asked Johnsen why anyone would perform such torture. The psychiatrist replied, "This is a definite reaction to intense emotion—anger, jealousy." Dr. Johnsen said he believed the defendant was sane when he interviewed him.

Another psychiatrist, Dr. John B. Peschau Jr., who also interviewed deKaplany, concluded that he was sane.

Big New School Spending Opposed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate's budget chief, charging "we've been bilked for years" by pleas for more classroom money, served notice today he'll oppose any big new spending program for California's public schools.

At the same time, Chairman George Miller Jr. of the Senate Finance Committee frowned on a Brown administration proposal to install a withholding system for state income taxes.

"At first blush, I don't like it," the Martinez Democrat said.

Miller said he didn't rule out some increase in state school support. But he said flatly "there is no possibility" that the legislature will vote the additional 115 million dollars sought by the California Teachers Assn.

The veteran senator predicted something will be done this session to limit the size of classes—either a premium for small classes or a penalty on large ones. He said:

"Year after year, we've been giving the schools additional money to cut down on class size. But they have made no real effort to cut down. Instead, they have been spending money for more and more supervisory employees. They've become top-heavy in administrative personnel.

"Well, they can just put many of these people back into the classrooms. We've been bilked for years on the promise by the schools to reduce the size of their classes."

Miller emphasized that enrollment growth alone would boost state subsidies for education next year by 45 million dollars for kindergartens through junior college. On top of that, he said the state colleges and University of California will require undetermined increases.

"There just is no place to get anything like 100 million dollars," he said. "We'll have to use a mighty sharp pencil as it is to provide the essentials for the state government and still remain within our income."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's finance director, Hale Champion, has said the state will be able to meet increased costs without new taxes by ending installment payment of income taxes and initiating a pay-as-you-go system on these levies.

Miller called the plan "just a device to bring in more money in one year." The state would collect in 1963-64 the taxes that normally would be paid in 1964-65.

The finance committee chairman said he supported the proposal to get away from installment payments but that withholding would impose an added burden on small businessmen and small taxpayers.

Miller warmly endorsed Brown's no-new-tax pledge and said he definitely looked for no increases for the next two years. Beyond that, he said it will depend on a number of economic factors.

"We'll have to effect all possible savings," hes aid, "and see to it that we enact state budgets without frills or flourishes. We have to provide what the people need and not what they'd like to have."

Witness Tells Of Iva Checks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The prosecution continued its case today in the murder trial of Iva Kroeger, and her husband, Ralph.

The Kroegers are accused of killing Mildred, 58, and her estranged husband, Jay Arneson, 70, in order to gain ownership of the Arneson motel in Santa Rosa.

Testimony yesterday was mainly concerned with traveler's checks belonging to Mrs. Arneson that allegedly were cashed Dec. 17, 1961, two days after she disappeared, by Mrs. Kroeger.

Nigel Dodger, owner of the motel next to the Arneson's in Santa Rosa, said he cashed two of the checks worth $40 for Mrs. Kroeger the same day. When he noticed the checks were purchased but not countersigned by Mrs. Arneson, he asked for the money back. Mrs. Kroeger brought back the money, Dodge said, with the comment, "This is just another incident in which Mildred has gypped me."

Dodge also said Mrs. Kroeger used the name of Mrs. E. C. Long.

Dodge added Mrs. Kroeger had told him she had invested in the motel and then told conflicting stories regarding the Arneson's disappearance.

NEW FLURRY OVER RUSS ARMS IN CUBA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse has ordered an immediate Senate investigation into reports of a new round-the-clock Soviet military build-up in Cuba.

State Department officials will be the first to appear before the Oregon Democrat's Latin-American affairs subcommittee when the inquiry gets under way Saturday.

A massive Soviet arms build-up in Cuba last year precipitated a major East-West crisis. But following an agreement with President John F. Kennedy, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev ordered the removal of offensive missiles and jet bombers and tensions eased.

Since then the administration has maintained a reassuring attitude. Just two weeks ago Secretary of State Dean Rusk was quoted as having told the Senate foreign relations committee he was convinced all Soviet missiles and bombers classed as offensive had been removed.

By contrast, that very day Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) contended that Prime Minister Fidel Castro is "10 times better equipped" militarily than he was last spring.

The new flurry over Soviet arms in Cuba was capped yesterday by a New York Times news service report that the Soviet Union is building "highly sophisticated ground and air defenses in Cuba."

The gist of the Times story: Soviet encampments are being relocated and strengthened and Soviet experts are directing Cubans in the construction of underground depots, hangars and runways.

Asked about the reports, State and Defense Department informants said military construction in Cuba is proceeding at a normal pace and is defensive in character.

'LIFEBOAT' FOR SPACE

This is an artist's conception of a manned paraglider (left) beginning its descent to earth from an orbiting space station (top) while another glider undergoes inflation. The paraglider emergency one-man "lifeboat" concept was developed by Space-General Corp. at El Monte. "Lifeboat" designers say it could be the answer if a crewman in an orbiting space station has to return home because of illness. (AP Wirephoto)

Muni Driver To Get Lawyer

The preliminary hearing on Municipal Railway trolley driver Otis Daniels, 37, arraigned on a felony manslaughter charge involving the death of former Inverness resident Carlton Cherrigan Jr., was continued yesterday in San Francisco Municipal Court to Wednesday for Daniels to obtain an attorney.

The trolley driven by Daniels collided with a car driven by Cherrigan, 20, a San Francisco shipyard worker, Saturday at California Street and Park-Presidio Boulevard. Witnesses said the trolley ran a red light.

Police said they found two empty bottles of whisky in Daniels' trolley bus. Daniels, whose speech police said was slurred, refused to take a sobriety test.

California's first telephone exchange was located in San Francisco; it began operating on Feb. 17, 1878.

Concert Date Changed

The date of the San Rafael All-City Schools Band Concert in Terra Linda High School gymnasium has been changed to Jan. 31, school officials said today. It had been set for Feb. 1.

Hub Park, Rec Unit Appointed

Seven members of the newly created San Anselmo Park and Recreation Commission were appointed last night by unanimous vote of the city councilmen.

Dwight A. Nelson of 195 Spring Grove Avenue was named as temporary chairman until the commission can meet and choose its officers. Nelson is sales representative for the Linde Co. of San Francisco, which deals in electric welding equipment.

The other six members of the commission are:

Dr. James Rideout of 117 Legend Road, Sleepy Hollow; N. M. Murray of 274 Oak Avenue, a manufacturer's agent; Paul Brandt of 147 Allen Avenue; William Nicol, owner of Red Robin catering service; Walter J. Anderson of 40 Monterey Avenue, who works at Hamilton Air Force Base, and Eleanor Beale, former manager of the Bargain Box at Sunny Hills.

Navy Airman Serves

Gary A. Loux, Navy apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. Loux of 3 Branch Avenue, Larkspur, is serving at the Naval Air Technical Training Unit at Jacksonville, Fla.

HAIRDRESSER IN JAIL: 'BURGLARY'

San Anselmo police yesterday arrested Joseph Franklin Rose, 22, an unemployed hairdresses from San Francisco who is six feet, seven inches tall, on suspicion of burglary.

Police Chief Raymond Buchignani said Rose and Lawrence Roy Ymada are suspected of entering the Ray Thompson home, 6 West Hillside Avenue, on Jan. 4 and taking a television set, two radios, a record player, a camera, money, identification of Richard Dudley (one of the residents of the house) and a grandfather's clock.

Arrest of the two suspects was made with the help of Las Vegas police and a good deal of assistance from Rose himself. Chief Buchignani said Rose called his attorney yesterday from Las Vegas, saying his partner was planning an armed robbery and he wanted no part of it.

The attorney reportedly called Las Vegas authorities who went to the motel where Rose and Ymada were staying. Much of the loot from the burglary, including Dudley's identification was recovered, Chief Buchignani said.

Ymada was taken to Palo Alto where police suspect him of an armed robbery. Rose was booked at Marin County jail where he posted a $2,100 bail bond to appear in court tomorrow.

All loot except the money, the television set and the grandfather's clock, sold in Los Angeles for $10, has been recovered. Buchignani said he hopes to be able to trace the clock and thinks the television set can be recovered through a pawn ticket found among the loot.

Novatan Files For School Trusteeship

Gordon Leathers of 1404 Monte Maria, Novato, yesterday filed for one of the three positions which are up for election on the board of trustees of the Novato Unified School District.

Leathers, who is the retiring president of the Rancho Parent-Teachers Assn. has worked for the past 14 years in educational work at Pacific Gas and Electric Co. offices in San Francisco. He moved to Novato eight years ago. Prior to that time he lived in San Francisco.

The structure of the eyes of night-dwelling animals is such that red light is an "invisible" form of light to them.

Marinites May Be Called In Acid Case

Two San Anselmo residents who met Dr. Geza de Kaplany during functions at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, have been subpoenaed as possible witnesses in the sanity trial of the acid slayer in San Jose.

They are Adam Sebestyen of 112 Crescent Road, who is assistant librarian at the seminary, and Mrs. Yvonne Sinanoglu of 138 Bolinas Avenue, who met Dr. DeKaplany at seminary concerts last year.

About a year ago last summer, Sebestyen was asked to introduce Dr. deKaplany to other Hungarians in the Bay Area. Sebestyen may be called by the defense late next week.

Hub City Council Meeting On Feb. 5

Next regular meeting of the San Anselmo City Council will be held on Feb. 5 instead of Feb. 12 because the latter date falls on Lincoln's Birthday.

The February meetings will be held at 8 p.m. on Feb. 5 and Feb. 19.

Lawyer In Gomez Trial In Contempt

Attorney Arthur Andreas, called to furnish a link between Mill Valley jeweler J. Robert Gomez and Matt Davis, formerly of Larkspur, was held in contempt of court today by San Francisco Superior Court Judge Norman Elkington when he refused to answer a question put to him by the prosecution.

Gomez, Davis claimed yesterday, was the mastermind behind the jewel robberies of two prominent San Francisco residents.

Andreas testified yesterday that Gomez had called him to bail out Davis after he and a friend, Joe Dee, were arrested at the door step of a San Francisco home.

Defense attorney George T. Davis objected yesterday to Andreas's testimony on the grounds that it comes under the lawyer-client rule that prevents it from being presented to the jury as evidence.

Davis repeated his claim yesterday that it was Gomez who planned the robberies committed by David Windham, now serving a jail term at Deuel Institution.

He stuck to his claim despite the defense attorney's attempt to discredit him as a witness.

Attorney George T. Davis wrung admissions from Davis that he had lied at various times—to his probation officer and when he got a job with the postoffice. He also admitted obtaining a driver's license under a false name after his had been revoked.

TAX

more in need of the spur than the bit."

He said his program represents the very spur needed to boost employment, put more money into circulation and, eventually, put enough revenue into the federal Treasury to balance the soaring budget.

The president obviously has made an effort to more than offset the bitter with the sweet.

These were some of the major items on the sweet side:

Individual tax rates, now ranging from 20 to 91 per cent, would be cut in three steps to a new sliding scale running from a low of 14 per cent to a high of 65 per cent. The range suggested for 1963 was 18.5 to 84.5 per cent—to produce a first-year cut of 2.8 billion dollars.

The top corporate rate of 52 per cent would be cut to 50 per cent in 1964 and 47 per cent in 1967.

Effective this year, the 30 per cent rate on the first $25,000 of taxable corporate income would be slashed to 22 per cent. This would cover the entire earnings of 450,000 small corporations.

Individuals could claim a brand new minimum standard deduction of $150 each for husband and wife plus $100 for each dependent.

Employed women, widowers and divorced men who now can deduct up to $600 a year paid for the care of children while they work could deduct $900 for the care of two children and $1,000 for three.

Then there were these proposals combining the bitter and the sweet:

Most taxpayers 65 or older could subtract $300 from their annual tax bill. But they could no longer claim an additional $600 personal exemption nor the present retirement income credit.

Taxes on long term capital gains, now ranging from 10 to 25 per cent, would be reduced to a new range of from 4.2 per cent to 19.5 per cent. But to claim a long term gain, you'd have to hold a share of stock or other capital asset for one year.

Finally, most taxpayers probably would place the following recommendations in the bitter category:

Itemized deductions could only be claimed to the extent that they exceeded 5 per cent of taxable income. And there would be stricter limits on deductions for charitable contributions and casualty losses.

The right to exclude from taxable income up to $100 a week of sick pay would be repealed entirely.

Special benefits lowering taxes paid on dividends paid corporate stockholders would be repealed.

There would be changes in medical expense deductions. Taxpayers under 65 now may deduct medical outlays in excess of 3 per cent of taxable income, with drugs and medicines deductible only if they top 1 per cent of income. The two categories would be lumped under a new 4 per cent of income rule and would be subject to the general 5 per cent floor on itemized deductions.

Present dollar limits on medical deductions would be repealed, however, and persons 65 or older could deduct all such expenses—subject only to the general 5 per cent floor.

PARKING

Center in Terra Linda will be pulling shoppers away from cities unless the cities act immediately.

The proposed parking lots would be built on the west side of San Anselmo Avenue from San Rafael Avenue to the north to Mariposa Avenue to the south. Kaufman said the committee hopes the parking lots will be ready in 1964.

Cost of the parking lots is estimated at $86,000. Total cost, including land acquisition, may exceed a half million dollars.

The $2,500 appropriated last night would pay for preliminary engineering by Whitlow, Hoffman and Albritton, and appraisal of about 24 parcels of land by appraiser David Cohn.

When this is done, Kaufman said his committee will have estimates of assessment cost to each property owner in the downtown area and can ask the property owners to sign up for the special assessment district.

If owners of 60 per cent of the total property value sign, than the special assessment district can proceed.

Then would come stage two. Eugene K. Sturgis, special assessment district attorney, wants a lawsuit filed in Marin Superior Court validating the spreading of assessment cost. This suit may cost $1,500.

Under stage three, the Whitlow firm would complete the engineering studies at an estimated cost of $6,880. After the final engineering study, hearings would be held. Opposition by owners of 51 per cent of land area in the assessment district would automatically kill the project. If the assessment district is set up, the project would enter the final stage of acquiring property and putting in the parking lots.

The Greyhound bus depot area does not figure in the proposed parking plan because the city is condemning the property for widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and the Hub intersection.

Murphy To Go Before Board

Both Marin County directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District are expected to go before Marin County supervisors soon to report what's new.

Newly appointed director Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, who made a first appearance Jan. 8 and has promised to show up about once a month, will be accompanied next time by his veteran colleague Leland S. Murphy of San Anselmo, it was indicated today.

Murphy is understood to have given assurance to Hardcastle that he'd like to accompany the latter on his next supervisorial visit. Hardcastle intended, he said, to alert Murphy at time of the first call but it slipped his mind.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today with General Motors touching a new high of 62. Trading was active.

It was a ragged advance with a number of leading issues taking sharp losses, some active demand for a number of lower-priced issues, and strength in motors. GM, DuPont and IBM were up about a point each.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.8 million shares compared with 4.82 million yesterday.

NAVAL

will be lost because of an operation that might last only a few years.

Neither Wakelin's letter nor a similar one Jan. 16 from Undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr. to Walter Castro, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, made any mention of Aerojet-General Corp., reportedly negotiating for a contract to operate the testing facility.

John Ikes, public relations officer in Aerojet's Sacramento office, said today that he could not comment on the matter without clearance from the 12th Naval District public information office.

Donald Miller, assistant public information officer for the 12th Naval District in San Francisco, said he could make no comment without clearance from the Pentagon. He said he hoped to have clearance by tomorrow.

The testing will apparently not be done close to the Tiburon coast. The Tiburon facility will be a base for testing elsewhere in the bay and out at sea. It reportedly wlil not involve actual firing of rockets.

There reportedly will be a small machine shop for development of research equipment at the base, but all heavy manufacturing will be done in Richmond.

Both Fay's and Wakelin's letter said that it would take two to three years and five million dollars to duplicate Tiburon facilities elsewhere.

"We could not defend the costs of giving up this facility and rebuilding a new one at another location."

The Marin County Development Assn. which now holds copies of both letters, had been working with the International Science Foundation of San Francisco to promote establishment of the science center. Under earlier proposals, the establishment of the science center would have involved transfer of the property from the Navy to the Department of Interior.

First public hint that this plan was faltering was when Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall suddenly canceled an appointment to meet with Marin County supervisors at the net depot Oct. 15.

Boat Course Canceled

Tamalpais High School's boat safety course, announced yesterday to be held over a six week period, has been canceled because it is felt there would be too much damage made to the swimming pool in taking boats in and out of the water.

OBITUARIES

David Franke Services Tomorrow

Funeral services for David John Franke, 4, of Inverness, who drowned Tuesday when he fell off his father's boat shop pier at Marshall, will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Eggen and Lance Mortuary in Santa Rosa.

David, who was playing outside the office his mother was working in at the Tomales Bay Boat Shop, was missed at about 10 a.m. and found in the water at 10:30.

The family lives on Balboa Avenue in Inverness Park. The boy is survived by his parents, Marvin D. and Elaine Franks, and a baby sister, Barbara.

Interment will be in Santa Rosa Memorial Park.

HENRY ELLIS

A Sacramentan died of a heart attack yesterday while on a visit to his niece, Inabell F. Heller at Hilarita Housing in Tiburon.

Henry James Ellis, 65, a retired security officer of Sacramento County, climbed the hill to the Heller apartment at 6:30 p.m. with his sister, Mrs. Rhoda S. Shrock of White Swan, Wash.

No one was at home on arrival and Ellis and his sister sat down to rest on a concrete wall. A short time later he fell off the wall, falling forward onto his face. He was pronounced dead at 7 p.m. by Dr. Michael D. Scholl.

Ellis, a native of McHugh, Minn., is survived by his three sisters, Mrs. Shrock, Olive Shields of Parkston, S. D. and Lula Agnes Booth of Millet, Alberta, Canada.

His niece's husband, William F. Heller, is stationed at the 666th Radar Squadron atop Mount Tamalpais.

JOHN RAYLEY

A former Marin resident with two sisters now living in this county died after a short illness in Glendale, Los Angeles County, Jan. 12, according to information just received here.

He was John G. Rayley, 72, a Marin resident from 1925 to 1948 who worked here as advertising representative for both Marin and San Francisco newspapers.

Survivors include his wife, Blanche L. Rayley; two daughters, Lisbeth McConnell of Woodacre and Gracia Klinger of Mill Valley; a son, John G. Rayley Jr. of La Canada, Los Angeles County; a sister, Helen Farnum of Minneapolis, Minn.; and eight grandchildren.

Born in Omaha, Neb., Rayley was graduated from the University of Minnesota and served through World War I with the navy, ending with the rank of lieutenant junior grade after accompanying a goodwill tour of Latin America. He came to Marin County immediately afterward.

STELLA BUSSI

Stella Bussi, a resident of Cloverdale, died yesterday in a local rest home where she had been for the past four months.

A native of Italy, she had lived in California 48 years. She was a member of the Italian Catholic Federation of Cloverdale.

She is survived by her husband, Battista Bussi of Cloverdale, retired owner of a sanitary service; a daughter, Mrs. Emma Gelsi-Medeot of San Rafael; a son, Fernando Bussi of San Francisco; a brother, August DeAlessi of Oakland; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral cortege will gather at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael at 9 a.m. tomorrow to go to St. Rita's Church, Fairfax, where a Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Interment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at the mortuary at 8 o'clock tonight.

L. R. LONGFELLOW

Funeral services for San Rafael accountant L. Ray Longfellow, 75, will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Longfellow, who lived at the Marin Municipal Water District corporation yard office at the end of Grand Avenue, was found dead on his bed yesterday morning. An autopsy showed he had died the night before from a heart attack. Longfellow was a night watchman for the water district.

He leaves a son, Clifford J. Longfellow, in Larkspur. Burial will be private.

GUS GOOLIS

Private funeral services will be held in San Francisco tomorrow for Gus Goolis, 68, of 47 Heather Way, Larkspur, who died at a local hospital Tuesday after a brief illness.

Survivors include his wife, Martha Goolis of Larkspur.

Valente, Marini, Perata and Co. of San Francisco is handling funeral arrangements.

OTTO HARBACH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Otto A. Harbach, 89, dean of Broadway librettists who penned "The Firefly," "No, No, Nanette," "Desert Song," and "Roberta," died at his Manhattan home today after a long illness.

A sampling of Harbach's enduring works include "Cuddle Up a Little Closer, Lovey Mine," "Gianinna Mia," "I Won't Dance," "Indian Love Call," "The Night Was Made for Love," "One Alone," "Riff Song," "Rose Marie," "Sympathy," "Who"—and one of the greatest torch songs ever written, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

ROSE HOFFMAN

Mrs. Rose Ava Hoffman, 56, wife of Ferd Wills Hoffman of Post Office Box 824, Marshall, died last night from a possible heart attack.

An autopsy was to be performed today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael to determine the cause of death. Funeral services are pending at Keaton's.

Hoffman told Deputy Sheriff Robert Bertrand he found Mrs. Hoffman slumped on the front patio about 10 p.m.

He rushed her inside and called Dr. Gordon Plattes of Point Reyes Station. When the doctor arrived at the Hoffman home on Highway 1, she was dead.

Hoffman said his wife had not been feeling well for the past few days.

Planners Approve 6 Apartment Projects, 117 Units

Plans for six apartment projects totaling 117 units were granted architectural approval last night by the San Rafael City Planning Commission.

Largest of the projects was a 39-unit apartment at Novato Street and Bellam Boulevard by Puccinelli and Sumski, developers. Next was a 30-unit project by Charles Kuhn on Nova Albion Way.

Other developers whose apartments were approved were:

John Novak, 24 units at Bellam Boulevard and Fairfax Street.

Ray Mariani, eight units at 649 Francisco Boulevard.

John Moran, seven units at Laurel Place and Wilkins Street.

Charles Kuhn, nine units at Sonoma Street near Bellam Boulevard.

Another 18-unit apartment plan by Kuhn was held over pending revision of parking spaces to allow adequate room for cars to maneuver in and out.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

1. Approved a revision of use permit for San Rafael Newport Co. for a planned community development on Point San Pedro Road.

2. Approved a map for convalescent hospital at Montecillo Road and Nova Albion Way by Pacific Queen Investment Co.

3. Denied a two-lot subdivision in Marina Vista by Fairhills Realty Co.

4. Approved plans for an office building for Edward Wachsman at 914 Mission Avenue.

5. Granted a use permit to Hugh Cassidy for a radio transmitting tower 50 feet high. The allowable height is 30 feet.

6. Set a hearing Feb. 13 on a request by Ben Ostlind to reduce setback distances for a carport at 19 La Crescenta Way.

7. Approved a revised lot arrangement in the final map for Loch Lomond Highlands Unit One, between Bayside Acres and Loch Lomond, by Hujon Inc.

Mill Valley Motors Struck By Vandals

A. M. Dillsaver, operator of Mill Valley Motors at 16 Madrona Avenue, reported to police Tuesday that for the past several nights vandals have been entering his car lot, stealing gear shift knobs, and keys and scattering things around the lot.

Brakes were released on one car, Dillsaver said, causing it to crash against another.

Behr On Record For Right To Keep Trailer On Property

Supervisor Peter Behr went on record yesterday as a man not overly fond of trailers yet willing to fight for Marin residents' right to own them.

In its present form a county ordinance virtually denies that right, he said, because it forbids trailer parking on one's own property.

"I'm talking not of residential trailers but of camp trailers used for pleasure and not occupied ordinarily," he said. "Even if we have trailer parks, it's impractical to require people to pay $20 or $30 a month to keep their camp trailers there."

Dissention promptly arose with Supervisor George Ludy saying the ordinance is too strict and "I'd like to see the whole thing dumped." But Chairman Walter R. Castro defended it to the point where he moved that the board uphold it.

This led to total confusion through a 2-2 tie vote. Supervisor William D. Fusselman is still absent due to illness. Behr asked Castro to give a parliamentary ruling as to what the vote meant. Seemingly it meant "status quo."

Behr raised the question because, he said, "two nice ladies in my district are very upset" over being served with notice that their trailers couldn't remain on their own property, following neighbors' complaints.

"The ordinance is being enforced sporadically on a basis of which wheel squeaks the most," said Behr. "In practice, there is enforcement only when neighbors complain. But if all the trailers in this county were laid end to end there's no place they could be put."

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said that "camp trailers provide one of the stickier aspects" of the present ordinance but that actually in case of complaint the county had no option but to enforce the requirement that trailers are legally kept only in trailer parks.

"I have yet to see a trailer court that I could approve of in this county," said Ludy. "They're a disgrace, not like the ones in such states as Arizona."

"There are some good ones," protested Supervisor William Gnoss.

Ludy said he'd like to see the Planning Department make a study with a view to modification of the ordinance and Dobbs said some possible changes are under consideration.

But unless the board chose to lay down new policy of enforcement, said Dobbs, complaints must continue to bring notices that trailers must be taken off private property. Everybody agreed that while the ordinance stands it should be enforced.

Following inability to come to any solid policy decision, Dobbs said that "a certain amount of discretion can be exercised by our department pending some change.

"We'll go after the ones parked in front yards or on small lots," he said, "and after giving these the first priority we can get after the others later."

Dystrophy Is Fatal To Five In One Family

GUTHRIE, Tex. (AP)—Muscular dystrophy has killed a fourth son of Sheriff and Mrs. E. W. Hollar.

Jimmy Keith Hollar, 21, died Tuesday. One of his brothers died in 1948, a second in 1958 and a third in 1960.

"There never has been another case in medical history where four victims of progressive muscular dystrophy were found in a single family," said Dr. C. E. Pate, the family physician.

Each of the boys was stricken near the age of 2. Death came for the others at the ages of 14, 18 and 22.

The Hollars' three other sons and two daughters, now adults, escaped the disease.

After the couple lost their first son, residents of this West Texas area contributed $10,000 to build and equip a special room hospital at the sheriff's home.

$6-Million High Apartments Denied

Zoning to permit a six-million-dollar high-rise apartment complex in East San Rafael was denied last night by the city planning commission.

Opposition to the Kaehler-Farrar plan for six nine-story buildings on a 10-acre site bounded by Bellam Boulevard, Larkspur, Novato and Canal Streets was reenforced at the second hearing on proposed "planned community" zoning.

James G. Devine, owner of an apartment building in Fairfax Gardens, complained that the area is "seriously overbuilt" now. He said he had been assured of "guaranteed tenancy" but has only one tenant.

"We don't need 324 more units down there," said Devine, calling the proposed apartment towers "unneeded and unwanted."

Another objector, Bert Clausen, presented a letter signed by 48 more persons who were against the rezoning.

Walter Dahl of 220 Canal Street, who identified himself as an Oakland realtor and former state legislator, said the apartments were needed "about as badly as we need a snowstorm in San Rafael in August."

Another letter of opposition with about 25 signatures was presented by Scott Chandler and Warren Schoonover.

L. E. Weisenburg Jr. of San Rafael Newport Co., which already has built dwellings in the area, said if the zoning were granted to Kaehler-Farrar, he would ask the commission for the same consideration for property he owns across the street.

No one, including the petitioners, spoke in favor of the zoning request, although commission chairman Pat Hetherton said he felt high rise apartments would be an asset to the city.

Commissioner Orlando Conti, who made the motion for denial, said no necessity for high rise zoning had been shown. He said land is not sufficiently scarce to justify more than three stories.

The motion was seconded by Commissioner Charles J. Henderson, who said the petitioners had bought the land with its existing zoning and could not plead hardship. He said East Rafael "has turned out reasonably well" with little help from the city, and the people who risked capital to do it were entitled to some consideration.

The vote to deny the zoning was 4-2. The petitioners may still appeal to the city council.

123 School Fires In State In 1962

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Fire Marshal has reported 123 school fires in 1962 burned 1.34 million dollars worth of buildings and equipment, enough to build 84½ classrooms.

No children were killed or injured, but one fireman was killed and 10 were injured.

The report, prepared for Gov. Edmund G. Brown, said 68 of the fires were incendiary, 14 were caused by smokers, and heating equipment and defective electrical equipment caused 22.

There were 92 similar fires in 1961 and 214 in 1960, the report said.

Dobbs Gives Report On West Plan

Work on the West Marin Master Plan should have progressed to a point of public hearings by the end of July, Planning Director B. D. Dobbs told Marin County supervisors yesterday.

He gave this estimate in the course of fighting a successful rear-guard action against an effort by the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce to bind him to monthly progress reports.

"We don't want to report directly to anybody but the supervisors," said Dobbs. He pointed out the work is not being done by the county planning department but by consultants hired for the job.

"If you give monthly reports it will arouse a lot of dissension," commented Supervisor Peter Behr.

Dobbs said that toward the end of the job, to be completed within six months, hearings will be held.

"People are entitled to taste while you're mixing," suggested Behr. But Dobbs insisted that with a hurry-up task in progress, the current work is different from such things as the San Geronimo Master Plan which involved much consultation and took much time.

Contracts between county and state have been signed for financing, but the consultants' contract with the federal government still has not yet come through, Dobbs said.

The board finally instructed Clerk George H. Gnoss to reply to the Marin Coast Chamber that information on progress will be available from the planning department at any time, but to avoid commitment on regular reports.

The supervisors also:

1. Appointed John O. Goff deputy sheriff at $486 monthly; Nancy Corvello intermediate typist clerk in the sheriff's office at $345; and Mary Louise Pederson, intermediate clerk in the welfare department at $345.
2. Approved a proposal by the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board that proceedings be started for acquisition and construction of a sanitary sewage system in the district under special assessment.
3. Asked county counsel to investigate whether the public works department is under legal obligation to hand over disposal of "dry garbage" from the Civic Center to a private contractor.
4. Allowed United Ambulance Co. to withdraw from the county communication system because it has installed its own radio system between office and ambulances.
5. Approved loan of a fire truck to Tamalpais Fire Protection District conditional on insurance coverage by the borrower.
5. Learned that Angel Island fire protection will be handled by a pumper and crew from the State Department of Beaches and Parks, which wants a mutual aid contract with Marin County.
7. Awarded a gasoline supply contract at 23.8 cents per gallon to Fleming's Mobil Service for county vehicles based at the Civic Center, but rejected bids on car washing, battery charging and tire service which will continue to be done by the county garage.
8. Because of increasing difficulty in retaining county hospital staff due to imminent shutdown, provided $2,500 from unappropriated reserve to be used for extra hire to May 1.
9. Notified the Eel River Flood Conservation and Water Conservation Assn., with equal representation from nine counties, that Marin will continue to be represented by Supervisor William Gnoss, Jerome B. Gilbert, George Thierbach, William R. Seeger, and Sherman R. Smith.

FIVE TRACTS GET PLANNING APPROVAL

A map of the 32-lot Terra Linda No. 19 subdivision by Alameda Homes Corp. headed a list of five tracts totaling 87 lots which were approved last night by the San Rafael City Planning Commission.

Others were:

1. Rafael Terrace, 28 lots on Irwin Street south of Hazel Court, by Henry Ghilotti.
2. Bayo Vista Terrace, 15 lots at Bayo Vista Way and Scenic Avenue, by Marin County Abstract and Title Co.
3. Coleman Heights, eight lots off Coleman Drive, south of Graceland Drive, by Mr. and Mrs. John Brusati.
4. A four-lot tract at the end of Avala Court, south of Golden Hind Boulevard in Terra Linda Valley Unit 1, by Robert Rupert.

Tam Math Teacher Appointed To Panel

Sidney Duddy, Tamalpais High School mathematics teacher and district mathematics supervisor, has been appointed to serve on the regional panel of the high school mathematics curriculum project.

The panel will write a handbook to aid teachers in selected units of modern mathematics. The handbook is expected to be completed by June 15.

Carbon monoxide causes more deaths annually than any other poison.

School Districts Paying On Loans

Four Marin County school districts will make payments totaling $113,755.67 during the next four months on site purchase and construction loans from the state, according to State Controller Alan Cranston.

The money for the fiscal 1962-63 installments will be withheld in equal portions from each district's state school fund apportionments.

The amounts the districts will pay this year are Dixie School District, $21,508.60; Lagunitas, $1,654.01; Mill Valley, $80,446.58, and Reed Union, $10,146.48.

An Orderly Withdrawal From Library System Is Suggested

Marin County School Supt. Virgil S. Hollis told county supervisors yesterday that the county should "set up a committee to allow for the orderly withdrawal of all school districts from the county school library system."

His proposal was the climax of an argument over board approval of withdrawal of Novato Unified and Dixie School Districts "without penalty."

He said he was "strongly opposed" to County Librarian Virginia Keating's demands that the county system keep all books which are now in district schools.

The board, in a unanimous 4-0 vote with Supervisor William D. Fusselman absent, finally allowed the Novato district to withdraw but it is to return about 9,000 supplemental textbooks to the county library. The district, however, may "negotiate" with the library in the future for the purchase of any of the books, according to the authorization.

In a second unanimous vote, the board authorized withdrawal of the Dixie School District but permitted the district to keep 12,000 books, to be paid for in three annual installments of $4,000 each to the county library.

"Most school districts," Hollis said, "now have school librarians and their own school libraries. The county does not have a school librarian. The districts will get extra federal aid if they have their own textbook libraries, aid to which they are not now entitled.

"Seventy-five cents of every dollar could be spent for books. As it is now, only 50 cents of every dollar is used for the actual purchase of books.

"There are books now in the Dixie district which no other district has any use for. Books go with the curriculum."

Mrs. Keating protested that a review of books now in the Dixie and Novato districts showed that "other districts were allowed to take the books with them.

Auto Store Owners Object To Pressure From Union

Co-owners of Ed's Auto Supply in San Rafael objected strenuously today to efforts by San Rafael Teamsters Union Local No. 624 to make their auto supply store a union shop.

Sol Smith, who owns the 851 Fourth Street store jointly with Coleman Wexler, said, "As far as I am concerned it is blackmail. They are trying to force our boys into the union. Our four employees are happy here and they don't want to join."

Frank Janisen, business agent for the union, said that pickets at Ed's Auto Supply were carrying signs "merely to advertise the fact that it is a non-union shop."

He said that the pickets, numbering about a half dozen, would not prevent anyone from entering the store. Picketing started Tuesday and, "I don't know how long it will last," Janisen added.

Smith added, "It is a sad state of affairs where people can dictate to you what to do. The union is using coercion and pressure. There is no reason for our employees to join a union because they are better off now than being a member."

He estimated that the only loss of business was from union members.

Cosmetic Firms Are Given Way Out From Mosk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —State Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk says he will not prosecute cosmetic manufacturers who remove jars with false bottoms and sides from store shelves.

Mosk said yesterday permanet injunctions would be sought against 23 nationally-known cosmetic firms who were accused of deceptive packaging. This would take 30 days, Mosk reported, and firms that comply would be removed from the suits.

Mosk added he would ask the state legislature to pass "truth in packaging" laws now pending in both houses.

The industry has claimed double walls and sides protect the product. Mosk answered saying state law prohibits the practice with no reservations.

Young Slayer To Die Tomorrow At Quentin

Charles James Golston, 21, of Los Angeles, convicted of the Aug. 28, 1961, murder rape of a 79-year-old Long Beach woman, is scheduled to die at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the San Quentin gas chamber.

Governor Edmund G. Brown denied clemency yesterday. All avenues of appeal, except for a stay requested of the United States Supreme Court, have been tried, according to Associate Warden Dale B. Frady. He said an answer from the Supreme Court was expected sometime today.

Agricultural production in India increased by 39 per cent over the 11 years from 1950 to 1961.

Clausen House Unit Announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep.-Elect Don Clausen (R-Eureka) will be appointed to the House public works committee when he arrives in Washington to serve California's First Congressional District, according to Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Halleck said yesterday that a place on the committee, a key assignment for Western congressmen, had been left open for Clausen by a GOP nominating subcommittee. Assignments made by the subcommittee usually are accepted without difficulty by the GOP membership.

Clausen's election Tuesday over Democrat William Grader left the Democrats with a committee assignment to fill from their existing membership.

A spot on the House education and labor committee, apparently for Grader, was left open when the Democrats made their assignments last week.

School Crossing Guard Authorized For Hub

San Anselmo city fathers last night authorized a special school crossing guard to watch youngsters cross Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Barber Avenue and San Anselmo Avenue and Ross Avenue.

Police Chief Raymond Buchignani will assign a special guard from 8 to 9 a.m. each morning, and for about an hour in the afternoon.

In addition, the city councilmen asked Administrator Douglas Flautt to study the possibility of replacing the overhead traffic signal at Barber and Sir Francis Drake with standard street signals.

Freeman Andrews of 30 Prospect Avenue, spokesman for the residents of Barber Tract, asked for relief because the intersection is a hazard to all pedestrians, especially school children.

Andrews said he received three reliable estimates for installation of standard traffic signals at Sir Francis Drake and Barber Avenue. He said the cost would be less than $6,000.

City fathers also authorized the police chief and the public works director to stripe new crosswalks near Yolansdale School and to study other safety provisions in the area.

French Club Dinner

About 18 officers and members of La Fleur de Lys, Drake's French Club, will attend a dinner at La Fleur de Llys restaurant in San Anselmo at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Woman Hurt; Car Bumped

A Mill Valley woman suffered minor injuries yesterday morning when her car was struck from behind on East Blithedale Avenue.

Driving east at 7:40 a.m., Corraine P. Chase of 30 Mesa Avenue slowed to make a left turn into Tower Drive. Before her sedan quite came to a halt it was struck and knocked 30 to 40 feet forward, by another sedan driven by Adolph S. Biggie of 83 Locust Avenue.

The patrol cited Biggie on a charge of driving at speed excessive under conditions of congested traffic. Miss Chase was not hospitalized.

BUT WHERE DID IT GO?

Clifford Peterson, co-owner of Clipper Yacht Co. in Sausalito, gestures helplessly as A. Engberg of San Francisco aboard the Marion looks in disbelief at great empty space where 120-foot long fuel barge is usually moored. Nobody swiped the big barge; it is at Associated Dredging in Sausalito for its annual bottom-scraping. Meantime, boaters found they had to look elsewhere for refueling. Absence of the huge barge left a great stretch of open water at Clipper Yacht. (Ken Molino photo)

Doherty Drive Plan Is Sought

The Larkspur Planning Commission voted Tuesday night to write the city council to make clear its intent regarding a long-proposed extension of Doherty Drive.

The council Jan. 2 rescinded authority it granted Dec. 19 to City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper to seek county matching funds for the extension.

Commissioners said they need up-to-date information on plans for Doherty Drive to guide them in consideration of a new tentative map submitted by developer Niels Schultz Jr. for Greenbrae Marina Subdivision 1.

The commission decided to suggest Feb. 11 for the next meeting with the city council and park and recreation commission to discuss a city general plan.

A variance was granted to Norman Johnson to build a 12-unit apartment house in the Larkspur Plaza on property that normally would permit only 11 units. Johnson showed that his three-story project would occupy only 24 per cent of the site whereas the zoning ordinance permits 50 per cent land coverage.

Because the next meeting date would fall on Feb. 12, a holiday, the commission voted to hold its next meeting Feb. 7.

Club At Drake Planning Debate

Sir Francis Drake High School's Debate Club on Jan. 30 will debate "Should the United States abolish the electoral vote?"

Members of the affirmative team are Joe Cherry, and Barbara Jones, freshmen. Those on the negative are Russ Richeda, freshman, and Laura Schollhorn, junior.

The Debate Club was newly formed in November under the direction of John Tassone, English teacher. Its parent organization is the Drake Speech Club, several years old.

Corte Madera Planners Are Due Map Tonight

A tentative subdivision map for two buildings planned in a $500,000 business complex between Tamalpais and Meadowsweet drives will be discussed at a meeting of the Corte Madera Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in the town hall.

The map will be submitted for developer Fred R. Sanford by architect J. Carson Bowler. The commission last week approved Bowler's plans for the business buildings, to be built on either side of the new branch of the Bank of America now under construction.

San Anselmo Lions Club member Harry Brogioli plans to help the March of Dimes on Saturday by contributing the profits on the day's sales and services at his Richfield service station at 100 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

WIFE GIVES HER HUSBAND 'TENDER' CARE

EDGEWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. C. C. Estes wanted her husband to be extra presentable at a gathering of her family, so she laced his bath water with what she called "some good smelling stuff."

Estes related that he got in the tub and relaxed only momentarily. "I began to burn and turn red," he said.

The bottle of "sweet smelling stuff" was meat tenderizer.

Tam Teachers Give $200 To Aid Vote

Teachers in the Tamalpais Union High School District have pledged $200 to help finance the April 16 election campaign to maintain the district's $1.90 operating tax rate.

In making the announcement, Jack Gibson, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers Assn., also offered full support from the teacher organization to the Committee for Quality Education, in charge of the campaign.

Edward W. Colthurst, committee chairman, said all funds to run the campaign are received from individual and group donations. A campaign budget of $3,310 has been set. In charge of found solicitation is Robert LaDow of Corte Madera, finance chairman.

NEW TELSTAR FIND: RUSS RADIATION

NEW YORK (AP)—The Telstar satellite has come up with a new find: A flood of radiation poured into space immediately after the Soviet Union's high altitude nuclear tests in late October.

Telstar discovered the radiation nearly filled the gap between the inner and outer Van Allen radiation belts that circle the earth, Walter L. Brown of Bell Telephone Laboratories has reported.

There was less increase in radiation in the bands themselves than in the strange gap between the two bands, Brown said.

It isn't known why the gap exists between the smaller inside radiation belt and the larger outside belt. But Bell scientists found that the radiation—large increases in energetic electrons — gradually decreased in the weeks following the test blasts.

Telstar also discovered that in the center of the slot the decrease was more rapid than near the belts.

Reserve Officers Assn. To Install

New officers of the Marin Chapter, Reserve Officers Assn., will be installed Saturday night at the Treasure Island Officers Club.

Bus Subsidy Urged For Bridge Traffic

A Marin director on the Golden Gate Bridge board today urged bus subsidy to increase efficient use of the structure against opposition by another director from San Francisco.

"You're fighting human nature," countered new San Francisco director Stephan Leonoudakis against arguments of Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board." He felt individual transport has won the day.

Hardcastle, concentrating on a theme of "let's use the potential of the bridge to its utmost," said commuters would like to use reasonably priced buses but that present rates have grown prohibitive though Greyhound is losing money.

"Nothing is more comfortable than the buses," said Hardcastle. "You settle into a reclining seat and sleep all the way in. But it's an economic matter with a cost figure now too high for the commuter. If some way could be found to consider buses a community need and subsidize them, much could be done to divert use from passenger cars now averaging 1.5 occupants apiece."

Both Marin commuters on the program, Hardcastle and Guy Baty, president of the Marinwood Assn., while agreeing that a second span must be provided, wanted to center on the best ways of making use of the present structure.

A more defeatist attitude was taken by Leonoudakis and Arthur Jenkins, the bridge's consulting engineer, though Jenkins felt like Hardcastle that "buses are excellent if people could get to know them." Jenkins felt that most possibilities of the present bridge have been exhausted with saturation traffic of 25 million vehicles annual due "not later than 1968."

Baty agreed that "more buses would help" but said that "another freeway and another bridge will give the only ultimate lasting solution."

A torrent of questions from listeners to moderator Kitty Oppenheimer ranged from the feasibility of a second Golden Gate Bridge deck "for sports cars"— Jenkins said study centers on such a deck destricted to light vehicles—to a tube under bay waters which Jenkins also answered, saying it was physically but not economically feasible.

The program, to be rebroadcast by tape recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, ranged mainly over ways of getting more use from the bridge but included problems of access in case of added traffic. Leonoudakis said the current population explosion will be accompanied by a "commuter temper explosion" if anything like construction of a second deck were attempted, with attendant temporary reduction of available traffic lanes.

"You'll only compound present problems and increase the headaches," he warned, terming a second deck "not feasible under any circumstances" and the same for rapid transit. All speakers stressed the problems of access.

Both Hardcastle and Baty found merit in Supervisor Peter Behr's idea of a second bridge from downtown San Francisco running northward along the East Bay shore and feeding into the Richmond-San Rafael span, thus leaving the Golden Gate Bridge mostly for South Marin traffic. Even Leonoudakis said a parallel span would be no solution and thought a downtown landing could logically link with the Embarcadero freeway.

Fire Estimate Is Now $13,000

A revised estimate of between $12,000 and $13,000 was given today on the loss in the fire yesterday which gutted the kitchen and attic of the Deer Park Villa on Bolinas Avenue in Fairfax and damaged the bar room.

Fire Chief Charles Thornton said, on the basis of an insurance appraisal, damage to the structure was estimated at $8,000, and between $12,000 and $13,000 to the contents.

Shortly after the fire it was estimated that damage to the structure would cost $6,000 and $25,000 to the contents, if all the kitchen equipment had to be replaced. Exact cause of the fire, which started in the broiler, has not been determined, Thornton said.

Marin City Residents Want Homes

Twenty-one Marin City residents indicated last night at a joint meeting of the citizens committee and Ministerial Alliance their interest in buying lots and building their own homes.

A meeting is to be arranged with Jack Tolan, treasurer of Barrett Construction Co. to discuss the matter further, said Hardy Westmore, chairman of the fact finding committee for the citizens group.

It was reported that lots will cost $2,000 each "in the raw," Westmore said, and that further charges would be made for any grading. There are 37 lots to be sold. Plans were shown by a builder for a three bedroom home which could be built in Marin City at $16,500.

Rev. Sam Banks, Ministerial Alliance chairman, announced slides will be shown on houses which could be built in Marin City at 2 p.m. Sunday in the community lounge.

No action was taken on the proposal to form a branch of Congress of Racial Equality in Marin City, Westmore said.

Sausalito Planner Renew Park Efforts

Sausalito planning commissioners last night decided to renew their efforts to create a waterfront park for the city.

Chairman Mel Wax reported that the commission's quest for the park was more or less dropped in 1961 when the city council directed that the new zoning ordinance and the Marinship master plan be studied first. The two studies have been made, Wax said, and recommendations made to council and so the commission can now get on with plans for a park.

Wax appointed a committee composed of Norman Murdoch, chief planner for the San Francisco redevelopment agency, chairman; Alan Bonapart and himself.

The commission will refer to the council's policy passed Oct. 24 1961, which asks that "the central waterfront area owned and controlled by the city and not under lease in the area between the Bank of America, Spinnaker property, Ferryboat and Vina Del Mar Plaza be devoted to park to the extent feasible," Wax said.

Windows Broken

The latest in a rash of broken windows at Trinity Lutheran Church of 333 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was reported yesterday to police by Martha A. Tyhurst, secretary at the church.

Terra Linda Rec Annex Is Asked

Terra Linda Recreation District directors last night heard a request from residents in Terra Linda Unit No. 3 for annexation to the district.

About 43 homes are included in the unit which is at the end of Del Gano Road near the southwest corner of existing district boundaries. Although the homes are in the city of San Rafael, residents have expressed a desire to joint the recreation district.

The district board agreed to meet next Wednesday in a study session to determine whether it will be necessary to call a public hearing on the annexation proposal. Next regular meeting of the board will be Feb. 13.

Rear Axle Stolen

Theft of a rear axle of a 1955 Harley Davidson motorcycle Tuesday night was reported yesterday to police by Mrs. Mary C. Jones of 402 D Street, San Rafael. She said the axle belongs to her grandson, Edward Albert Nichols, and was stored in an old garage on Bayview Street.

Booster Station Approved

The Marin Municipal Water District last night approved construction of a new booster station for the Belvedere-Tiburon area in the vicinity of the existing station adjacent to the Bel Aire Shopping Center.

The board awarded a contract to Fremont Pipeline Construction Co. for installation of 1,600 feet of 18-incn pipe for $11,220 at the entrance to Hamilton Air Force Base.

Approval was given to the Marin Corps Reserve unit in entfield to use Mount Tamalpais for maneuvers, providing blank ammunition is not used.

Field Service Tries 'Persuasion'

Sir Francis Drake High School will try a little "Friendly Persuasion" to induce people to contribute to the American Field Service student exchange program.

The school's AFS chapter is hopeful it will work, for AFS officials have said the program will have to be dropped if sufficient funds cannot be raised.

The "Friendly Persuasion" to be tried is a movie by that name, starring Pat Boone. It will be shown at Olney Hall at College of Marin on Feb. 2, with both matinee and evening performances.

Marines Due Home

Marine privates James Spears Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Spears of C65, Apt. 520, and Fredrick Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Garrison of 253 Drake Avenue, Marin City, have completed basic training at Camp Pendleton.

TOWBOAT GOES UNDER

The towboat Snowflower was partially submerged today near Granite City, Ill., and barges were halted on the Mississippi River as vast sections of the eastern two-thirds of the nation were enveloped in a relentless attack by winter's elements. The towboat is believed to have been struck by a tug in a blinding snowstorm or by ice floes which might have battered a hole in it.

Gallinas Creek Plan Gaining

Circulation of petitions for creation of a special assessment district to dredge a channel from Gallinas Creek to the Civic Center fairgrounds was authorized yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The action was the first step toward creation of the long sought Gallinas Creek special assessment district and opened the way for development of a yacht harbor at the fairgrounds lagoon, as proposed in the original Civic Center master plan.

CANAL FEASIBLE

Former planning director Mary Summers assured the board that the yacht harbor is feasible. Circulation of petitions was asked by Ross Talley, Santa Venetia resident and planning department staff member, and Albert H. Leigh, chairman of the Gallinas Boat Club dredging committee.

Proposed boundaries would include part of the county's Civic Center property and would permit a navigable entrance to the fairgrounds.

'READY NOW'

Several Santa Venetia residents who attended the hearing on the request declared they were ready to sign petitions "right now." Formation of the district requires signatures of property owners representing at least 60 per cent of the area.

The board also approved expenditure of $18,000 of surplus county fair fund money toward construction of a second access road from the Terra Linda interchange on Highway 101 to the Civic Center. The board rejected a proposal by the fairgrounds advisory committee that the funds be used for fairground landscaping.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said total cost of the road would be about $125,000, and money for completion could be approved in the next county budget.

Veterans Get Promise On Auditorium

The County board of supervisors yesterday promised Marin veterans that "something will be done" next week to speed up investigation of a Civic Center site for a veterans memorial auditorium.

"We've waited 17 years for this," said W. P. Duhamel, former county veterans service officer.

Duhamel told the board that the auditorium should have "high priority" among future Civic Center projects. The county fairgrounds advisory committee had recommended that the auditorium might be included in the fairgrounds site, near proposed exhibition pavilions, rather than next to the existing Civic Center administration building, as proposed in the master plan.

Aaron Green, supervising Civic Center architect, said the memorial auditorium might be eligible for state pari-mutual funds if it were located on the fairgrounds site. In this way, construction might be started within two or three years.

"I think it's up to the board and the veterans to get together and go to Sacramento to see how far we can get with that idea," said Chairman Walter R. Castro.

The board agreed to make arrangements with Duhamel before Feb. 4 for a trip to the State Department of Finance to study possible means of financing.

"We'll put your building up as soon as we can," Castro told Duhamel.

Officer Goes For 1 Man, Gets 2

A Corte Madera police inspector flew to Los Angeles yesterday to pick up a janitor wanted on worthless check charges and returned today with a bonus: A written statement from a painter-decorator that he held up the Edgewater Inn on Dec. 30.

The $408.70 robbery at the motel beside Highway 101 was admitted by Joseph A. Poole, 38, who fled trial in Marin two months ago on charges of passing $850 in worthless checks, reported Inspector Harold N. Hockett.

Poole now is awaiting trial for Jan. 9 $1,000 robbery at a hotel in El Segundo near Los Angeles.

Since his arraignment in Marin Municipal Court last November on bad check charges, Poole went to Phoenix, Ariz., where police later sought him on stolen car and worthless check charges, Hockett said.

Poole said he returned to San Francisco Dec. 29, ate in a San Rafael restaurant and visited the Edgewater Inn. Poole said he got the idea of robbing the motel after having a drink at the bar. He said he changed into his "work clothes" by putting on a black silk mask.

Poole said that after robbing the Edgewater Inn, he held up a service station and a motel in San Francisco and robbed five persons in the lobby of the hotel in El Segundo. A few hours later police searched his room and found $1,000 and a .32-caliber pistol.

Hockett said that Corte Madera police will seek to have Poole brought to Marin and tried on the Edgewater Inn robbery charge.

While in Los Angeles yesterday, Hockett also picked up Thomas E. West, 27, former San Rafael school janitor, on suspicion of passing a half dozen worthless checks in Marin.

Electronic devices can pick up radio signals generated by lightning flashes as far as 2,000 miles away.

Unification Plan Format Decided

The Marin County Committee on School Organization decided last night on the format for presentation of unification proposals to be heard at the next augmented committee meeting for the Tamalpais High School District.

Committee members will present seven possible unification schemes at the meeting, augmented by representatives from school districts in the Tamalpais study area. The augmented meeting will be held Feb. 20 in the board of supervisors room at the Civic Center.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

10:46 a.m., Marin City—Furnace overheated in boiler room of Building C22; no damage.

Billie Sol Estes Refused New Trial

TYLER, Tex. (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes calmly accepted a refusal of a new trial today, and then bounded to the bench to wish the judge "good luck" after being sentenced to eight years at hard labor for swindling.

The bankrupt farm tycoon's attorney served notice of appeal to the state court of criminal appeals and Estes was freed on a new $5,000 bond.

Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan took only 20 minutes to review an amended motion for a new trial before he refused the application Estes' attorney.

Child Neglect Nets Day In Jail For Mother

Mrs. Winifred Owens, 30, San Anselmo mother of six, drew a day in Marin County Jail yesterday for neglecting her children while on probation for the same offense.

She and her husband, Freeman Marshall Owens, 29, were arrested Tuesday by probation officials and San Anselmo police. The couple, who live at 727 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, were convicted of child neglect in October of 1961. Police said the Owens persisted in drinking.

Owens was sent to Napa State Hospital on a 72-hour commitment. Mrs. Owens spent last night in county jail and was to be released this afternoon.

Their one-month-old child is still at the hospital. The other five children, ranging in age from 2 to 10, are all in foster homes.

Meeting Canceled

The Corte Madera park and recreation Commission canceled its meeting last night for lack of a quorum. The group may reschedule the meeting for next Wednesday night.

Redwood High Band Plans Concert Tonight

The orchestra and band of Redwood High School will present a winter concert beginning in the Redwood Little Theatre at 8 o'clock tonight.

The production, directed by music teacher Sidney Gordon, will include the score from "Exodus," and selections from Brahms, Debussy and Rimsky-Korsakov.

March Of Dimes Dinner Is Monday

The annual benefit dinner to raise funds for the March of Dimes campaign in Marin will be held for its 11th successive year at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley, on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

This year's benefit program, to be known as "A Night With the Stars," will feature a long list of musicians, singers and entertainers from Bay Area night clubs, radio and television studios, according to Mrs. Esther Dearth of San Rafael, who is in charge of arrangements.

Guest speaker will be State Sen. John F. McCarthy. Radio KFRC disc jockey "Wild Bill" Hickok will be master of ceremonies.

All entertainers who appear will donate their time for the occasion, and Lou Sabella said entire proceeds from the restaurant and bar will be turned over to the March of Dimes campaign. Sabella employees also donate their time and all tips received.

Admission to the evening's entertainment and dinner is $10 per person.

JOHN F. McCARTHY
March of Dimes speaker

President John F. Kennedy made 360 speeches and Richard M. Nixon 312 in the last presidential campaign.

Spare Wheel, Tire Missing From Car

Franklin M. Miller of 23 Hillside Terrace in Black Point complained to the sheriff Tuesday night that the spare wheel and tire and tools are missing from his 1963 Volkswagen.

The theft occurred sometime between Jan. 8 and yesterday. The loss is valued at $62.

New Moose Lodge Set Ceremonies

Investment ceremonies for the Novato Moose Lodge, the first Moose Lodge in Marin County, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the community house in Novato, according to Jack Torrenga, who organized the lodge.

It is expected 150 charter members will be enrolled. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will serve as representative of the charter members. The ritual work will be done by the degree staff of Vallejo Lodge 468.

Guest lodges sending representatives will be Oakland, Vallejo, Richmond, Petaluma, Salinas, Atwater, and Santa Rosa.

A membership dance will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday in the community house.

Contractor License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Contractors' State License board today announced it will issue a fences, wire and wood contractors license to Von Der Werth, Inc. (Gordon Von Der Werth Sr.), 105 Sir Francis Drake, San Rafael, on or after Feb. 6, unless written protest is filed.

ASSISTANT DEAN ON COLLEGE AGENDA

Addition of an assistant dean of instruction, two counselors, a head librarian and 11 instructors for College of Marin will be considered by the Marin Junior College District board meeting at 8 p.m. today in the art building.

The board will consider salary increases of one dollar an hour for about 90 adult school teachers.

Trustees will consider a request by George B. Duncan III, language instructor and foreign student counselor, for sabbatical leave for 1964-65, and discuss hiring Sandra Claire Truex as a part-time vocational nursing instructor for spring semester at a total salary of $1,500.

Architects Corey Booth and Mark Falk will discuss preliminary plans for a student center, fine arts building, administration building, corporation yard and parking lots along Laurel Avenue in Kentfield.

College President Stephen E. Epler and Dean of Instruction Paul Clymer will recommend four new business courses and four police training courses.

Three Suspended For Dice Game

Three students at Tamalpais High School, caught shooting dice at the Canteen near the campus Tuesday, were suspended for the rest of this week by school officials.

Deputy Sheriff William N. McKillop said he walked into a room at the Canteen about 1 p.m. yesterday and found four youths throwing dice. One of them grabbed the dice and money and ran out the room.

Deputy McKillop caught the other three, aged 17 and 18, and turned them over to the dean of boys.

Losers Philosophical, Winners Tell Jokes In Hot Stove League

HANLEY

Spring can't be far off because the winter banquet league is heading into the stretch. Thus far, the theme has been the same at all of the hot stove sessions.

Even without a scorecard you could identify the losers and winners. The losers are the philosophers. The winners tell jokes.

Take, for instance, the words of wisdom the other night at the annual Palo Club gathering. Red Hickey of the 49ers resorted to philosophy, recalling that old saying: "When you win you don't need friends; when you lose you can't find them."

Alvin Dark of the Giants, followed Hickey to the mike, spotted Willie Mays at a center table and Dark promised Willie a rest this year—"in the spring."

Hugh McElhenny, after disclosing 1963 would be his last season, looked at Terry Baker and offered this bit of advice: "Loyalty is the thing in college sports; it's money among the pros."

And so it went until Jack Curtice got behind the mike. The old Stanford coach changed the theme. He told more and better jokes than any winner.

"NOW, FELLOWS," Curtice started, "I honestly never thought I would be called up here. I came because I was promised a free meal. And, being out of work, I appreciated it."

From there on, Curtice kept the crowd laughing with the kind of wholesome humor Will Rogers used to sell. There were the inevitable comments "Why did Stanford ever let him go?" And the answer to that is simple. There were some at Stanford who thought Curtice was a better story teller than a football coach.

BUT NO matter what they say about Curtice, he bowed out of the local football scene like a champ. Perhaps he will be best remembered hereabouts as being a very funny fellow. There was one occasion, however, when he was deadly serious. That was a year ago at the Santa Rosa March of Dimes Sports Celebrity Banquet which, as always, is the classy windup of winter hot stove league.

At the time there was considerable concern about injuries and fatalities to high school football players. Curtice went to Santa Rosa loaded with facts and figures.

"Too much has been said about the dangers of football," Curtice's voice boomed through the banquet hall of Santa Rosa's plushy Flamingo Hotel. "False claims that fatalities are increasing have been spread by enemies of football who would destroy the game.

"THE FACTS show football fatalities actually are decreasing from year to year despite the constantly growing number of boys engaged in the sport.

"For example: In 1931, when 1,000,000 boys were involved, there were 49 deaths in football. By comparison, the figures for 1961 were 37 deaths and 2,500,000 players.

"THIRTY-SEVEN deaths out of 2,500,000 players are, of course, 37 more than anybody wants to see, but the odds are far from terrifying. There are far greater killers. For every boy who was killed playing football during 1961, 240 died in auto accidents, 25 died of gunshot wounds, 27 lost their lives through drowning and 17 died of burns."

Although Curtice was a loser at Stanford he was an overall winner in football, a game he loved and defended with humor or serious statistics in which there wasn't one laugh.

Casper Continues Hot Pace In S. F.

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Billy Casper says he's playing his best golf ever on the touring pros' winter tour, which should serve as a warning to others starting the $50,000 San Francisco International Open today.

For Billy won the $5,300 first prize in Bing Crosby's Tournament Sunday and shared low-pro honors yesterday with Dave Ragan in the pro-amateur prelude to the San Francisco event with a 4-under-par 67. Each received $462.50 for his effort.

"I feel I'm playing better on the winter tour than I ever have played on it," the 1959 U.S. Open champion said after posting five birdies and one bogey yesterday. "I think a lot of it is due to my new putting stance."

Most of the pros reported the greens at the Harding Park Municipal Course, scene of the 72-hole test, were bumpy—a condition aggravated by the long dry spell in Northern California.

Arnold Palmer just shook his head when a newsman asked about the greens following his even-par 71.

Casper, who had birdie putts of from 3 to 20 feet, commented, "It's just lucky when they go in."

The 215-pounder from San Diego, who plays out of Apple Valley, Calif., said the 6,722-yard course seemed to play long despite short grass on the fairways.

Former National Open champ Gene Littler, who hasn't reached the finals in his last two tournaments, termed his putting "miserable" after posting a 72 yesterday.

Gary Player, the 1961 San Francisco champion, didn't arrive in time to play in the pro-amateur but ranks among the tournament favorites.

The field numbered 149 pros and 10 amateurs at today's start. It will be cut to the leading 75 pros after 36 holes with all amateurs staying in.

Novatan Sets Pace In Prep Cage Scoring

Nick Willard, Novato High School's center-forward, has amassed 60 points in three games for a 20-point-per-game average to lead the individual scorers in the Marin Athletic League through today.

Willard has pushed through 27 field goals and six free throws in Novato's first three games. He is followed in the scoring column by San Rafael's Rod Monti who has totaled 53 points, also in three games.

Tamalpais placed three cagers in the top 10 this week. Art Ford is high for the league-leading Indians with 51, and is followed by Warren Domino with 47 and Jim Durbin with 41.

San Rafael is leading in team offense with 164 points, an average of 54.7 per game. Leading the seven-team league in defensive figures is Tam which has allowed only 163 points, an average of 40.8 per game.

ON THE COAST

Big Turnover In Coaching Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When the 1963 football season rolls around on the West Coast, you not only won't be able to tell the players without a scorecard, you won't be able to tell the coaches.

In a lot of places during the past year, wins were as scarce as spare tires on Miss America and the result has been a wholesale turnover in the coaching profession.

Some places the head coach was held blameless and the aides were ordered to walk the plank. In other places, the house cleaning started at the top.

Stanford, for instance, unloaded Jack Curtice and hired John Ralston, who immediately retained Curtice's old aide, Leon McLaughlan.

On the other hand, at California, which had a 1-9 record against Curtice's 5-5 at Stanford, head coach Marv Levy was retained and a couple of his assistants told to see if they could make a living elsewhere.

NEW ASSISTANTS

Now Levy has hired Dick Stanfel and John Nikcevich as his coaching aides.

"And I think I have two of the best in the business to help me," says Levy, without hinting that the two departed men weren't also the best in the business.

Coach Red Hickey, who watched the San Francisco 49ers go down to a 6-8 season, has come up with the two men he thinks he needed most: Moose Meyers and Dick Voris.

"I can't guarantee that they'll cure our ills," says Hickey. "But they are the two men I wanted and we got them both."

The Los Angeles Rams, who won only one game all year, have named Harlan Svare as the head coach. And he's busy filling out a staff that he hopes will make a winner out of a club that has been the league patsy for the last few campaigns.

The Oakland Raiders, who also won only one game, fired two head coaches and named Al Davis as not only head coach but as general manager.

Recently we ran into Vic Lindskog at the NCAA convention in Los Angeles. The dialogue went something like this:

"What you doing here, Vic?" we asked.

"I'm looking for a job," was the reply.

"Oh. I thought you still were with the Los Angeles Rams."

"I am. But I understand that even if I'm with the club that I won't be coaching next year."

"Well, have you entered the race for the Stanford coaching job?" we suggested.

"No," said Vic, who was an All-American center at Stanford in by-gone days. "No use of me entering that coaching derby. I'm not made in the Stanford image!"

Davenport Helps Pro Tom Jacobs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three teams tied for top honors in the pro-amateur prelude to the San Francisco International Golf Open yesterday, one including San Francisco Giants' third baseman Jimmy Davenport. Each team posted a best-ball 57.

Davenport helped his partner by seven strokes, including two natural birdies on holes where he had handicap strokes.

Getting the aid was pro Tommy Jacobs who had Davenport, Jim Allen and Howard Rath on his team for the 18 holes over the Harding Park course.

Julius Boros had Julius Koefoed, Leon Gregoire and Nelson Cullenward with him while Billy Maxwell played with Dr. Bob Kuntson, Russell Winters and John Ricksen as his Northern California amateur partners.

Jacobs posted a one-over-par on his own ball, Boros a 63 and Maxwell a 71.

Davenport's birdies on two holes—where his handicap of six gave him strokes—were recorded as eagles.

Seals Win, Tie Blades For Second In League

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rich of the Southern Division got richer and the poor of the Northern Division poorer last night in a pair of high scoring Western Hockey League games.

Portland's Buckaroos, who lead the southern circuit by 11 points, trounced Edmonton 11-1 while San Francisco beat Calgary 8-5 at San Francisco to move into a tie with Los Angeles for second place in the division.

Portland collected two goals off Harrison Gray in the first three minutes of play and kept the pressure on the 20-year-old rookie goalie throughout the game. The Bucks were in front 9-0 after two periods. Don Head, the league's leading goalie, lost his third shutout when Norm Corcoran scored for Edmonton with less than two minutes remaining.

The S.F. game was tied three times before Duke Edmundson put San Francisco ahead for good late in the second period.

The principals in a proposed trade were on the ice in their regular uniforms. San Francisco's Al Nicholson, who reportedly balked at being traded for Calgary's Cece Hoekstra, scored one goal and picked up an assist. Hoekstra paced the Calgary attack with a goal and two assists.

The Seals play Calgary again tonight at the Cow Palace, 8 o'clock.

Warriors, Pistons 'Go At It' Tonight

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors and Detroit Pistons conclude their fist-enlivened two-game National Basketball Assn. series here tonight.

The Pistons won Tuesday's game in San Francisco 115-107 but lost the fistic phase when Warrior Wilt Chamberlain bloodied the nose of Piston Bob Ferry. Los Angeles beat the Pistons last night, 123-119.

The fight broke out after Ferry and San Francisco guard Guy Rodgers battled for a rebound.

San Francisco has lost four straight games in its slipping struggle to overhaul third-place Detroit and hasn't scored more than 115 in any of the four.

Ram Backfield Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Head Coach Harland Svare has selected Don Heinrich, former New York Giants quarterback, to be backfield coach for the National Football League Rams.

S.R. RECREATION BASKETBALL

Results of last night's action in the San Rafael Recreation Department A basketball league were:

Alpine Market 78, Cain Tires 61.

Locke Plumbing 64, Pinky's Pizza 57.

Drake B Cagers Win

The Drake High School B basketball team whipped Redwood's basketball team 36-18 Tuesday in Marin Athletic League action. Yesterday's Independent-Journal, in error, said Redwood was the winner.

More Openings In Recreation Dept. Fitness Program

The San Rafael Recreation Department-sponsored physical fitness program has more openings for boys and girls seven through 12 who live in the San Rafael High School District, it was announced today by Joseph D. Rodota, head of the recreation department.

Youths 10 through 12 meet on Saturdays from 9 to 10:30 a.m. and children seven through nine meet on Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon. A separate program is conducted for both boys and girls.

Activities include trampoline, tumbling, swimming, softball, track and field, tennis and folk dancing. Children may register on weekdays at the San Rafael Recreation Department in the City Hall or at the high school from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Sports Car Club Planned In Marin

Triumph sports car owners interested in forming a club in Marin should attend an organizational meeting which will be at Marin Triumph, 365 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, Sunday at 2 p.m., proprietor Bud Oden announced today.

Helping organize the new club will be a Triumph sports car club from Sacramento, Oden said.

Pat Patterson Leads In All-Star Bowling

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Pat Patterson, a washout in nine appearances in the All-Star Bowling Tournament, got a whiff of success yesterday.

The veteran St. Louis pro took the lead in the fourth round of the finals with a Petersen point total of 82-12 on 11 victories, five losses and a total pinfall of 3,562.

Billy Welu, of St. Louis, the qualifying champion, trampled Patterson 878-804 in the first round and sent him reeling into 13th place. But in the second round, Patterson swept his four-game series with J. Wilbert Sims, outscoring the Chicago bowler 951-826. Patterson found his next foe, Terry Rey of Seattle, an easy prey and swept that series to claim third place.

Outscored by Ed Lubanski of Detroit in the fourth round, 954-935, Patterson managed to divide the match and build up enough points to take the lead.

In previous All-Star tournaments, Patterson had never moved past the semifinals.

Robbie Robinson of Wilmington, Del., held second place through the first four rounds with 81-33.

Under the Petersen point system, a bowler gets one point for every game won and one point for every 50 pins knocked down.

Don Carter, four-time former champion from St. Louis, held the lead briefly but dropped to fifth when he lost four straight games to Welu in the fourth round.

Defending champion Dick Weber of St. Louis was sixth.

Marion Ladewig, seven-time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., led the women with 40-27 points. She won seven and lost one game while piling up 1,677 pins.

Defending champion Shirley Garms of Chicago was in last place.

3 BIG NAMES DIDN'T HELP PRO GOLFER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Professional golfer Gardner Dickinson had some familiar names in his foursome for yesterday's pro-amateur prelude to the San Francisco Open Tournament — Kennedy, Johnson and Washington.

They didn't do too well.

Dickinson shot a 71 and his three partners, William T. Kennedy, Glendo Johnson and Tom Washington—all Northern California amateurs — could help him only two strokes among them to a 69 best-ball score.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
IJ Fish and Game Writer

Reaction Given To Recent Column About Litterbugs

STEVENS

In a recent column I spoke of the closure of a section of Putah Creek by the landowner because of the flagrant disregard, on the part of the visitors, for his rights. The trash and filth and garbage left behind couldn't be tolerated. So—another very fine stretch of fishing water was fenced in and no tresspass signs posted.

A couple of real sportsmen read the article, and one of them accosted me at dinner meeting last Saturday. He began to sound off on what he had seen at Lake Berryessa only two days before. I suggested he put it in writing so it would be official.

I submit a copy of that letter:

"DEAR MR. Stevens: I am sending you a gripe letter. I now understand why the landowners closed a section of Putah Creek.

"Dick Kielty and I went to Wrag Canyon at the lake, Jan. 17th, just to see how the lake was. As expected, the lake itself was beautiful with the green hills setting it off. BUT, I never saw such filth left on the hillsides. We were sure surprised at the sights of old beer cans, pop bottles, paper plates and other trash left by visitors last year. It sickened us.

"People could just as well put that trash in a paper bag and take it home to their own garbage can, but I guess it's a lot easier to leave everything there.

"WELL, RALPH, that's all I have to say."

The letter was signed: Joseph A. Navarro and Dick Kielty.

Anyone else who'd like to sound off on the subject?

It seldom happens that two anglers, fishing together, get two fish that tip the scales at exactly the same weight. But it happened Sunday near Inverness. George Matthews of Novato and Max Matson of Pt. Reyes Station, fishing out of Davis Campbell's Golden Hinde place, each weighed in a 27-pound striper.

DAVIS TOLD me Gerald Brady landed one 10 and one 18-pounder on Saturday, and, while fishing can't be called hot, a fairish number of large bass have come in the past week.

An unverified report, but from a good source, has it that Paper Mill Creek has produced quite a few steelies in the 10 and 12-pound class.

ALICE QUAN of China Camp bewailed the chilly mornings but welcomed the good fishing for all who have the savvy. "Four men in one boat came in with four limits, none under 10 pounds," she reported, then added: "Only two boats out this morning . . . after flounders which are very plentiful right now."

The spectacular run at Point Richmond seems to have slowed somewhat, but Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's in Oakland took large bass three days running. On Monday he hit the jackpot with a limit of hefties to 24 pounds.

Former Seal Is Marinwood Little League President

Donald J. McCarthy of 435 Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, a former baseball player with the old San Francisco Seals, has been elected new president of the Marinwoood Little League.

Other officers elected were: Woody Slatt, vice president; Bettie J. Leibovitz, secretary-treasurer; Loma Herson, chief scorekeeper; Bill Sousa, chief umpire; Bob Grose, chairman of the finance committee; Earl Koehler, chief of grounds; and Al Leibovietz, publicity.

Registration for the Marinwood Little League will be held on Feb. 2 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Mary E. Silveira School. All interested parents of boys eight through 12 should accompany their youngsters for the sign-ups.

Tar Cagers Battle Alums Tomorrow

The College of Marin basketballers will take on the Tar alumni team tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Redwood High School gym in a game which will bring back many memories to COM fans.

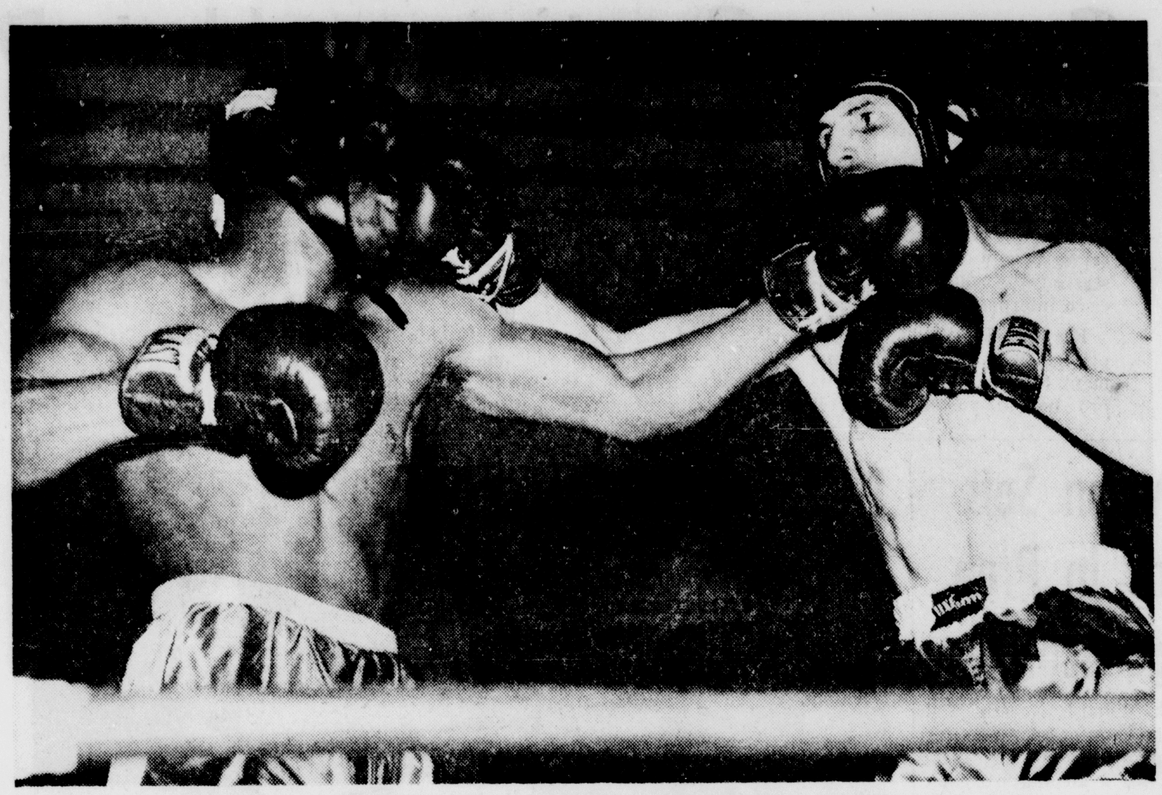
Among the former cagers of College of Marin who are expected for the game are Lynn Livie, top scorer for the Tars the past two seasons; Ron Blum and Dale Aman who played at the college two years ago, and Ken Gelatti.

Larry Fulton, now the coach at San Rafael Military Academy, and Claude Curley, Pat Anthony and John Brookman are expected, as are Joe McGrath, former San Jose State cager; Don Johnson, all-northern California Tar in 1957, and Glen Robinson from the fine 1952 team.

Indian Valley Golf Club Best-Ball Play

Mrs. Arthur Sears, Mrs. Roger Williams and Mrs. Ernest Korn won the best-ball threesome golf tournament Tuesday at the Indian Valley Golf Club with a net score of 62.

In second place was the threesome consisting of Mrs. Charles Zapelli, Mrs. William May and Mrs. William Bevans with a net 65.



A "SMASHING" RIGHT TO THE FACE

Martin Berzewski (right) of Hamilton Air Force Base lands a right which seems to flatten the face of Arthur Davis of Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, during Tuesday night's opening of the fourth annual Pacific Interservice Boxing Tournament being held at Hamilton Field. Berzewski went on to gain the decision in the three-round fight. The tournament will continue tonight and will windup tomorrow night, matching fighters from the Army, Air Force and Marines. Clay Ready For His 'Three-Round Bout'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Exalting pompously that the fight will go no longer than three rounds, brash young Cassius Marcellus Clay takes another step tonight in his announced bid to become the youngest heavyweight champion in boxing history in a 10-round bout against Charley Powell.

More than 10,000 fans are expected to jam Pittsburgh's Civic Arena to see if the voluble Clay, the third-ranked heavyweight contender, is as adroit with his fists as he is with his tongue.

Unbeaten in 16 fights Clay is a 4-1 favorite to dispose of Powell, once a ranked heavyweight contender and a former pro football player with the San Francisco 49ers.

The Louisville youngster arrived in town last week and blithely boasted that he would knock out Powell in five rounds. But he revised the prediction earlier this week, saying:

"So you people will believe in me, Powell must now go in three."

Clay's prophecies are not taken lightly. In 12 of the 13 fights he has won by knockouts, he picked the exact round for the fall of his foe.

However, the burly Powell is undismayed by Cassius' boasting. A winner in 23 of 32 pro fights, 17 by knockouts, Powell is extremely confident his experience and punching power will quash the cocksure Clay.

PLYMOUTH BEATS FORD AND CHEVROLET IN 8 OUT OF 10 OFFICIAL TESTS

Plymouth once again proves all-around superiority against its competition. Handling, safety, performance, economy—all of these were measured in the second meeting of Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth early in December at the Riverside, Cal., test course. In a "Showdown" asked for by Plymouth, a 1963 Plymouth Fury V-8 whipped a comparably equipped Chevrolet Impala V-8 and Ford Galaxie "500" V-8 in eight out of ten official tests.

Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute bought the cars, hired the drivers, supplied the officials, made and enforced the rules. The chart at right leaves no question about the results. Plymouth excelled in all-around performance and economy. Add in Plymouth's good looks and 5-year/50,000-mile warranty*. See your dealer. Plymouth's on the move.

MARIN PROP WASH

By ELEANOR FREEMAN

Where To Buy A Boat? Here's Example For Future Purchase

One of the important decisions facing a prospective boat buyer is this: Where should he buy it? And for the most logical of reasons, it's best to buy locally where you know—or have knowledge of—the boat dealers.

This verity should further cover any item that represents a large price tag and requires a predicted amount of servicing. Taking it out of the county to be checked over may not seem bothersome at first, but it will soon deteriorate into a boring inconvenience.

A Marin boat dealer tells of one buyer's out-of-town experience. This man was sapgreen on the subject of boating, but he had the hankering. So he took in the San Francisco Sport and Boat Show last year where he found what seemed to be a grand bargain. He bought a package deal: boat, motor and trailer. The total price being lower than that quoted by the Marin merchant. He did feel a trifle disloyal, but sternly reminded himself that, "A dollar saved, was a dollar earned."

DELIVERY WAS made. Then, as usually happens, small adjustments had to be made. He trailed his outfit through San Francisco traffic and down frenzied Bayshore Freeway for service. But the second trip found the dealer inhospitable and curlish. "Look, Mac, whatdya want? You got a rock-bottom bargain from us. And you've had all the service you'll get."

So what message could be stated plainer? Finally he took his red face and big problem to the Marin dealer. "Something's wrong with the generator," he said. "It won't charge."

The dealer raised the cowl and whistled, "What generator?"

"I'll sue them," sputtered the deflated owner. "I paid for one—"

"LET'S SEE your sales slip," requested the calmly suspicious dealer.

Sure enough. No generator (alternator) was listed. The purchaser had bought and paid for exactly the listed items. No more. No less. He had paid very close to the price quoted by the Marin dealer who had included a motor with the generator. Now any necessary servicing would have to come out of his own pocket.

Comes now the time for that old adage: One usually gets what one pays for.

INTRODUCED IN the Legislature recently was a bill that would transfer gasoline taxes paid by boaters and unclaimed by them at the end of the into the small craft harbors fund instead of the State general fund. Several other measures, tailored to boost small craft harbor revenue, were also introduced. It is expected that approval would bring approximately $2.3 million into this fund. Under existing law, boaters may apply for refunds on gas taxes because the fuel isn't used on highways.

We forgot to keep our gasoline slips last year. How about you? By this time the State figures the unclaimed amount at about $750,000. It pays this amount out of the general fund, and it goes into the harbors budget. This unclaimed amount will be based on a formula, going directly into the harbors fund.

Another bill, requiring that boat registration fees be used for offsetting the cost of California's small craft harbors program is up for approval.

QUESTION: Should I tilt my motor or operate it in a perpendicular position? It cavitates on turns. Can I correct this by tilt?

H. M., Tiburon

ANSWER: If your motor is too high on the transom it will cavitate; however, correct tilt is also important to top performance. A good rule-of-the-thumb to remember is: See to it that the cavitation plate is exactly in line with the bottom of the boat, and the lower unit is perpendicular. Choose the right pinhole to accomplish this.

Unfortunately, other factors often enter into the performing relationship between motor and craft — loads and their placement, for instance. Prop pitch has a bearing too. If you can't correct it, take it in for a check-up.

Powdermen Need Not Be Licensed

Marin County won't go in for licensing powdermen, the county board of supervisors decided yesterday.

However, the board ordered a checkup on whether users of dynamite are carrying liability insurance.

The Marin County Grand Jury had asked that the board look into tightening controls on use of explosives, after a rock-clearing blast in Novato damaged a house.

County Counsel E. Warren McGuire yesterday submitted a letter from John E. McNear, engineer of the L. P. McNear Brick Co., who had been consulted as to setting up tests for licensing dynamiters.

It wouldn't work, wrote McNear.

"Blasting is more of an art than a science," said his letter. "A person could study enough to pass almost any written examination, and then go out and throw rocks through people's roofs.

"Some excellent powdermen are semi-literate but have years of experience and 'know the rock.' These men can shoot in extremely tight situations, such as basements under existing houses or smokestacks that have to be toppled into certain vacant lots."

McNear suggested evidence of liability insurance be required before issuing blasting permits. The supervisors went along with that.

Many Tam Grads Go To College

Eighty per cent of the 331 seniors graduated last June from Tamalpais High School District's three schools have gone on to college, according to a survey by Harry G. Russell, the district's adult school principal.

They are well scattered, attending 64 different colleges and universities in various parts of the United States, plus four in Europe.

The biggest lot, though, go to College of Marin. Russell found 114 enrolled there. University of California accounted for 32 of the district's 1962 graduates at its several campuses. San Francisco State College drew 11. Only three went to Stanford University.

Russell found 38 (11 per cent) of the 1962 graduates are now employed, 14 (four per cent) are in the armed forces.

Eight of them are already married.

Tomales High Students Elect

Tim Furlong was elected student body president of Tomales High School Monday for the spring semester.

Judy Cherrigan was elected vice president and Cheryl Poncia was elected secretary-treasurer.

Others running for president were Donald Russell, Dick Clark and Mike Martin. Those running for vice president were Georgia Burbank, Perry Frye and Dick Adams. Defeated for secretary were Joan Gearhart, Arden Mann and Merissa Tobler.

The number of votes each candidate received was not released by the school.

CLAMS LAND MARSHALL MAN IN SOUP

Clams enough for a large batch of chowder were more than enough to land Lawrence Bellman of Marshall in the soup yesterday.

Bellman, appearing before Judge David R. Baty in Northwest Judicial District Court at Point Reyes Station, was sentenced to 10 days in jail for having 610 cockle clams in his possession. The legal limit is 50.

Moreover, charged Game Warden George Nelson, 317 of the clams were undersized. Nelson cited Bellman Tuesday.

In another fish and game law violation case, Mario Bonini of El Cerrito was fined $75 by Judge Baty for possession of 14 abalone, nine more than the legal limit. Bonini was arrested Jan. 5 by Nelson and Game Warden Al Giddings.

Apartment Project Gets Support

Mill Valley planning commissioners Tuesday night recommended city council approval of the plan for the Alcan-Marin apartment project on 23 acres west of Highway 101 and south of Enchanted Knolls.

The city has no jurisdiction over the plans since the area is unincorporated, but the city council asked the commission to study the plan to see if it fitted in with Mill Valley's master plan. Marin county planning commissioners approved the plan Monday.

A use permit requested by Herbert Shapiro to build a gasoline service station at 395 Miller Avenue was revoked, commissioners reiterating their stand that the area does not warrant another station.

Auto Registrations Going Slow In Marin

Renewal of automobile registrations and licenses is going slowly, Donald Sparlin, manager of the San Rafael office of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, said yesterday.

Sparlin said there was a "real rush" during the first week of January at the office at 1926 Fourth Street, "but now it has slacked off." He said it would be a good time now for motorists to renew their registrations and licenses.

"We are usually jam-packed a few days before the Feb. 4 deadline," Sparlin added. The deadline for renewal is 5 p.m. Feb. 4 Mailed applications may be postmarked no later than midnight Feb. 4 to avoid paying a penalty.

Sparlin said he expects about 43,000 vehicles to be registered in the county. So far, he said, about 21,000 applications have been processed.

Car registrations and licenses, with the applicant in possession of the renewal card sent out by the state, may be renewed at the Wells Fargo Bank in Mill Valley at 18 Miller Avenue or the Crocker-Anglo National Bank at 881 Grant Avenue, Novato.

Patriotic Observance In School Is Subject

Patriotic observances in the schools will be discussed by Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, at a joint meeting of San Anselmo and Mill Valley American Legion posts at 8 p.m. Monday at the Legion Hall in Mill Valley.

He will also discuss the teachers' and Legion's side of Proposition 24, the so-called anti-subversive measure defeated at the polls last Nov. 6, and the history of the U.S. Constitution, according to F. W. Mosher Jr., Mill Valley Post commander.

Dean Demands Best Education

"The time has come for us to do some revolutionary thinking about how we can best educate women in this country above the high school level for their own purposes and the demands of our economy."

This was the theme of the talk given Tuesday night by Dr. Margaret C. Fagin, president of the California State AAUW division, to the Mill Valley Branch of the American Assn. of University Women. It was held in the parish hall of the Mill Valley Community Church.

DR. FAGIN, assistant dean of students at Chico State College, challenged the AAUW to lead the way in study and action. Members have faced some of the problems, she said, and should have ideas about what was good and what was lacking in their own education.

Dr. Fagin cited five diverse situations in her own college to illustrate that not only the new high school graduate wants to go on to college. Two of these were the 50-year-old widow supporting a family who wants to teach at a higher level, and the 19-year-old, married for some years, who wishes to go on with her education.

SHE SAID THAT other considerations compound the problem. For instance, under the California master plan for higher education, most of the state colleges will be admitting classes comprising at least 10 per cent more women than men in the next few years because girls in high school get better grades than boys.

In addition, she went on, women get 25 per cent higher grades than men in college classes. A further complication is that 25 per cent of students in college today are married, and the situation won't change.

Dr. Fagin called attention to an extreme attitude that women should be kept out of college because of the current overcrowding. Furthermore educators are concerned because they can't find qualified women to teach on the college level, she said.

DR. FAGIN also reported on findings of Dr. Lois Stoltz, professor emerita of Stanford, that the most important factor on what motivates a woman to become intellectually interested in learning is the attitude of the woman's own mother.

She discussed briefly the current studies of Dr. Seymour Smith, president of Stephens College, who has been experimenting with admitting high school girls to college before they are graduated from high school.

HE IS ALSO devising ways to break up a college education so that a woman can get credit toward a degree at the times during her life when it is most convenient for her.

Dr. Fagin concluded her talk by calling on members of the branch to continue discussion in future meetings.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Mill Valley Couple Honored At Bon Voyage Event

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Extensively feted at bon voyage parties are the Donald Smiths of Mill Valley, who with their three children leave Feb. 8 for a 'round-the-world tour.

A no-host surprise dinner dance party was given for the Smiths at the Mill Valley Golf clubhouse by 18 couples Saturday night. On their way, as the Smiths thought, to dine in San Francisco with the Raymond Hams of Mill Valley, they were surprised when a stop at the clubhouse on a pretext invented by the Hams revealed the purpose of the jaunt.

Last week Mrs. Smith was guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. Burt Alsterlind of Walnut Creek where Marin guests were also Mesdames William Secor, Berkeley Johnson and Robert Jarvis.

Mrs. Claude Baack of San Rafael, aunt of Mrs. Smith, will give a farewell party for the Smith children, Brandon, Devon and Tia, tomorrow.

On February 2 the Smiths will be entertained at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berry of Kent Woodlands. Invited are Messrs. and Mesdames Robert McLaughlin of Santa Clara, Andrew Viscovich of Oakland, Melvin Long of Berkeley, and Raymond Ham, Robert Byard Jr., mother of Mrs. Smith, and Robert Byard of Mill Valley.

Also entertaining for the Smiths at dinner parties are Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Moreno of Novato and Patrick Price and William Schwarzer of Mill Valley.

MRS. M. GALLOWAY FERRIN of Kent Woodlands is giving a dinner party tomorrow night in honor of her house-guest, Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church. Mrs. Church is the Republican representative to Congress from the 13th District in Illinois. She came west to address the general meeting of the San Francisco Junior League tomorrow. Afterward she will join Mr. Ferrin who will take her on a tour of Marin County.

Among other interesting guests at Mrs. Ferrin's dinner will be Mrs. Benzo T. Mitsui of Tokyo and Karuizawa who visited Mrs. Ferrin last week and is now with her son, Masao Mitsui, and his family in San Francisco.

Mrs. Mitsui was for many years the national golf champion in Japan and while she was here enjoyed playing at the Meadow Club. One of her last games was with Mrs. Lewis Kerlin, former captain of the Meadow Club women golfers, who left soon afterward for a Caribbean cruise aboard the Stella Polaris. Before she came here Mrs. Mitsui was in Washington, D. C. and New York as a guest of the Garden Clubs of America.

THE WILLIAM T. JOHNSTONES of Hill Haven, Tilman enjoyed 10 days in the Hawaiian Islands. They headquartered at the Halekulani Hotel and visited Kauai, the garden isle, and other islands on the Paradise of the Pacific.

Marin Women

Sparkling Addition To Marin Musicians

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A sparkling addition to the group of talented young musicians in Marin is Mrs. E. Craig Hankenson Jr., who is professionally known as Joyce Hall.

The young lyric soprano recently moved to Mill Valley with her husband and two-year-old daughter Meridith Joyce, and already she is taking an active part in the musical life of the Bay Area.

CURRENTLY SHE is singing one of the lead roles—that of the Librarian Marian—in "The Music Man" being staged by the California Playhouse in Oakland on Saturday and Sunday nights through March 16.

According to one critic, she was "the finest musically trained and gifted soprano I have heard in little theater. Her rendition of "My White Knight" literally stopped the show."

The family came to San Francisco when Hankenson received a Ford Foundation grant in opera management. He is now administrative intern to Kurt Herbert Adler of the San Francisco Opera. Previously he had been director of the opera department at Auburn University in Auburn, Ala.

A NATIVE of Rock Hill, S.C., Joyce is an up-to-date version of the Southern belle in looks, speech and manners.

She started the study of music on the piano at the age of six but changed to voice in high school and continued at Winthrop College, a girls' school in Rock Hill, graduating with a B.S. degree.

"I know this is an odd degree for a music major," she said, "but we did have more science required. When I went on to the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y. I'm sure I was the only one entering with a B.S. degree."

AT EASTMAN Joyce studied with the former Metropolitan star Josephine Antoine and while she was a student there appeared in Rochester community opera productions as well as soloist with the Rochester Civic Orchestra, Eastman-Rochester Philharmonic and Chautauqua Student Symphony.

She met and married her husband, Craig, a baritone, when he also was studying voice and opera direction at Eastman. After their marriage in 1957 they remained two more years at Eastman, where Craig had an assistantship and she also did some teaching.

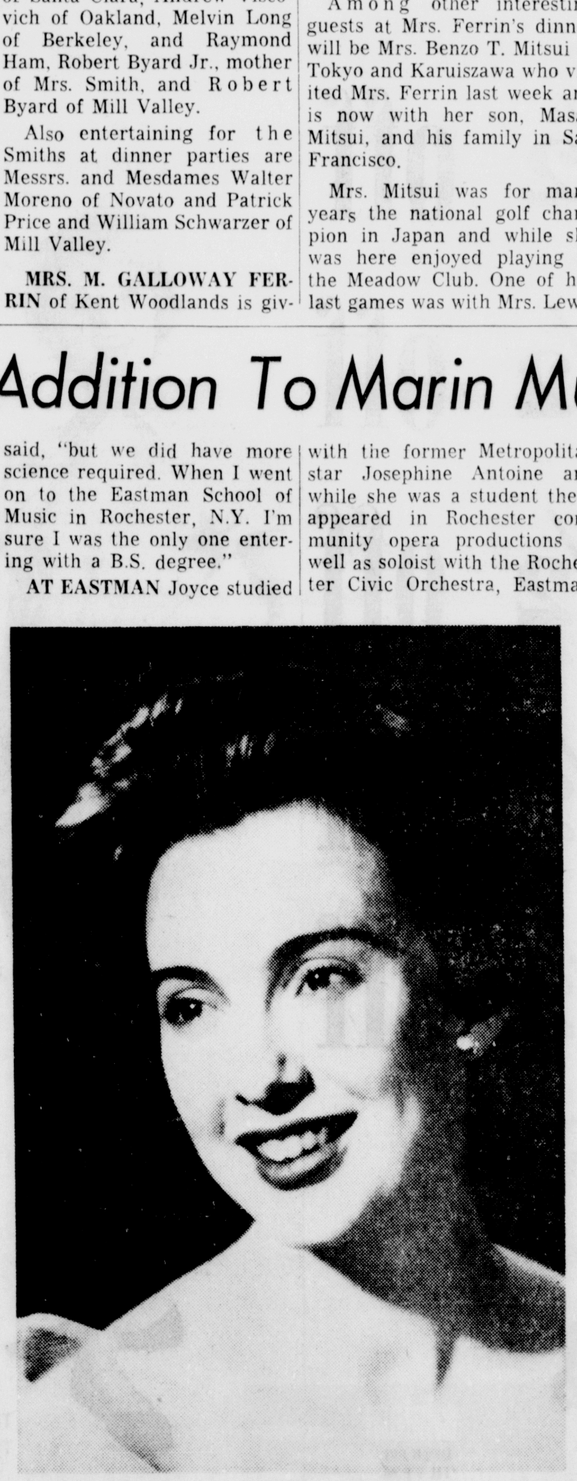
Joyce appeared professionally with the Rochester Community Opera and Chautauqua Opera Company, as well as in many recitals, and when she and her husband went to Auburn, she continued her professional career. She has won a number of music scholarships.

THOUGH HER FAMILY comes first, Joyce plans to go on with a full professional career.

"I hope to enter the Merola Opera School auditions in March because I know students selected often are given a chance to go on into the San Francisco Opera," she said. "My coach at present is Vincenzo Giannini of the San Francisco Opera.

"But I also like musical comedy because there are more opportunities for acting in it. My husband is an actor as well as a director, and he has helped me greatly in working on my roles."

A recital is tentatively scheduled for her on Feb. 24 at the California Playhouse, and she will sing the soprano role in "In the Garden" by Kuphermann at the San Francisco Lyric Theater on March 10.



JOYCE HALL, a new Mill Valley resident, sings a leading role in a little theater production of "The Music Man" staged in Oakland.

'Success Went To My Throat' Says Vocalist Kitty Kallen

LAS VEGAS (AP) — "Success went to my throat instead of my head."

That is how vocalist Kitty Kallen explains the mysterious emotional illness which robbed her of her voice for four years.

"When it happened I was singing at the Palladium in London," says Miss Kallen. "One night I went on stage and just couldn't sing. I finished my engagement but I was croaking, not singing."

When the affliction struck the tiny entertainer she was physically exhausted. She had been working hard and thought it was just a simple case of laryngitis.

BUT WHEN she made a record her voice was perfect. Paralysis came when she faced an audience.

"That's when I knew it was something beyond the physical."

She says the problem basically was one of adapting to fame. Kitty suddenly found herself among the top female vocalists in show business.

"I just couldn't handle the adulation. I was making more money than the President of the United States. It seemed to me that no one was worthy of the money nor the excessive praise."

SHE TRIED psychiatry but without success.

Kitty told it this way:

"Psychiatry didn't help me. In fact, it hurt me and even prolonged the sickness. It made me sicker. I'm sure it has helped many people but I was too dumb for it.

KITTY KALLEN

"It made me too introspective at a time when I should have been thinking less of myself and more of others."

Miss Kallen commuted from her home in Englewood, N.J., to a psychiatrist in Manhattan five times a week for four years. But the problem remained.

She tried hypnosis but that too failed.

"I RECORDED a few songs under hypnosis and they sounded pretty good," Kitty remembers.

But whenever she stood before a live audience, the old fear returned to paralyze her voice.

Seeking an answer to her sickness she finally came round to faith.

The turning point came when she faced a deep personal loss. After her mother-in-law died, Kitty went to pieces and became hysterical.

Her little boy saw her crying and said, "Mommy, it's in God's hands."

"I know it must sound corny but a light went on for me," the singer relates. "The one thing which was so obvious I had failed to see. I was trying to carry too much myself when a lot of life is in God's hands."

From that moment on Kitty rallied. She never went back to the psychiatrist.

Now the job was to get back to work, a difficult task for an entertainer away from show business for four years. She had to reestablish old contacts and prove to show people she had conquered the fear.

SINGING UNDER an assumed name, Kitty Kaplain, she opened at the Red Barn, a small club outside Providence, R.I.

Her voice was strong again. She signed for an engagement at the Palmer House in Chicago, then the Persian Room in the Plaza Hotel in New York.

WITH EACH success her confidence vaulted. Her record, "My Coloring Book," is climbing near the top of the best-seller charts. She recently played a four-week stand at the Hotel Sahara here.

"I live with the fear the sickness might return," the brown-haired songstress admits, "but I think I have it licked.

"I want to go on singing."

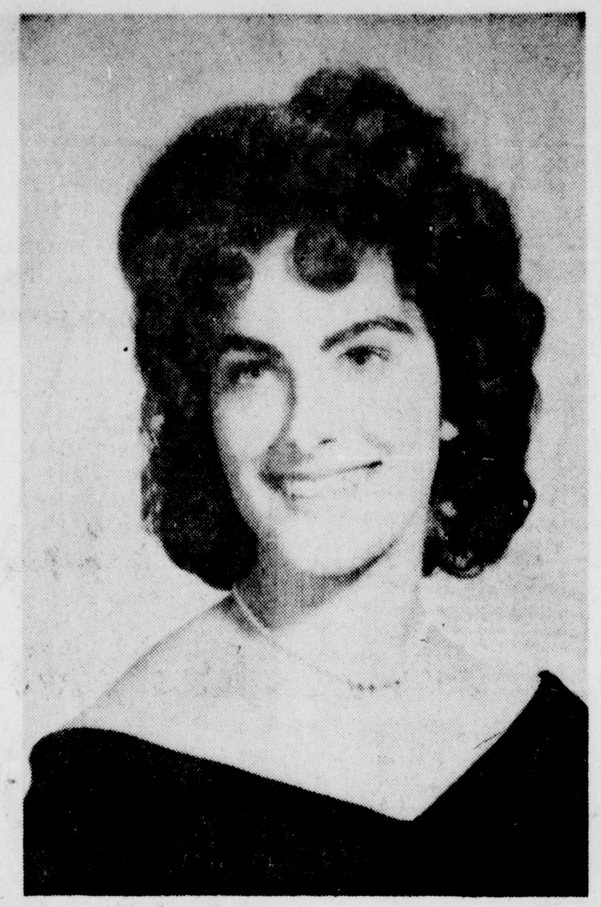
Driver Education Classes Save Money

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lack of standard driver education courses in many of the public high schools is costing the nation's young men — or their parents — an extra $7.7 million a year in automobile liability insurance premiums, the Insurance Information Institute reports.



ALICE MARIE SAPORETTI

Alice Saporetti To Wed Robert Fitch On Feb. 22

Mike Saporetti and Mrs. Alice Saporetti of San Rafael are announcing the approaching wedding of their daughter, Alice Marie, to Robert F. Fitch of San Rafael.

The bride-elect was graduated from San Rafael High School. Michael, Louis, Alfred, and Butch, all of San Rafael, are her brothers. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Soldavini of San Anselmo.

The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Roe of Oakland. He is a graduate of the University of California in Berkeley, and is presently employed as a deputy probation officer for Marin County. He is also a post-graduate student in the School of Criminology at the University of California. He is a member of the Marin County Peace Officers' Assn., the California Probation, Parole and Correctional Assn., and the University of California Alumni Assn.

The wedding will take place in the Community Methodist Church in Buri Buri, South San Francisco, on Feb. 22.

Care With Marble

Marble surfaces should be treated like any other valuable piece of furniture. Use coasters under glasses, and wipe up spilled liquid or food immediately.

To Clean Cut Glass

To clean cut glass or crystal, dampen a soft brush, dip in dry baking soda, and brush over the soiled area.

Well Designed Furniture Stands The Test Of Time

CHICAGO (UPI)—If you own a chair that has been reupholstered once or more you should be proud of your purchase. You are among the minority who knows how to buy sensibly, reports J. Gordon Knapp, president of an industrial design firm.

"The chair you like well enough to have reupholstered was obviously a good choice in the first place," he said, "and means you are not susceptible to the costly mistakes of impulse buying."

Knapp has some easy-to-follow tips to help you shop sensibly:

—DON'T BE SNARED by fads or fashions. "The mark of a good design is its ability to stand the test of time. If something new appears on the market, wait a while to evaluate it and re-evaluate it," he said.

—Resist status buying. "Keeping up with the Joneses is expensive." Knapp said that an item bought because it's "in" is merely duplicating someone else's tastes.

—SHY AWAY FROM overly-complex furniture. "Good design is basically simple, with nothing to detract from the object's function," he said. "If gimmicks are there only to impress you, beware!"

—Know room measurements and where the item will go. "Furniture or carpeting that looks stunning in the store may be all wrong for your home or your way of life," he explained. "Remember that colors look different under store lights, compared with natural light or the lamps in your living room.

—"BEWARE OF ILLUSION. Steer clear of the object that looks like something else — a family home that looks like a honeymoon cottage. Or a bronze horse with a clock in its stomach. "Odd designs that detract from the basic function of a product soon lose their appeal," Knapp said.

Epicures Have Always Argued Over The Flavor Of Truffles

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Riddle: what is small as a pea, large as a basketball, black as coal, yellow, and tastes and smells like strawberries, chestnuts, herbs or garlic?

Answer: a truffle.

French truffles are black, and range in size from that of a pea to an orange. Italy's are black or yellowish-white, and vary in size from that of a marble to a basketball.

Brillat-Savarin, a French gastronome, called these fungi the diamonds of cookery. The analogy is especially apt this winter. Bad weather from the start of the harvest season in France and Italy sent the price of fresh truffles to a gem-like high of $160 a pound at the holiday season, says the Foods of France Information Bureau.

IN GOOD YEARS, after the holiday rush, the price usually is only $20 to $25 a pound, the bureau added, and canned truffles sell for much less — about $2 an ounce. These "underground mushrooms" are so precious that even peelings, puree and broken pieces are canned and sold, usually in tiny containers.

The United States also has truffles, but most of its 82 specimens are inedible, says Paul A. Urbani, a Trenton, N.J., grower and importer.

NO ONE EVER has found a way to grow truffles commercially outside of France and Italy, he said in an interview. The fungi thrive only in chalky or clay soil, usually near oak, juniper or hazelnut trees. They are located by smell by specially-trained pigs and dogs, Urbani added.

Pate de foie gras, or goose liver paste, is probably the best known truffled dish, but the fungi also are widely used in France to garnish and flavor meat, fowl, game and omelets.

Social Service To Preview Its Summer Tour Of Europe

The Social Service Auxiliary of Marin presents a preview night, Thursday, for its "Dream Tour of Europe."

The evening of "tour sampling" will open Jan. 31 at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall of the College of Marin. While the program is designed to inspire many to take the 44-day trip this summer, preview night will also provide an evening of entertainment for families and friends of Auxiliary members.

George Geramoni will present the films of 14 countries.

Reservations chairman is Mrs. Lawrence McCormick, 116 San Gabriel Drive, Fairfax. Mrs. George Geramoni is chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Fred Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Yore, Mrs. Fred Acciari, Mrs. Albert Schmitz, Mrs. Cletus Fitzharris and Mrs. Frank Morris.

The tour, which is being sponsored by the Auxiliary as a fund-raising event for Catholic Social Service of Marin, will leave New York by jet on June 24 for Portugal and Spain. In Barcelona, the group will start out with its own chartered bus and driver for a month's tour, later flying to Paris and London.

"A Tour With Alure With a Purpose" will be the theme of both the film visit and the actual tour.

Dial-A-Review Service Growing As Filmgoers Reach For Phone

By BARBARA HOSMER

The eve of a weekend or holiday often brings telephone calls to the San Rafael Public Library with youthful voices saying they "want to go to the show . . .

"And I can't go until my parents are sure it's a picture okay for me to see."

The librarian agrees to check and reaches for the file of film reviews which rate a picture's suitability for youngsters over eight and for teen-agers. She is happy to read the entire review if parent or youngsters wished to hear it.

SINCE THE SERVICE was inaugurated some 14 months ago by the 14th District P-TA and taken over by the Marin Motion Picture and Television Council, the file of motion picture reviews kept at the library has continued to build interest. The librarians know now, 14 months after its beginning, that more parents and children than ever are finding the review service a helpful guide to film suitability and enjoyment.

The reviews, of course, are written by experienced reviewers for the Green Sheet (comprising 11 national review sources) and the California P-TA Magazine, the only sources that rate movies for various age levels and give the reasons for their ratings. The opinions are not those of the librarians, who are happy to read the reviews to any caller as a public service, nor of the Motion Picture Council members who toil to keep the file current.

THE LIBRARIANS agree that most of their callers are parents of the teen-agers who make up a large percentage of the movie going audience. And they report lots of calls on the Friday night shows.

Occasionally the teen-agers themselves will call to find out what the ratings are before they can go, the librarians say. The phone was ringing urgently when they unlocked the door one Friday night at 7 o'clock, and the youngster on the line was impatient to get the review before she could get to the show that night.

Other times teen-agers will call asking the librarians to run through the reviews on all the shows around because a whole group is trying to decide what sounds good and will also get the parental nod.

The file will cover four years of reviews, as often films are re-released from other years, as fewer films are made each year, says Mrs. Willard E. Vernon, 14th District P-TA motion picture chairman and vice president of Marin Motion Picture Council.

SHE REPORTS that sometimes when the Green Sheet or California P-TA Magazine have not yet published a review of a film and thus there is none in the file, persons calling will ask the librarian answering the telephone to make a judgment.

"Quite properly the librarians always refuse to do this. The library staff does not presume to offer opinions on the films any more than the local group who clip and prepare the film guides," Mrs. Vernon stressed.

Rather, the guide always quotes the reviews of the 12 trained sources. Usually, adds Mrs. Vernon, there is only minor disagreement among them.

The librarians say that some parents who call explain that they have asked about the picture at the theater but the information given out by the film industry "doesn't mean anything . . ." It doesn't cover what parents want to know.

"THAT'S WHY we're happy to do this service because it is useful and necessary to the community. . . . Someone has to care that parents get all the information available . . .," a library spokesman states.

The contrast between the 12 review sources and the information given out by the film industry, Mrs. Vernon explains, is that the industry speaks only of photography, acting, direction, technical aspects and entertainment value of a film, omitting regard for ethical values and age suitability.

Often calls are generated by mothers of children invited to birthday theater parties who say, "My daughter has been invited—is it all right for her to see this picture?" prompting the librarian to read the review ratings to her.

WHILE MOST persons who call are mainly interested in the review's rating of a film—for adults and mature youths, or ages 14-18, etc., Mrs. Ruth B. Hedges, chief reviewer for the California P-TA Magazine, has stressed the importance of giving a parent reasons and details for the rating so that he can decide whether a film is too brutal or has sequences too unsavory for his particular child.

The reviewers point out that subject matter alone is not their criterion for a film's suitability for youngsters—if unethical situations are handled truthfully, tastefully and with honest contrast of good and evil, the effect can be a very moral film and will rate it so.

"We feel that the film file and guide service given by the Motion Picture and Television Council with the assistance of the librarians is a definite and valuable aid which we want to keep available to Marin parents and youngsters," Mrs. Vernon states.

Deanne Hensley To Wed In April

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar D. Hensley of San Francisco formerly of Mill Valley are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Deanne Valerie, to John Patrick Mundy also of San Francisco.

The bride-elect was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and Miss MacAleer's Secretarial School. She is employed with Laurentide Leasing Co. in San Francisco.

The future bridegroom, son of Harry F. Mundy of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Mundy, was graduated from St. Ignatius High School and will graduate in June from the University of San Francisco. He is employed at Ernst and Ernst.

Plans are being made for an April wedding.

Kentfield To Fete Teachers

In a thank-you to teachers, the three Parent-Teacher Associations of Kentfield School District will give a faculty luncheon tomorrow at the Greenbrae School.

The luncheon will be part of the in-service training day for teachers of Greenbrae, Kent and Wolfe Grade Schools.

While expenses for the luncheon will be borne by the three P-TAs, and help will be given by seven women members, 11 seventh and eighth graders of Kent School have volunteed to serve and clean up.

The luncheon speaker will be Fred DuBridge, public relations director for Lockheed-Sunnyvale, who will discuss the missile age and education.

P-TA members assisting at the luncheon will be Mesdames Austin Lea and Alan Kruezberger of Kent School; Roger Sobel and James Collins of Greenbrae School, and George McKenna, Francis DiGrazia and Hugh Marchant of Wolfe Grade School. Mrs. Marchant is luncheon chairman.

Grandmother Serves As Diplomatic Chief

By LOYAL GOULD

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Bulgarian Reds took on more than they bargained for when they tangled with a silver-haired American grandmother here.

"They figured she'd be a pushover," a Western diplomat said, "but they didn't know Babitschka."

Babitschka, the Bulgarian for grandmother as she is known affectionately among some of her friends here, is Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, American minister to Sofia and the first female U.S. diplomatic chief of mission in an Iron Curtain country.

Since named to the post by President John F. Kennedy May 18, she has embarked on a course of person-to-person diplomacy designed to make America better known in this small Balkan Satellite.

As in all Communist countries, this is not so easy.

Obstacles include secret police action, insults at diplomatic receptions and so-called "spontaneous" anti-American demonstrations.

The woman who says she regards these difficulties as just part of her job was born May 26, 1909 in Adair, Iowa, the daughter of a Methodist minister.

She married John Pierce Anderson in 1930 and settled down on his farm in Red Wing, Minn., to raise a family.

The couple now has two grown married children.

But what Mrs. Anderson says started out as a normal Midwest life was abruptly altered by the appearance of Adolf Hitler on the international scene.

"I suddenly became terribly concerned about what was going on in the world," she says, "and took a trip to Germany to find out first hand—it was frightening.

Mrs. Anderson began studying the working of democratic government and joined civic groups concerned with the operations of local government.

In 1944, she entered Minnesota Democratic-farmer labor party politics. Her political activity led to President Harry Truman naming her American ambassador to Denmark in 1949, the first American woman ever to hold ambassadorial rank.

During three years in Copenhagen, she became the first woman to sign a treaty on behalf of the United States with the conclusion of the treaty of trade and navigation in 1951, and learned enough Danish to make nationwide broadcasts and to get her ideas across to Denmark's man in the street.

Now Mrs. Anderson is learning Bulgarian, and traveling extensively throughout this country.

She had one of her initial opportunities to use her newly acquired language on opening of the American pavillion at the Plovdiv international trade fair last summer.

Although the government-run Bulgarian Chamber of Commerce had approved the distribution of a U.S. legation pamphlet on America, secret police turned up at the American display to confiscate the brochures.

"That got my dander up," she says, "so I went out in front of the pavillion and handed them out myself. You can bet your life the police didn't take any from me."

Her second test of will came at the height of the Cuban crisis.

LADY AMBASSADOR . . . Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, attending to her paper work here, was first American woman diplomat to sign a U.S. Treaty. Now she confounds Reds.

Creative Souls, Hard At Work Are In Every School District

"Some educators are like parrots," a mother writes. "They give identical answers, automatically. Several years ago you, Doctor Barbour, studied my daughter. You said she was highly gifted, and should receive special attention in school. Since then we've lived in New York, Florida and Illinois. In each place I asked the school leaders to give her the attention you suggested. Each one said no, automatically, using exactly the same words. They sounded like parrots, not like thinking men. Can you tell me why?"

I believe I can. As you've discovered, many professionally trained educators talk alike, because of the training they received. They all went to college, read the same textbooks. Their professors taught them the same ready made solutions to school problems. Now they rely on those solutions. They tend to use them even though they may no longer be valid. Critics have scolded educators for this many times. I'm sorry, but much of what the critics say is true.

There are lots of exceptions, of course. In every school district there are creative souls, hard at work, trying to find really adequate answers to pressing problems. They're busy improving the education of gifted pupils by experimenting with teaching machines, language laboratories, and educational TV. They devise new methods for team teaching. They're trying out separate classes for boys and girls. they're setting up small schools, instead of big ones. Creative educators are wonderful.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Our boy stole a roll of candy from the store. He confessed, and returned it. He is 6. Should we worry about his becoming a thief?"

(A) No. Nearly all children steal from stores once or twice. They have to learn not to. Almost certainly he has learned his lesson already.

Foreign Language Program Planned At Silveira School

A Foreign Language program under the direction of Dr. Manuel Guerra will be presented on Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m. in Marinwood Hall of the Silveira School.

Included in the program will be songs, flag salute performed by the primary childrens classes in French and Spanish.

The upper classes will present the short play (in Spanish) "The House on Fire"; both French and Spanish will give "The Barber Shop" and "The Beauty Salon."

This program which will include children from grades one to six of the Silveira and Lucas Valley schools is designed to see how the children are progressing in this new program sponsored by the Marinwood Home and School Club.

Poinsettia Thrives

Poinsettia thrives in a sunny location away from direct heat and drafts. It needs uniformly moist soil.

Oven Tint

A sudsy cloth will remove the discoloration that collects around the oven door of a kitchen range. To prevent "crazing" the enamel, wait until the surface has cooled.

Soda Wash

To remove spray and soil from fruit before eating, wash in a solution of one tablespoon of baking soda per gallon of water.

New Congressman Has Two Jobs Needing His Attention

After a hard fought election campaign—like the one that just led to Don Clausen's rather remarkable feat of winning in each of the six counties of the First Congressional District—there is a strong temptation to conduct a post mortem, to try to second guess the campaign decisions of the candidates.

But when all is said and done, you can't argue against success. Clausen scored a clean sweep, even in counties which had not voted Republican for long periods. You have to say Clausen's campaign was eminently successful; his opponent's was faulty.

So much for the post mortem.

It is more important now to let bygones be by-gones, to commence to work together toward solving the problems that confront us.

There are two pressing ones here in Marin:

First, the disposition of the Tiburon Net Depot, which the Navy has indicated is no longer needed for any ordinary Naval purpose.

Second, the need to push for federal funds for purchase of the Pt. Reyes National Seashore property—a push not exerted since the late Congressman Miller's untimely death last October.

Clausen has long signified his intention of getting on with this job and he has expressed hope that the bipartisan effort which launched the project would continue. We hope so too.

As to the Naval Net Depot, the need is immediate. The Marin Board of Supervisors has received a letter from Under Secretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay, Jr., in which he hints at what the Navy has in mind.

"The research to be conducted at the Tiburon facility is directed toward the development of the concept of launching rocket-propelled vehicles from a floating or semi-submerged position." The net depot is "peculiarly adapted to the requirements for this research-development effort" and the Navy "regrets" that there will not be space enough there for a marine sciences research institute.

Secretary Fay's description of the rockets to be researched and developed at Tiburon are frightening indeed. You can almost hear the roar, see the flames and the cloud of smoke and steam as rockets take off the surface of the Bay or under it.

And yet we're certain nothing of this kind is intended. Even the rumors about Aerojet-General's proposed operations there as part of such a research project, have them doing much research and little development. No noise, smell, danger or smoke, the stories say.

But the big thing is WE DON'T KNOW what the plans are. The office of our representative in Washington has been ineffective since Clem Miller's death in providing information or assistance.

Now we have a new congressman. We hope he moves fast on both the Tiburon Naval Net Depot and the Point Reyes Seashore projects.

Heather—First Flower Of Year

The lavender and green of the heather is a favorite January sight of many Marinites. It is one of our earliest blooming plants.

This is Erica, mostly a native of Europe. But heath or heather or Erica, it is clusters of tiny, black-eyed, cup-like, lavender blossoms. The sprays of this pale purple cloud lift the heart of every flower lover.

It is a winter blossom. Often it begins opening in late November. Besides being one of the earliest, it is one of our longest lasting flowers, often blooming until March.

There's nothing flashy about heather. It is as homey and friendly a flower as one can imagine. We welcome it as an old friend.

We Should Honor Our Veterans

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Here is one wee voice in protest of we in Marin County intimating that our veterans are a bunch of "rats," out to steal from the county, via "Veterans Exemptions."

Don't you think that the $70 per year (roughly) which we allow them (if they have less than $10,000) a pittance for what they have done for us. Surely there is much more our grand jury can do to uncover crime than to flush out the 1 in 1,000 vet who probably was in error mis-stating his worth.

Please let us honor our veterans.

I speak out, too, as a daughter of a vet, a sister of four vets, a wife of a vet and the way things are going, the mother of three more (ages 1, 4 and 7). No need to worry —none of these "rats" are applying for an exemption here.

County Library Needs Policing

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

After spending an afternoon in the County Library at the newly-erected Civic Center, we made the pledge never again, under any circumstances, to enter the library to study. Being students trying to do research work, we found that the unnecessary noise and constant commotion caused us to get absolutely nothing achieved. The librarians made no attempt to quiet the loud children and thoughtless adults.

We hope for the benefit of others who wish to study in the library, that this "Grand Central Station" finds a new atmosphere of peace.

Hallinan Book Review Rapped

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your review of Vincent Hallinan's just-published autobiography deserves the sneers it surely evoked from among your perceptive and intelligent readers.

The stale, staid, dull presentation of your "reviewer" suggests two possibilities:

That the I-J turned chicken in the face of the passionate convictions now communicated in book form under the imprint of a much honored American publishing house or that the I-J deliberately chose to give the Hallinan book the "neutral treatment," a classical method traditionally resorted to by editors and publishers who are unsure about their convictions.

Certainly a critique signed by a Chapin Day or a Jack Craemer would have given Vince Hallinan a run for his money, with a touch of literary eclat thrown in.

Meanwhile, the namby-pamby handful of paragraphs of nothingness you have presented as an alleged "review" of a say-something, vivid autobiography has served to downgrade the stature of the I-J.

Who Has Power To Spend Money?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Our disenchanted town manager of Corte Madera has made a statement in your newspaper to the effect that he dislikes spending any more money in a certain part of town.

As a new citizen, I'm very confused and trust there is an explanation. Does he have the sole authority to spend our money, or is this the responsibility of our fine Mayor Colthurst and the Town Council of our Town of Corte Madera?

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

GOP Solons Invaded Marin To Help Clausen, Helped Themselves

By CHAPIN A. DAY

Election day brought an influx of Republican legislators into Marin from Sacramento. Marin Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Senator John F. McCarthy arranged for about 24 assemblymen and four or five senators to come down and ring doorbells after the Tuesday session in the Capitol.

'CHIP' DAY

It was rather a remarkable demonstration on the part of the Assembly GOP. Only four of the 28 Republicans in the lower house were unable to make the trip to help the election of Don Clausen to Congress.

I don't know how much good such an influx does. Certainly, they got out and rang doorbells to get out the vote. But whether they were any more successful than any other 28 doorbell ringers, I wouldn't know.

It did them a great deal of good, however. At a luncheon in the Nut Tree on their way down from Sacramento, one of them remarked, "This is the first time we've been together on anything since the session started."

And he was about right.

If this turns out to be a turning point in the cooperation of the Republicans, Tuesday's election may well be more significant in state politics than in national.

Senator Jack Schrade of San Diego was campaigning when he ran into an unfriendly dog. The dog won; nipped Schrade in the seat of the pants.

"The owners were very nice," said the senator. "I think they went out and voted for Clausen—sort of a sympathy vote."

OF ALL THE gimmicks used to try to capture votes, I think I received most irate protests about the card sent by Bill Grader (or his staff) to election officials, many of them at their polling places. Some officials refused to accept them at the polls; others dropped them back in the mail box.

Loudest public protest was over Joyce Gross' letter as head of the "Republicans For Grader." I didn't think this letter was so bad by itself, but it took the brunt of the blame for many little things which had been adding up.

Running third in protests was the postcard from Grader telling each voter where his polling place was and soliciting a vote at the same time, plus a picture of the President and Grader's family.

It's certainly hard to tell what will strike a voter as a service and what as an infringement on his prerogatives. The voter doesn't realize all the work, planning, and monotonous routine which goes into a mailing.

THINGS HAVE been so busy with the election that Marin Democrats haven't been able to give much thought, effort or money to the testimonial dinner planned Saturday, Feb. 2, in San Francisco's Mark Hopkins Hotel for Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson.

Robert I. McCarthy, Jack's brother and former senator and state motor vehicles director, is chairman. McCarthy has moved back to Northern California, San Mateo County.

If I were Republican San Mateo Senator Richard Dolwig, I'd begin to check my fences. That McCarthy has election look in his eye again.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

Hugh Allen, attorney for Highland Realty, said over Kitty Oppenheimer's KTIM program that San Rafael and San Anselmo "stole" part of the Miracle Mile. But attorney John G. Buresh for San Anselmo declared they would prove ownership in the courts.

Marin County supervisors tackled the problem of how to complete road projects estimated to cost $205,410, with about half of that or $109,157 remaining in the budget for use until July 1.

A whimsical reader of TASM who signs himself "Elisha J. Unlikely," submits the story of a cowboy who brought his shy, young wife to Chicago for a vacation. She had read a great deal about kidnappers before they arrived, and was afraid to be left alone in their hotel room. So when the cowboy left to look up some old pals, he locked her in the room, and took the key with him.

Hours later, after a delightful—and liquir—get-together with his friends, he suddenly remembered his wife. "Holy cow," he cried, jumping to his feet. "You gotta excuse me boys, I done left Sally Lou locked in a room all night and I ain't neither fed nor watered her!"

Once after Lord Moynihan, a great British surgeon, had brought to a successful conclusion a very difficult operation before a gallery full of visiting doctors, he was asked how he could function so smoothly with such a crowd in attendance. He answered, "You see, there are just three people in the operating room when I operate: the patient and myself."

"But that's only two," noted the questioner. "Who is the third?" "The third," said Lord Moynihan, "is God."

Alan King has a neighbor who's so hen-pecked, he got a divorce from his wife four months ago, and still hasn't summoned the nerve to tell her about it.

Corte Madera Lagoon Residents Wait 1 2/3 Hours To Be Heard

NO "SLEEPY Lagoon" (title of an old Harry James number) is the quagmire called Lagoon 2 in Corte Madera. Residents are dismayed that it hasn't lived up to developers' predictions for boating, swimming, fishing.

The residents comprised the majority of about 60 who sat and stood fairly patiently for one hour and 40 minutes Monday night while waiting for the Town Council to get to their complaint of drought, debris, rats and mosquitos, Item 18 (out of 20 listed) on the agenda. But the 50 or so lagoon people apparently couldn't help applauding the council on Item 17, unrelated to their complaint, a recurrence of their yowling of two years ago.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst laughed and said, "We are not on Lagoon 2 yet." But in another minute, at 9:10 p.m., they were on it. The ensuing colloquy, in which the mayor named himself on a committee of five Pied Pipers to rid the area of rats, etc., was peacefully terminated 48 minutes later.

County sanitarian William Desmond, who took in the meeting and termed the mess a public nuisance but not a health hazard, told me that morning that such a lagoon is difficult to police when there is no assessment district. He said the department lost its fascination with Corte Madera lagoons after a sewer line problem was cleared. A pressure line extending under one lagoon used to break, he reports. Ahhhgh!

THE COSMOPOLITAN Tamalpais Union High School District superintendent's office with its sophisticated and decorous gal staffers has become even more cosmopolitan.

Last week I reported an American studying in Russia had applied for a Tam District teaching job. This week Eduardo Neumeier, the suave news disseminator for the district, reports an application from an American girl studying in Israel.

Neumeier deposes:

"The application was from Sandra Irene Greenspan, 23 (5' 4," 100 pounds, no other measurements), a resident of Chicago, seeking a position in French, noting that she can also teach Hebrew (not yet offered in the Tam District).

"Miss Greenspan, widely traveled, presently resides in the Kibbutz Maabarot, in Maabarot, Israel. She has previously taught French and Hebrew in Illinois and taught English in Tel Aviv before entering life on the collective farm (pop. 600).

"There she works eight hours a day, no wages, and is attending a class to study historical, geographical, sociological, economic and agricultural aspects of Israel.

"She has bachelor and master degrees from University of Wisconsin. For a gal of 23 years, she's done a lot apparently. She also plays the harp." Twang!

MAGGIE GRANT gave a party in the Mill Valley Greyhound bus depot recently for S. I. Hayakawa to autograph copies of his "The Use and Misuse of Language." Those dropping in included one-girl political platoon Sally Garouette and Librarian Dorothy Thomas, the only librarian to issue a statement defending "The Tropic of Cancer" during its trial in Marin.

Hayakawa said he had just bought a TR3. "White like mine?" I asked. "No," he replied, "it's red." He added: "You know, red is a sex symbol."

Dems Ready To Tighten Party's Grip On State

By DE VAN L. SHUMWAY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Part three of the Democratic Party's program to gain control of California from top to bottom is almost ready to be put into effect.

The first part was reapportionment of the state's 80 Assembly districts and 38 congressional seats. That came in 1961 when the Democrats had control of the Legislature and were able to realign the districts along lines favoring the party in power.

The second part also was accomplished by the 1961 Legislature. It came with legislation to virtually eliminate challenges of voter eligibility at the polls.

PART THREE is scheduled for the 1963 Legislature and the man to carry the ball is Assemblyman Philip Burton, elected from a "safe" Democratic area of San Francisco.

Burton's program is twofold.

First he introduces a bill to require party labels on candidates for county boards to supervisors in the state. The candidates now are elected as nonpartisans, without ties to either political party.

Then comes another measure to require that in the larger cities of California—he hasn't decided on a cutoff point yet—city councils be put on a partisan basis.

The way officials of the party figure it, such bills can do nothing but help the Democrats, who maintain a 3-2 registration edge in California year after year.

Burton and other Democrats call the measures attempts to bring "party responsibility" to local government.

But the Republicans claim they're a step toward political bossism.

BURTON SAYS that it only makes sense for local candidates to run as Democrats or Republicans.

"I believe candidates for public office have a political point of view which oftentimes is impossible for the voter to discern in the absence of a party designation," says Burton.

Besides, he says, nonpartisanship in local government now is a "fiction."

And that fiction, Burton believes, has enabled Republicans to maintain themselves in local boards of supervisors and city councils in heavily Democratic areas.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Democrat, whose political outlook could be described as liberal, was frank with newsmen about what he feels is the long range plan of the Democratic Party.

He pointed out that for many years the party spent time and energy to capture control of the state Legislature and the governorship. This was done in 1958 when the Democrats elected their second governor of the 20th century.

This gave the party a free rein in reapportioning the Assembly and congress. And in the 1962 general election, it gave the party control of the Assembly by a margin of 52-28 and an edge in the congressional delegation 24-14.

Now reapportionment is behind the Democrats and, according to Burton, "you can expect the Democrats will step up their drive to increase representation in the Republican strongholds of local government."

WILL THE Republicans sit still for this?

Don Mulford (R-Oakland), the GOP caucus chairman of the Assembly, doesn't believe they will—and neither will the voters.

But what can the Republicans do about it if the Democrats persist—as Burton says they will? The answer is that they can do very little but, on the other hand, the Senate, inclined to be conservative, could stop part three from going into effect.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Do Homework Away From Table So You Can Act At Right Time

In some situations you must make the right play without thinking.

Do a little thinking away from the table so that you can recognize these situations in a flash and then you have a chance to come up with the right answer effectively.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

When today's hand was played in the 1959 world championship, both the American and the Argentine team bid up to four spades and got a trump opening lead.

SINGLETON

Both declarers won the first trick in dummy and returned the singleton six of diamonds.

The Argentine East hadn't been thinking ahead. He hesitated, and it became clear to everybody at the table that he had the ace of diamonds and was wondering what to do.

After about one second East realized that he had given himself away. He played the ace of diamonds with a resigned shrug of the shoulders.

NO PROBLEM

The American declarer had no further problem. He could win a trick, later, with the king of diamonds and could ruff two diamonds in dummy.

At the other table, Leonard Harmon held the East cards for the American team.

TO GUESS

South now had to guess whether to play the king or the jack. It's easy for us to see the winning play, but in the actual match South played the jack.

West won with the queen of diamonds and returned another trump. South never won a trick with the king of diamonds, and he went down one instead of making the game.

The secret of Harmon's success was that he had done his homework away from the bridge table.

He had discovered that it doesn't pay to come up with the ace when a singleton is led through you.

You sometimes lose your ace by playing low, but you gain far more often than you lose.

Today is Thursday, Jan. 24, the 24th day of 1963 with 341 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Mars.

The evening stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1848, gold was first discovered in the Sacramento River near Coloma.

In 1908, the first Boy Scout troop was organized in England by a general in the British Army, Robert Baden-Powell.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Worry About 'Bad Habits' Probably Most Harmful Feature About Them

VAN DELLEN

Many persons feel guilty when they do not eat properly, use stimulants, work too hard, or over-indulge in sex. Our ancestors were bothered by the same problems and, in all probability, future generations will follow suit. These digressions from normal usually take care of themselves with the passing years and worrying about them is their most harmful feature.

There are numerous other habits that shorten life but receive too little attention. It may sound trite at this time to warn against overweight but statistics show that obesity initiates or aggravates various diseases. Many people realize, after losing weight, that they feel better and have much more pep and energy. Reducing also lessens the load on the heart and decreases the chance of developing heart attacks. According to Dr. Irvine H. Page, we eat less in the hope that we will live longer to eat more.

MUCH OF THE hullabaloo about tobacco centers about the heavy cigarette smoker. He smokes more than one package a day and his respiratory membranes are feeling the full irritating effects of the smoke. The light smoker is more likely to escape, provided he can remain a light smoker. This is not easy to do unless the individual learns early in life to discipline himself. It is here that moderation enters the picture.

Over the years I have studied the habits of many oldsters and moderation seems to be the common trait among them. Many practice this kind of common sense in all ways. Others have one or two bad habits and love to give them credit for their longevity.

A WIDELY known example is, "To what do you attribute your long life?" The oldster replies, "To smoking 20 cigars a day" or "To drinking whisky since I was 9 years old." There are exceptions to all rules but it is better to bet on the regulars than to take a chance on the longshots.

It is important also to take stock of our habits every year or so and make the necessary corrections. In some respects, it is never too late to do this, but good judgment tells us the sooner the better. But don't go overboard to the extent that you forget how to live in order to prolong life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NAIL SHEDDING

Mrs. P. writes: What would cause a woman of 60 to start losing her finger and toe nails?

REPLY

Among the possibilities are ringworm and other infections, poor circulation, injury, and exposure to caustic substances. In other instances, the health of the nail is affected by a generalized condition such as diabetes. In alopecia areata totalis, the nails are shed along with the hair.

APPLESAUCE

R. A. writes: Does applesauce act as a binder or a laxative? Some neighbors say one thing, some another.

REPLY

This food has neither effect upon most of us. Apples contain pectin, which is used occasionally in treating diarrhea, but the amount in applesauce is too small to have a constipating effect.

INFECTED BONE

H. P. L. writes: What is done for abscess of a bone?

REPLY

Surgical drainage plus antibiotics. Drainage is necessary to prevent spread of the pus into other parts of the bone or to the surface of the body.

GASTRITIS FROM BEER

Mrs. J. writes: Could a lot of beer drinking cause chronic gastritis?

REPLY

Yes. Too much alcohol irritates the lining of the stomach.

Old Insane Asylum Is Being Studied

By BILL BOYARSKY

STOCKTON (AP) — Two massive brick buildings in this old California city were the end of the trail for thousands of pioneers.

They housed the state insane asylum, packed with miners, politicians, prostitutes, merchants, sailors, runaway slaves and laborers whose minds had been shattered by the violence, poverty and disease of early day California.

Researchers are studying yellowed case histories of these Gold Rush patients, hoping they'll shed light on disorders striking the thousands of men and women emigrating to California today.

"Displacement is the common denominator, people leaving their old environments and coming to a new one," said Dr. Robert Ross, research chief of the Mental Hygiene Department.

The insane asylum, oldest mental institution west of the Mississippi, is now the modern Stockton State Hospital.

About all that's left of the old days is one of the buildings —the other was torn down in the 1920s — and the record books, filled with stories of young men and women who came to California hoping for a new life.

Some traveled by wagon train and their emotions were strained by hunger, bad weather and the danger of Indian attack.

Others took the boat and landed in San Francisco weakened by dysentery or Panama typhus.

The men made the weary trip across the Central Valley to mines in the Sierra foothills and often cracked under the bitter disappointment of learning that only the lucky or the skillful took gold from the Mother Lode.

Later, the cities grew and so did violence, vice, crime and great extremes of poverty and wealth. This, too, caused mental breakdowns.

The records tell of the seamy side of pioneer California.

There was Joseph A. Simmonds, 30-year-old New Yorker, brought in from Nevada County "insane about eight months and raving about a place called Rio Dos Diggings."

Peter Gluster, 27, a German emigrant, had lost his sanity—and all his fingers—in a blizzard.

Andrew Sheppard was pulled from the Auburn stage in Sacramento, $1,000 in cash and $40 in gold dust in his pockets.

"From his utterings, it would seem probable that extreme anxiety for the treasure he had with him had caused the aberration of his mind," said a newspaper account.

Mary McCracken, 18 and the mother of a two-month-old infant, had an epileptic attack and was locked up for four days in a San Francisco police station. Pale, emaciated and often violent, she was finally brought to Stockton, where she died.

In 1853, a legislative committee took a look at the female ward and wrote:

"We found the mild and gentle maiden, grieving over the imagined desertion of the heartless lover and the young mother pining away from the fancied death of a beloved child. In the same ward were heard the foul imprecations of the brazen-faced prostitute and the senseless chatter of the aged vixen."

In those pre-Freudian days, doctors didn't probe deeply for the cause of a mental breakdown. Disappointment in love, a blow on the head, heavy drinking, homesickness and moral weakness were all blamed.

Researchers say these old case histories are a unique record of mental disease in a frontier community.

Doctor Ross, who rescued them from destruction by house-cleaning state officials, said they will:

Cast light on how displacement from one community to another affects mental health. He said there could be a parallel between the emigrating '49ers and those flocking to California now. The study could help tell the state how large of a hospital caseload to expect in the future.

Reveal early day treatment methods. Ross said the research team has already been surprised to learn many old methods are similar to those used today.

"Treatment was liberal in the middle of the century, then became strict and now is swinging back," he said. "We are wondering what cultural things contributed to this."

The records could also tell how early psychiatric workers told the difference between mental illness, mental retardation and criminality.

Researchers also hope to find out how many latter-day patients were descended from pioneer patients.

Ross said the team is still gathering material on Stockton and hasn't yet found the hospital's oldest record—the day books covering the years 1851-54.

Europe Split Might Hurt U.S. Business

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle's tiff with his Common Market partners and Great Britain thickens the clouds that already overcast trade in American goods and farm products.

It adds to the U.S. financial problem posed by a deficit in the balance of payments which has pretty much defied efforts to trim it.

And, unless settled satisfactorily, the European split may lead to still further increases in U.S. defense outlays, the chief burden on the American taxpayer and prime cause of treasury deficits.

It's usually costlier to go it alone. And de Gaulle rejects increased American and European cooperation in nuclear defense.

All this, however temporary it may prove, is because the United States is trying to start bargaining with a united Europe on trade barriers as well as defense policies.

Europe divided and quarreling, even Europe marking time and refusing to bargain until its own squabbles are settled, puts off the bargaining timetable.

Many U.S. manufacturers may suffer—both because of continued trade barriers against their products and because of competition at home from foreign goods—until a good bargain can be clinched. And the American farmer seems sure to suffer, perhaps most.

European opposition to admitting some American farm products has been growing.

Under the Trade Expansion Act passed last year the U.S. president is empowered to bargain with the Common Market, and other nations, with the aim of cutting tariffs and other barriers, such as import quotas and high taxes on imported goods. His chief negotiator will be Christian A. Herter, a former secretary of state.

The president can impose duties against products of any country putting up crippling barriers against American farm products. But the hope is that the barriers can be lowered instead.

Herter says preliminaries to the final bargaining talks on tariffs on farm and other products may take 15 months.

And under the best of circumstances tough bargaining is expected.

Drunken Driving Fine Of $249 Paid

Alfred Thomas Sehabiague, 67, of 1308 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, paid $249 fine yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 last Nov. 25.

The judge put Sehabiague on six months probation. For the next three months, he may drive only on business.

Forest Fires Down In State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Forest fires in 1962 burned less than a third of the state acreage blackened in 1961, the Division of Forestry has reported.

In a report to Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the division said 3,023 forest fires burned 92,702 acres of state-protected land last year. In 1961, 3,207 fires burned 314,056 acres.

The average over the past five years has been 2,899 fires burning 163,458 acres.

The report also listed 1,944 non-forest fires in forested areas. These included buildings and vehicles.

111—Used Imported and Sports Cars for Sale

What to look for in a used car

We sell new Volkswagens, mainly, but our customers have put us in a thriving used car business with their trade-ins. And we like our used car customers to go out of here as satisfied as our new Volkswagen owners.

The check list below is for your convenience. A car that rates 100% we'd call "factory clean." Of course you can't ask for perfection in a vintage economy model. But you can make sure you know what you're getting for whatever you're paying.

Besides price, year, color, style, make and model, you can look into a few less obvious points to assure yourself of the car's worth with this check list.

We'd rather have you satisfied—than just sold.

On the lot, look for:
- ☐ Tires with evenly worn tread.
- ☐ Tight windows and doors.
- ☐ Lights and accessories that work.
- ☐ Clean, undamaged upholstery and flooring.
- ☐ Spare tire, jack, tire iron.
- ☐ Good radiator hose, fan belt, distributor, cables, wipers.
- ☐ Tight hubcaps.
- ☐ Locks that work.

Look out for:
- ☐ Rust around fenders and seams.
- ☐ Loose tail pipe or muffler.
- ☐ Loose bumpers.
- ☐ Water spots inside — possibly from leaks.
- ☐ Frame out of line.
- ☐ Corroded battery housing.
- ☐ Loose chrome strips.

Check these points in road test:
- ☐ Good springs and shock absorbers.
- ☐ Comfortable steering that doesn't pull to either side.
- ☐ Firm brakes that don't pull to either side.
- ☐ Effective emergency brakes.
- ☐ Speedometer and other gauges that work.
- ☐ Smoke-free exhaust.

And look out for these:
- ☐ Jerky transmission.
- ☐ Slipping clutch.
- ☐ Air leaks — around doors, windows, vents.
- ☐ Rattles.
- ☐ Overheating.
- ☐ Wobbly front wheels.
- ☐ Tendency to stall.
- ☐ Brake pedal that goes down too far.

We have all kinds of used cars on the lot today. Some nearly new; some fairly old, all worth investigating.

First Play For All Student Body

First day production for the entire student body of Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley was presented today when an eighth grade English class staged "The Monsters of Maple Street" in the school's multi-purpose room.

Before completion of the new room, there was none large enough for the entire student body.

Students of teacher Marjorie Huguet did their own set construction, lighting, sound effects and program, besides comprising the cast. Student director was Hugh Cregg.

Hallinan on KTIM

Vincent Hallinan, Belvedere attorney whose autobiographical "A Lion in Court" has just been published, will be guest of program conductor Kitty Oppenheimer on radio KTIM's "Marin Coast to Coast" program at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Co-Workers Give Blood For PT&T Employee

Blood given by fellow employees of the Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael supplied 15 pints required recently in open heart surgery for Robert Krieg, a member of the company's engineering division.

Krieg, who lives at 118 Acacia Avenue, Larkspur, is recovering from the surgery at Presbyterian Medical Center in San Francisco. His co-workers donated blood to their reserve supply at the Marin Blood Center, 506 Fourth Street in San Rafael.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin Now Following National Apartment Trend More Closely

Some interesting trends can be found in figures just released by the Marin Development Assn. on 1962 residential construction.

Particularly noticeable was the substantially increased share picked up by multiples and apartments over the previous year. In terms of dwelling units this segment showed 54 per cent of the total—1961 figures showed only 39 per cent, meaning that Marin is now following the national apartment trend more closely. Actual apartment construction almost doubled that of the year before.

Two good reasons are availability of financing and cost per living unit being just about half. Home building averaged $19,532; apartments $9,809 per unit. Both are up a little more than $200 from the year before. More than three-quarters of the total number of new living units were occupied during 1962.

Incorporated communities built more homes than unincorporated areas—about 54 per cent of the total; apartments 74 per cent, with San Rafael leading the field in both categories.

BUD ODEN of Marin Triumph, San Rafael, has been named exclusive Marin dealer for Rootes Motor Co., handling Hillmans and Sunbeam-Alpines.

NEW HAND KNIT STYLES are being shown at the Yarn Nook, San Anselmo, where Mrs. Patricia Mann says the French fashion flair is evident in yarns known the world over as "Linges du Pingouin."

Appearing at the Yarn Nook Feb. 1-2 is Mrs. Louise Ferrell, style consultant for Bear Brand yarns, who will show the newest in hand knit fashions.

NEIL C. O. BROGGER of San Rafael marks his 35th year of continuous service with the Bank of America this month. Now vice president of the corporate finance department at the bank's head office in San Francisco, he began his career as a teller at the Day and Night branch in that city.

Bank of America has received President John F. Kennedy's "E" award for helping put California in first place in the nation for overseas marketing of its products.

The "E" award which was used during World War II to signify excellence in production was revived last year by the president to increase U. S. earning abroad.

Hardcastle To Talk To Marinwood Group

Thomas D. Hardcastle, Golden Gate Bridge District director from Novato, will speak at a meeting of the Marinwood Assn. Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Mary E. Silveira School.

He will answer questions about the bridge, the district and commuter problems, said Guy E. Baty, association president. "We hope commuters from outside Marinwood will attend," said Baty.

FORD January ~~WHITE~~ Sale

January is the big month for bargain hunters

EVERY CAR WE HAVE IS REDUCED!

Every brand new Ford, Thunderbird, and Truck in stock—and every car on the way from the factory—is on sale at the prices listed, prices you won't beat even next September.

We were caught with our prospectus down! Heady with the success of ever mounting sales records every month of 1962, and particularly since the arrival of our 1963 models, we ordered—nay, demanded more and more new cars from the factory.

Well... they're here... and coming in by the truck loads every day. And ...wouldn't you know it? Buyers are becoming coy and are procrastinating. That's why we're pulling this gigantic caper so early in the model year. IF YOU PASS UP ONE OF THESE BARGAINS YOU JUST DON'T WANT A NEW CAR!

Sale prices effective through January 31 only. All cars subject to prior sale

Dining Out In Marin A Pleasure

Good Food In Finest Comfort

By HARRY CRAFT

Chemists assure us that food fare of the future will not be limited to a handful of pills—except as may be required for traveling in outer space.

Savory dishes with tantalizing aromas will continue to delight the senses, and restaurants that know how to prepare them need have no fear of being displaced by standup dispensaries measuring out "compact" menus of synthetic nutritives and vitamins, served with a glass of water.

In Marin County, the tradition of good dining is still strongly in favor of wholesome food, comfortable surroundings with a certain amount of "atmosphere," courteous service—and a dinner check that doesn't require budget financing.

Marinites are dining more sumptuously these days and occasionally splurge on their nights out, but this does not appear to have caused any detectable increase in restaurant prices which have been raised only moderately during the past year to keep pace with food and operating costs.

Today's median dinner check falls somewhere between $2.80 and $4.95 per person, the average range for "complete" meals (wines and liquors not included). However, since Americans are great steak eaters, and beef continues on the list of high-priced food commodities, it is not uncommon for them to spend liberally for the choice cuts. Recent additions of double New Yorks and chateaubriand to many menus have proved to be exceptionally popular.

MARINITES ARE GENEROUS with their affection for the county's older restaurants and none of the latter are more highly regarded than the famous Blue Rock Inn which had its beginning before the turn of the century. Still retaining much of its original decor, the Blue Rock dining room has been softened and made more comfortable by blending in a modern touch.

But whether ordered "on the dinner" or a la carte, both food and prices in Marin now offer values to diners-out actually superior to many areas with long established reputations for their gourmet attractions.

And it is a particularly favorable commentary on the restaurants listed in our 1962 Dining and Wining Guide that during the past year only three of them closed their doors—none as business failures. A few transfers were negotiated and several new places have opened which we have carried into these revised pages. We have also added other names which from our investigations seemed to justify mention.

There are, too, a number of excellent coffee shops, drive-ins, pizzerias and places with straight counter service. However, they represent a segment of the restaurant industry which does not fall within the scope of this guide. Our editorial coverage is limited categorically to establishments generally known for offering a varied dinner menu, inside seating and table service—or in some instances where a comparable cafeteria type of service exists—rather than eating places of every nature.

Good dining facilities should be as characteristic of Marin County as its beautiful homes, private swimming pools, boating, golf courses, inspiring viewsites and Mount Tamalpais. Our income is rated as the highest per family in the state. High income leads to more leisure time and cultural interests. In every civilization this has stimulated the appreciation of skillfully prepared foods.

Now it is one thing for Marin residents to be made aware of these facts — but does the "outside public" know about them?

The answer is an emphatic "yes."

At least one out of every six restaurants listed in this guide counts upward from 20 per cent of its customers from other parts of the Bay Area and points beyond. Some record a far higher showing. And this year's visitors have been more numerous than ever—many of them now "regulars."

We are pleased to bring to your attention once more the most complete reference work published covering Marin dining and wining opportunities. Keep it handy for future use. And use it frequently.

ESCARGOTS A LA RUBINI. The French passion for snails has been adopted by many Americans. Temptingly seasoned and flavored, the gastropods now appear on several Marin restaurant menus besides those which feature only French cuisine. Chef Gordon Jones at Rubini's in Fairfax displays two orders ready for serving as appetizers, prepared according to his own recipe.

Champagne's Bubbles Costly

The only sparkling drink in America taxed on its bubbles is Champagne.

Its carbon dioxide, though self-generated by secondary fermentation, is no different chemically from that in soft drinks or beer. But Champagne is considered a luxury and that makes it a mark for a walloping federal levy of $3.40 a gallon at the production level — about 20 times what the grape growers get.

By the time markups are added you pay about $1 per fifth, plus state levies.

This "gas tax" took its biggest hike during World War II when people were being encouraged to invest their extra change in war bonds. Before prohibition it was only 60 cents a bottle; less during the depression.

American Champagne producers have been trying to get Congress to cut the tax. They argue that sales would go up so much with a modest $1 per gallon, the government would make more money, and cite West Germany which ballooned consumption to more than five times its former level by cutting the sparkling wine tax from three marks to one mark per bottle.

It might be a very pleasant way of paying taxes at that.

Restaurant Use Goes Back To Medieval Times

Actual use of the word "restaurant" originated with the French about 1765, but the concept of eating out began with the wayside inns of ancient and medieval history.

One of the earliest English restaurants was the Tabard Inn in London where, in the 14th Century, Chaucer's Canterbury pilgrims used to gather prior to their journeys to the shrine of St. Thomas a Becket, to dine and revel.

They also held dinners there after they returned, at which time the best teller of stories during the pilgrimage was rewarded with a free meal and feted by the inn host, Harry Bailey, who went along on the trips to judge the best tales.

English commoners patronized eating places called "ordinaries" as far back as 1577. These were taverns which served only at specified mealtimes—usually between 1 and 4 o'clock—at a long common table and at a fixed price. Diners couldn't come in for service at other hours, or choose from a lengthy menu.

Often frequented by literary figures in the 17th Century was the Castle Ordinary. It burned down in 1666 and was rebuilt as Dolly's Chop House, gaining renown when "Dolly" introduced pretty serving maids instead of waiters. Dolly's was famous for its beefsteaks and ales. Fielding, Defoe, Swift, Dryden, Pope, Gainsborough and Handel were among its steady customers.

When coffee was introduced in Europe, the restaurant function was taken over by coffee houses which were popular from the 17th Century on. In France, the "cafe" arose. The first English coffee house was in St. Michaels Alley, Cornhill, owned by a Greek named Pasqua Rosee who was also the first to teach the method of roasting coffee and to introduce it in England.

Not until the beginning of the 1800s did the English borrow the term "restaurant" from their French neighbors. It was originally used to imply a lofty establishment where the titled Englishman might entertain at a glittering supper after the theater. But by the latter part of the century the phrase "popular, low-priced restaurant" appeared, designating establishments catering to the working and middle classes as well as the aristocracy.

Concept of the "grill room" in England was supposedly credited to traveling Americans who didn't want to dress for dinner. The first grill opened in London in the 1860s made no restrictions as to dress, offered fine atmosphere and good food.

Early restaurants in the United States during the colonial period were patterned after their English and continental counterparts — wayside inns, coffee houses and taverns. Among the better known were the Blue Anchor Tavern (1683) and Ye Coffee House (1700) in Philadelphia, and Ye Crown Coffee House of Boston in 1711.

The fashionable era of dining away from home, famous caterers, restaurateurs and chefs took hold about the time Delmonico's opened in lower New York in 1827.

Today, restaurants provide one out of every six meals eaten in the United States. Americans dine out more than any other people in the world.

Frenchmen Like Wine

The average Frenchman drinks more than three bottles of wine a week—most of it with his meals. The average American — not much more than one bottle every three months.

But the average American downs more than three cans of beer a week, and perhaps three cocktails or highballs. Frenchmen: About two bottles of beer and half our consumption of spiritous liquors.

There Are Two Gourmet Organizations In Marin

Marin has its gourmet organizations—not just one, but two of them.

Both hold charters from the world-famed International Wine and Food Society of London headed by Andre Simon, directing 39 similar chapters throughout the United States.

The Wine and Food Society of Marin County was organized by Mrs. Charles Fulcher now living in San Francisco, and held its first meeting in March, 1959, at the Meadow Club in Fairfax. It is made up of about 50 members—mostly married couples. Dinner gatherings are held four times a year, mostly at one of the county's restaurants or clubs.

These are occasions when special dishes are pre-selected by a food committee—dishes seldom found on everyday menus. Each course must be able to boast of "gourmet distinction" in its own right, and at the same time complement all other courses so that the entire meal follows epicurean standards of the parent organization.

Another committee selects the wine list. Wines may be choice California products or they may be imported, but here, again, each must be carefully chosen for the course it accompanies.

The group had its last dinner meeting this month at Fleur de Lys Restaurant in San Anselmo. Another dinner is scheduled for February. George C. Goheen of Mill Valley is 1963 president; Mrs. Tracy W. Harron of San Rafael is vice president. Mrs. John A. Lesoine of Ross acts as secretary, and Mr. Lesoine is treasurer.

The North Bay Wine and Food Society was organized about nine months later and held its first meeting at Sabella's. Present membership numbers about 25 and is confined exclusively to men. Most of them are Marin residents but some are from Sonoma County.

Procedures vary only slightly from those of the other group; seven or eight dinner meetings a year are held. At one of them members are joined by their wives. Dinners are at North Bay establishments as much as possible, but occasionally in other areas. Last month's gathering, for example, was in San Francisco. A location for the society's February meeting has not been determined.

The organization has Alfred Cherry of San Anselmo as its president; a steering committee includes Klaus D. Schmidt of San Rafael and Robert A. Jackson of Larkspur.

27 States Grow Wine

Wine of some sort is grown in 27 states.

In Ohio, a sparkling Catawba made near Cincinnati in praiseful verse by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. This remarkable Catawba was produced by Nicholas Longworth, whose namesake grandson achieved fame of a different sort—as one of the great speakers of the House of Representatives.

Ohio wine centers are in the Sandusky-Lake Erie Islands region and the Cincinnati area.

Next in production to California, which puts out four bottles of every five consumed in the U.S.A., is New York State.

Champagne is the biggest in the New York picture. But table and dessert wines also are made. The Finger Lakes district and Hudson River Valley are the most favored. And once they grew grapes in Flushing, N. Y.

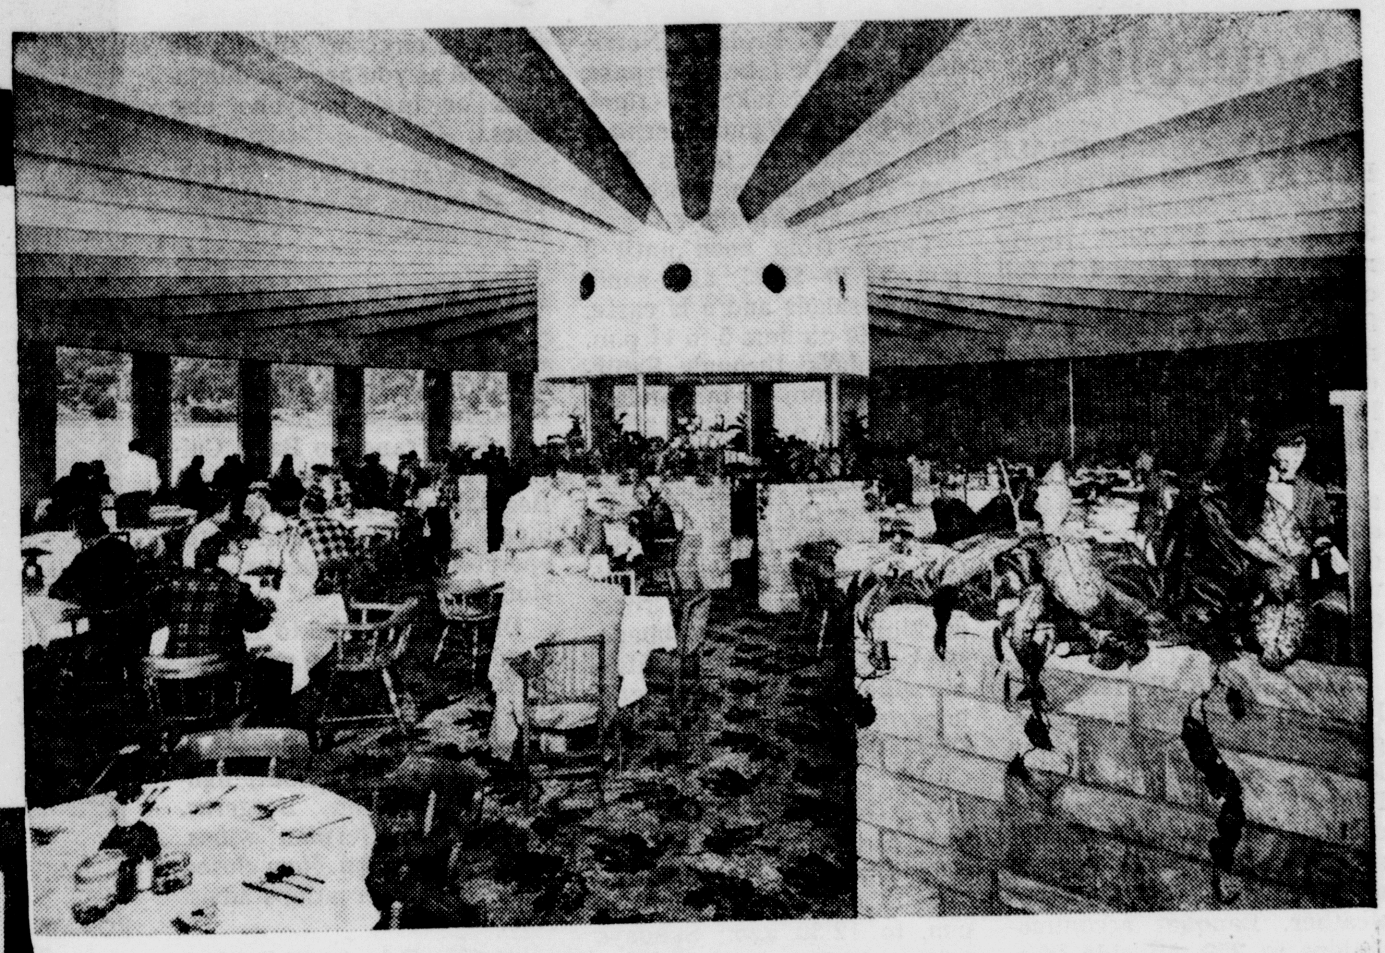
Other wines worthy of note: Washington—Puget Sound and the Yakima Valley; Oregon—the Williamette Valley; Iowa—the Council Bluffs area; Missouri—along the Missouri River; southwestern Michigan; New Jersey—Egg Harbor and northern and central parts; around Charlottesville in Virginia; the eastern coastal plains of North Carolina, and part of Arkansas' Ozarks.

Sabella's OF MARIN

"...a tradition in seafood"

SERVING DAILY: 11 AM – 11 PM
COCKTAIL LOUNGE: UNTIL 2 AM

THE FAMILY GROUP, including the children, has always been the mainstay of Sabella's patronage. We welcome your bringing the young ones to enjoy lunch and dinner with you. Our staff has been specially trained to make them feel comfortable so your visit with us will be a pleasant one.



OUR MAIN DINING ROOM

NOTHING has been spared at Sabellas to give you the utmost in comfort and service.

Our beautiful circular dining room facing on the waters of Richardson Bay has a view from every table of some picturesque segment of the breathtaking scene of the waters and hills of Marin County, and dominating them all — majestic Mount Tamalpais in the background.

Sabella's main dining room is large enough to seat 250 persons, but its unusual arrangement and efficient soundproofing were designed to give each individual group that sense of privacy seldom found in areas of this size.

OUR KITCHEN

THE HEART of Sabella's is in our kitchen, completely modern and fully equipped, where an expert food staff gives painstaking care to preparing the famous seafood entrees and salads for which we are noted, as well as the finest corn fed beef, steaks, chicken, pastries and desserts making up our extensive menu.

OUR COCKTAIL LOUNGE is spacious but intimate. Good taste and comfortable seating assure relaxation for an occasional drop-in or your pre-dining pleasure.

HERE, TOO, you will be entertained by one of our trio of organists every night of the week with the popular selections of the day and old-time favorites.

REDWOOD EMPIRE WINERIES provide excellent photographic material for the thousands of tourists who visit them each year. Huge wine barrels in this scene are those of the old stone Buena Vista Winery in the Valley of the Moon, founded in 1857 by Hungarian nobleman Count Agoston Haraszthy who was responsible for bringing to early California winegrowers more than 100,000 European grape cuttings. (Photo courtesy of Redwood Empire Assn.)

Wines Of Redwood Empire Well Known

As a portal to the Redwood Empire, Marin County has a close bond with its three northern neighbors, Napa, Sonoma and Mendocino counties, and more than a casual interest in their world-renowned wine growing industry.

Climate, soil and infinite care go into the making of Redwood Empire vintages which are served in some of the finest restaurants. Many of the picturesque old wineries are less than an hour's drive from San Rafael and they offer hospitable tours on a year-round basis.

Like the grapes grown in this region, adapted from European root stocks several generations ago, the wineries themselves are reminiscent of their old-world counterparts and draw hundreds of thousands of visitors each year.

These wineries and rolling vineyards are noted for their award winning red and white dinner wines and champagnes — ruby-red Burgundies and Clarets, fruity Chardonnays, Pinot Blanc and dry Rieslings. Here, too, originate many of the popular Rose wines, so appealing to the American taste.

There are more than three dozen wineries in the area, among them such well known names as Beaulieu, Beringer Brothers, Christian Brothers, Italian Swiss Colony, Inglenook, Hans Kornell, Korbel, Charles Krug and others.

They are carrying on the best traditions of viticulture, developing new strains of grapes and varieties of wines. Also, near the town of Sonoma is the famous Buena Vista Winery founded more than 100 years ago by Count Agoston Haraszthey, called the "father of the California wine industry."

Prefer Informality? Then It's Drive-ins, Pizzerias

In addition to the dineries listed in the foregoing pages, there are two eating-out categories always popular with those who prefer more informality: Drive-ins with their anytime-snack service, and pizzeries which began with a specialty dish in Italy and have spread through many American towns and cities during recent years.

There are a number of both in Marin County and we are listing them here for reference:

Metabolism Wine Effect Is Studied

Dr. Milton Silverman, medical research director for the Wine Advisory Board in San Francisco, reports that investigations have been conducted over the last 15 to 20 years on the effect of wine on sugar metabolism, so important in diabetes.

"So far as we are aware," he commented, "dry wines—those very low in sugar—can be safely included in moderate quantities in the diets of most diabetic patients."

He cautioned, however, that physicians specializing in this field warn diabetics not to use sweet wines, or large quantities of any wine or other alcoholic beverage. And not to use even dry wines in severe diabetic cases — those that can't be readily controlled by insulin.

PEACOCK GAP GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB was the scene of Marin's social highlight of 1962—the Debutantes Ball held in December. Adjoining the dining room was a huge buffet table in a tent decorated with eight-foot trellises and fir branches at the sides. Hundreds of tidbits and hors d'oeuvres were prepared by chef Lars Eric Benson, shown here with club manager Terry Van Gorder.

Way Highball Got Started

According to the late H. L. Mencken, the name "highball" evolved from a bartender's term in the gay 90s. He called a glass a "ball." A glass used for spirits and mixer generally was taller. So—high ball.

There are several stories about the origin of the word "cocktail." The one most credited associates it with the French "coquetier," named for the egg cup in which mixed drinks were usually served to the ladies in the 18th century. Later in America, they were served on Mississippi River boats where the word was anglicized to "cocktail."

Another source traces it to a New York tavern where cockfights were held and cock feathers were used as swizzle sticks in mixed drinks. The English claim it came from the Yorkshire dialect in which "cocktail" meant the foam that spilled over on a glass of ale. In 1809 the Hudson (N.Y.) Balance described a cocktail as "a stimulating liquor composed of spirits, sugar, water and bitters."

FONDUE IS THE FRENCH equivalent of a Welsh rarebit, but fondue Bourguignonne at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant means bit-sized pieces of steak cooked to your own taste at the table in imported Swiss fondue pots. Then they are swirled in sauces flavored with curry, lemon, tomato and herbs.

Marin Averaged New Dinery Every Two Months In 1962

During 1962, Marin County averaged one new dinery every two months.

The pace was set by Rico's at 1219 Bridgeway, Sausalito, which appeared around the first of the year. This was formerly the location of the Steak House, and previously Pierre's.

The building was completely remodeled inside by new owner Richard Blacow, former operator of the Show Boat in Jack London Square in Oakland. Blacow secured a full liquor license and the establishment has become popular not only with Sausalito residents but visitors from across the bay.

Le Chalet, a French-Basque restaurant at 405 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, was opened in March. Owners Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coscarat bought the property and the house next door. This, too, had been a restaurant before and in its former years was best known as the Gambit.

The Coscarats secured a wine license and have gradually increased their menu to include many provincial dishes — some found in other French restaurants, other from their own recipes.

A month or so later, Jess Fisher, a Marin resident for several years, bought out the historical Black Point Inn which had been many things and served many purposes over its 80 years history, but never that of a restaurant.

The place had been allowed to run down and Fisher found his work cut out to remodel it into something that would appeal to the family trade. He has done considerable remodeling and plans to do more in the future.

It now serves Chinese and American dinners prepared by Joe and Al Louie, formerly of the 751 Club, San Rafael, which was razed to make way for the new Fourth and C Building under construction.

The largest establishment to open this year was Tomahawk Lodge—a complete motel with 60 rooms, restaurant, coffee shop, bars and banquet rooms. The development was completed July 1 by Ralph Briggs, senior and junior, Novato contractors, and is located on the Redwood Highway about one and one-half miles north of Novato. The Briggses operate the motel service with Clem Finney, a former motel man as their manager. Dining room, coffee shop and food service are under the supervision of Don Giovannoni, former Marin restaurant owner and chef. Dante Pareglio, at one time a co-owner of Marin Joe's, Corte Madera and the Brick Lodge, San Rafael, is in charge of the bar and liquor service.

After considerable remodeling of the old Postoffice building and Sausalito Hotel at El Portal and Bridgeway, Sausalito, Alioto's Arbordale Hof Brau Restaurant appeared in September. Peter Alioto, owner of Alioto's Hof Brau on Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, is the restaurateur.

Alioto adopted the Arbordale name from an old German beer garden which had existed on the same spot 40 or 50 years ago. Woods for the interior finishing were brought from venerable Pacific Heights mansions in San Francisco which had been razed to make way for apartments.

Another hof brau type of restaurant, McKee's (former owners of the Dugout), was opened last month at 721 Lincoln Avenue extension, near San Rafael's industrial section. It was opened primarily to serve workers and businessmen in that area, but has since become popular for its dinners. Don Caseldine, a well known cook and chef in Marin County, is in charge of the food service. There is an adjoining bar.

THEY TALK ABOUT Tiburon Tommie's Pier 41 down in New Zealand. And sometimes they come to see it, decked out in native dress. Tommie Cox and Johnnie Won, partners in the Tiburon dinery, were quick to flank this fair Polynesian visitor from "down under" and show off its authentic South Seas decorations.

Bordeaux Once Wine Capital Of World—Has Fine Vintages

Back in the middle ages, Bordeaux was the wine capital of the world. From it came Claret, still a great favorite in Great Britain.

Bordeaux red wines, high in iron and tannin may be classed as follows: Medoc, Graves, Saint-Emilion, Pomerol, Cotes de Fronsac, Bourg, Blaye and Entre-deux-Mers. Medoc wines are probably the most widely known—for their color, flavor and delicacy. Best growths: Chateau Lafite, Chateau Latour and Chateau Margaux.

White wines from Entre-deux-Mers and the Blaye districts, Sauternes, Cerons and Graves also have strength and flavor, as do those of the Grande Cote, Langoiran, Louipac and Sainte-Croix-du-Mont on the Garonne River.

The Sauternes are best known to us, at least by name, similar to our own California sauterne. The fine first growth of the Bordeaux Sauternes is Chateau d'Yquem, a connoisseur's choice throughout the world.

Food Of The Future May Be Cooked At Room Temperature

There is a possibility — a slim one — that restaurants may one day be able to dispense with their kitchen stoves and serve food cooked at room temperature.

Scientists, doing research with presses designed to produce pressures up to 100,000 atmospheres, or more than a million pounds per square inch, have made a fascinating discovery.

Under such pressures, food can be cooked without heat in 10 minutes!

At a National Academy of Sciences meeting in Washington last year, Dr. Willard F. Libby, director of the University of California Institute of Geophysics and Planetary Physics, told of two presses which were used to perform this culinary miracle on eggs and steak. Potatoes and carrots required an hour's pressure. The foods came out cold, as well as completely sterilized, but otherwise as tasty as food normally prepared.

There's only one trouble—the presses are so huge no restaurant has a kitchen large enough to hold them.

BOTH FAY AND FARWELL TAYLOR at the Palate in Mill Valley are painters as well as restaurateurs. The one shown here was done by Farwell. Landscapes are the subjects of Fay's work. Paintings are often displayed in the restaurant.

PANCAKE PATIO. When balmy weather replaces winter cold and rains, the parking lot patio at Eugene's, San Rafael, will host almost as many pancake eaters outside as it does inside. The "deep dish pie" originated by restaurateur and pastry expert Eugene Lackenbach will soon be the subject of feature articles in three national restaurant magazines.

Restaurant Group Organized

The Marin County Restaurant and Tavern Owners Assn. was reorganized last May at which time a new panel of officers was elected.

James Bigelow of Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon now heads the group as president. Ferd Masberg of County Club Bowl, San Rafael is vice president; Donald W. Downs of the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito, is secretary-treasurer.

The three officers, together with Marsha Owen of Valhalla Inn and Max Horowitz of the Colonel's Ranch wagon, comprise the association's board of directors. Horowitz is also chairman of the membership committee.

Two more directors are expected to be elected this year.

THERE ARE MANY fair weather days during the year in Marin when outside tables are filled with customers. Service on its "Galleria" is one of the attractions at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant. Facing on the San Rafael Canal it is a natural choice for guests arriving by boat.

ALTA MIRA HOTEL'S huge chef Max Huegi is noted for his beef Stroganoff and chicken Kiev — dishes he learned to cook from Russian expatriots when he had his own restaurant in Shanghai many years ago. Swiss-born Huegi still speaks with an accent, in tones that can be heard through closed doors—probably acquired from calling from Alp tops when he was a boy.

CHOOSE YOUR WINES

You Afraid Of Calories?

Red table wines vary from 24 to 25 calories per ounce, or approximately 100 calories for a four-ounce serving.

White wines are slightly less, except for sweet sauterne. It has 26 calories per ounce.

Dessert wines are understandably higher in calories. They range from 38 per ounce for dry sherry to 47 for port and 48 for muscatel.

Most restaurants use wines in cooking. But table wines then lose about 85 per cent of their original calories.

Potato Chips Got Started When Spud Fell In The Fat

Potato chips, like pretzels and salted peanuts, can become a positive passion, yet few people know the history of these popular snack tidbits or that they originated with a restaurant man.

It all began on a pleasant July day in 1853 at the kitchen of Cary Moon's Lakehouse, a famous restaurant in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., and a favorite gathering place for fashionable people of the day.

Moon's head chef George Crum, an expert in preparing the dishes served to the inn's millionaire patrons, picked up a piece of potato that had accidentally fallen into some frying oil and had been fished out. He tasted, liked it and mentioned to to Moon.

Together, they sliced some potatoes, fried them—and the world's first potato chips were born. They were an instant success with Lakehouse patrons. Moon, with a flair for publicity, called them "Moon's Saratoga Chips."

Other chefs heard about them and copied them. Soon they were being served in restaurants all over Saratoga and were also served in paper cornucopias. Their fame spread beyond the area. Moon's name was dropped and they became known as "Saratoga Chips"—eventually, simply as "potato chips."

By 1887, potato chips were widely made and the White House cook book of the year gave a recipe for their preparation. After food firms went into the business of making them and selling them to stores, nutritionists in testing kitchen created new recipes by flavoring them with smoke, onions and garlic.

Grape Vines 60 Years Old

A grape vine at San Gabriel in Southern California was planted in 1861 and is still bearing. Called the Trinity Vine, it is at the site of the largest winery established by the Franciscan fathers.

At Kippen, Scotland, the famous Kippen grape vine was started over 71 years ago and now spreads over 5,000 square feet, under glass. One branch is 300 feet long.

Bearing vineyards with vines as much as 60 years old can be found in the United States.

A Humble Beginning For Eatery

Probably the first American restaurant to attain world recognition was Delmonico's in the 1820's.

This famed eating establishment had a humble beginning as a wine and pastry shop. In the fashion of the day it was not uncommon for such places to have tables for their customers to enjoy refreshment.

Two Swiss, one a former sea captain, opening up a modest food business in New York, did so well with it that they had to send for a relative to help them. These were the Delmonico brothers, John and Peter, and it was their nephew Lorenzo who was to make the family name a golden word wherever dining was mentioned.

Starting with a few hot dishes and a menu printed in French and English, the Delmonicos soon attracted widespread attention. The original shop burned down less than 10 years after it was opened, but by then they had become established and when an elaborate new restaurant was opened customers flocked to it by the hundreds.

The French dishes and atmosphere attracted prominent Europeans—among them Charles Louis Napoleon, Thackeray, Dickens and the Prince of Wales.

Shortly before the Civil War, an uptown Delmonico's was opened at Fifth Avenue—a magnificent place, frequented by the wealthy and elite. It once hosted President Lincoln whose simple tastes did not dampen his enthusiasm for its truly remarkable cuisine.

Here it was that many new dishes originated that are found on restaurant menus today—baked Alaska and lobster Newburg among them.

By 1876 there were four Delmonico restaurants, often serving food that had to be brought from distant places for specially prepared banquets. If the prices were also fabulous there was never a shortage of patrons, for those were the days when great American fortunes were being amassed.

Hamburger Is Still A Favorite

Known by any other name —ground round, ground chuck or chopped sirloin—it's still Hamburger in the minds of most consumers and accounts for almost one-third of Americans' beef entrees today.

This piece de resistance of the circular drive-in and corner sandwich shop has enough simple dignity left over to grace the menu of many a first-class restaurant. It is, in fact, a close relative of the Tartar steak which, being more of a blue-blood (or more red-blooded), traces its lineage farther back in history but has never equalled such mass popularity.

Medieval merchant traders from the port of Hamburg, Germany, traveling in the Baltic countries picked up the Tartar custom of scraping raw meat and seasoning it with salt, pepper and onions —much as we do today—and brought it home for their friends to try. Hamburgers tasted it, liked it and adopted it as their chief meat dish.

Eventually some resourceful Hamburg cook thought to shape the raw meat into patties and broil them just long enough to brown the outside and leave the inside rare. German immigrants brought the recipe to America, where it became a great favorite.

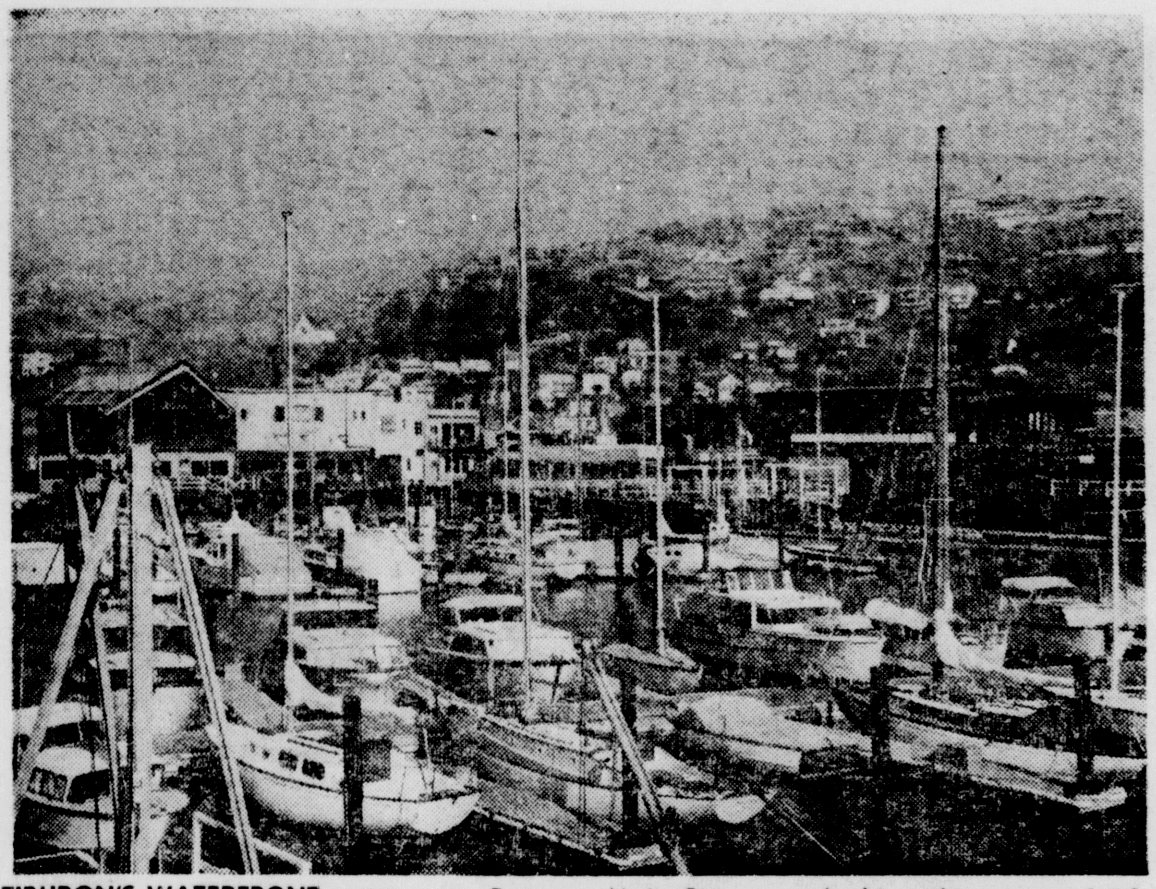
However, an English physician of the 1880s, Dr. James H. Salisbury, prescribed a well-done version for some of his patients, and it is this preparation that has seemed mostly to appeal to the American taste and barbecue epicures.

But the gourmet—who may be reluctant to admit publicly that he actually enjoys Hamburgers in preference to Tartar steak—still broils them as they originally did in Hamburg—crisp brown outside and juicy rare within.

Appetite For Lobster Grows

The American appetite for lobster continues to grow. According to the Food Service Research Digest of the National Restaurant Assn., our domestic production plus imports from Canada cannot keep up with the demand.

At present we are receiving frozen lobster tails from about 40 different producing nations or distinct areas. The bulk of our imports come from Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and most recently from Brazil.



TIBURON'S WATERFRONT restaurants. Four of Tiburon's dineries are located on the waterfront, and three of them — Tiburon Tommie's, Sam's and the Dock — are on Main Street overlooking this scene of Tiburon Harbor and moorings at the Corinthian Yacht Club. Sam's and the Dock have piers for guests arriving by boat.

Many Restaurants In Marin Have Received Top Awards

Many Marin restaurants have received awards and favorable mention by widely distributed gourmet guides, national magazines and books.

Last July's issue of Holiday Magazine which carried its 11th annual award section included Ondine in Sausalito among its highly rated dineries. It was Ondine's second year of recognition in the section. The magazine noted that some of the greatest American cities did not have a single restaurant which measured up to its award distinction, bestowed on the basis of gourmet stature and wines served.

Fleur de Lys in San Francisco, with which Fleur de Lys, San Anselmo is affiliated, was also among Holiday's repeat recommendations. This French restaurant was likewise included in "Great Restaurants of America" by Ted Patrick and Silas Spitzer published in 1960, and in Gourmet International's "Restaurants of San Francisco" recently in print. The latter also included Ondine and the Spinnaker.

A publication just off the press—"Dining Out in San Francisco, Northern California and Reno"—published by Howard A. Young and Associates of Palo Alto, describes 122 dining establishments in these areas and recommends six Marin restaurants: Ondine and the Spinnaker in Sausalito; Caprice in Tiburon; Rubini's in Fairfax; Rancho Nicasio in Nicasio; Manka's Czech Restaurant (Inverness Lodge), Inverness, and Fleur de Lys.

The guide is exceptionally well written and took more than four years to prepare. During this time more than 200,000 miles were driven and 350 restaurants surveyed.

Last October issue of the PG&E Progress featured La Petite Auberge, San Rafael as its restaurant of the month, an honor which had been given to Rubini's in 1961.

Sabella's in Marin was mentioned favorably by Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. in his writings after his visit to the county a few years ago, and it was the subject of an article in Red Book Magazine.

The "Gemutlich Salad" of Mountain Home Inn, Mill Valley was featured in Victor Bennett's "Around the World in a Salad Bowl" published in 1961. It was also given additional recognition in a colored frontpiece.

Other Marin restaurants which have been given special recognition at various times in the past include the Alta Mira Hotel and the Glad Hand in Sausalito, Sam's in Tiburon, El Paseo in Mill Valley, Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur, Corey's in San Rafael, Deer Park Villa in Fairfax and Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio.

THE MEXICAN POSADAS CEREMONY at Ramona's in December is always followed by the traditional breaking of the "Pinata." Containers filled with candies and sweets are decorated in the form of birds and animals and suspended from a rafter. Children take turns blindfolded in whacking at the Pinata with a stick, hoping to break it and spill forth the contents. Since the Pinata is never allowed to remain motionless it is not easy to accomplish.

They Took Water From Wine To Make Brandy

Wine is the liquid from which brandy is distilled. History has it that both the end product and the name originated with the Dutch in medieval times.

Shipping then was costly and hazardous, so one burgher distilled the wine he bought to avoid hauling water. He reasoned that he would have the essence; he could put the water back in before he sold it. But the brandewijn (burned wine) tasted so good he was able to sell it as something new. When the English got hold of it they shortened the name to brandy.

But there is more to fine brandy than simple distillation.

The action of wooden casks on spirits is as important as it is for wines. This holds true for whiskies as well as brandies. So woods are chosen whose chemical composition tends to improve the liquor. The best casks are said to be made with oak or chestnut staves. Through aging, the brandy takes on the aromatic flavor of the wood, adding to that of the grapes from which it was extracted. Sometimes it is left in the casks 10 or 15 years.

Afterward it is poured into bottles which are tightly corked and sealed. But no matter how long brandy remains in the bottle there is no further improvement. It can only have the flavor that went with it into the bottle.

All French brandy is not cognac. Cognac comes from grapes grown in the Charente region of France and takes its name from the town of Cognac. Actually it is made from grapes which are very acid and rather disagreeable in taste. But the brandy with proper aging is mellow and has a fine bouquet, with a "long taste" that lingers in the mouth and nose after it is swallowed.

A good runner-up to cognac is "armagnac," named after the Haut-Armagnac region of France. This brandy also has fine bouquet and flavor but the taste is more fleeting.

To enjoy brandy, it should be poured sparingly in a clear balloon-shaped glass, slightly warmed with the hands before sipping. The aroma should first be inhaled, a test that only good liqueur can pass. But it's the after-taste that counts.

MOTHER AND SON CHEFS. Dinners at Manka's Czech Restaurant in Inverness Lodge are prepared from the recipes of Manka Prokupek learned in her native Czechoslovakia. These have been passed on to her son Milan Jr. who cooks the food in the exact manner of his mother. Well almost the same — perhaps with an occasional new touch of his own.

PIERRE GRIGAUT, part owner of La Petite Auberge in San Rafael, also works as the little French restaurant's maitre d' and can prepare a Caesar salad with the best. For years he was known to Bay Area diners at Trader Vic's.

Art And Wine

An English artist, while sketching mountains, found that mixing his chalks with wine gave him the golds and red-browns he needed for the valley shadows and the sharp relief of the peaks. Besides, he said, it gave the paper a glorious smell.

Meat Is Relatively Safe From Radioactive Fallout

Radioactive fallout — even nuclear attack short of a direct hit—is not likely to make meat or poultry unfit for human consumption.

Dr. John H. Rust, professor of pharmacology and head of the section for nuclear medicine for the University of Chicago, said farm animals showed more resistance to radioactivity than humans in tests on the Marshall Islands and in Nevada. The tests indicated that the flesh of lethally irradiated animals is not harmful — even from animals near death from total body irradiation.

He said hens are especially resistant and adept at filtering out strontium 90. For this reason, poultry will be important as a food source in the event of nuclear attack. Chickens are more easily transported and slaughtered than most animals.

The greatest risk, Dr. Rust noted, will be in the care and slaughter of radioactive animals, since their hides will carry particles dangerous to the touch.

Radioactive animals will still be able to reproduce. Genetics and fertility damage is not as serious with animals as with man, because of the practice of selective breeding.

Headgear Important To Chef

The chef who carries his head high under the traditional headgear of his profession — the white hat — has every reason to wear it proudly.

This symbol carried down from the Middle Ages had its origin in a country famous for its dinner clubs, fabulous banquets, exotic recipes and foods of the East and good cooks.

Under the Roman emperor Justinian, Constantinople was a magnificent place. It was filled with universities and museums and was a center for art and culture. But after Justinian's death the entire Byzantine Empire entered a period of decadence. By the 7th Century philosophers, artists and free thinkers were widely persecuted and many of them fled to the Greek monasteries for refuge.

Since men of the arts in those days were also excellent cooks in the true Hellenic tradition, the monks, who were lovers of good food, welcomed them within their walls. They offered to disguise them in their own garb and crowned black caps for protection.

But since some measure of distinction was deemed necessary, the refugees adopted white caps instead of black. In time the white headgear came to be recognized as the professional badge of the cook. Eventually the crowns increased in height according to the proficiency and culinary status of the wearer, with the master chef demanding the highest hat of all.

Pumpkin Pie Goes Modern

Pumpkin pie served at your favorite restaurant next Thanksgiving may taste just like the one you had last year —but it may not be made in the same old way.

Commercial production of "pumpkin flakes," originally developed through research at the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station is soon expected to be made available for institutional purchasers.

Pumpkin flakes are much like flaked sweet potatoes. They are peeled, sliced and cooked. After cooking they are pulped and rolled out in dry sheets, then broken into particles for packaging.

You simply add water, milk or other ingredients, and within a minute the mixture is ready to use.

The process is the result of three year's research by Dr. Maurice Hoover and his staff who are now working on the development of complete pie mixtures.

Mince pie, maybe?

Marin Restaurants During 1962 Had Eventful And Varied Year

Last year was an eventful one for Marin restaurants. New places opened and changed hands. Chefs and cooks switched from kitchen to kitchen and cooked up new menus to attract attention; owners tried to help them with special events.

Early in the year the Prokupeks and Nevis at Inverness Lodge and Drake's Arms teamed to put on a fox hunt that made newsreels. Roy Franchini ran up a record March of Dimes take over the Chateau counter, resulting in a campaign chairmanship for the next season.

Somehow in February La Petite Auberge managed to find some hidden space and remodeled again . . . Confucius offered a $2.95 filet mignon dinner special . . . Returning from a Hawaiian holiday in March, Shaun Wiltshire translated it in terms of an "Irish luau" at Wiltshire Towers . . .

ABOUT THAT TIME, Hector Rubini and Guido Farina of San Rafael Joe's and two golf pals made sports pictures appearing on Marin Golf and Country Club links in medieval costumes, winning an award . . . Then it was that Deer Park Villa began some startling remodeling changes.

One sad note in April—the passing of beloved Paul McArdle of Buon Gusto Villa, and the restaurant closed indefinitely for the first time in generations . . .

In the spring, the annual Easter egg hunt at Sabella's . . . A very successful revival of the "one free - one pay" dinner check took hold with many county restaurants . . . That and the Seattle World's Fair brought a surge of visitors never seen before in Marin . . .

Mother's Day, one of the busiest restaurant days in the year, broke all previous records . . . The Colonel's Ranch Wagon chucked its chuck wagon dinners and went straight table service . . . Lou Sabella tried to outjump Angels Camp's frog hop . . . Sometime during this period Tiburon's ferry service increased visitors to the Dock and Marinites got the chartering fever.

June appearance of Zareh Surabian, "Prince of the Piano," at the Embers was the forerunner of popular appearances elsewhere . . . Confucius featured the "Mandarin Pillow," a steamed dumpling of rice flour, meat filled . . . Jim Jackson of Greenbrae bought out Caesar Taverna's interest in King Cotton in July . . . And a diminutive French painter called Poucette, noted for her illustrations of One Thousand and One Nights, French version, was feted at Fleur de Lys . . .

The Prokupeks and Nevis split up Inverness Lodge and Drake's Arms between them . . . Next month Jim and Dan O'Brien bought Rod's Hickory Pit. Since then they've dropped the "Rod's" . . . The 751 Club closed to make space for a new building and Al and Joe Louie moved their kitchen equipment to Black Point Inn . . . Kirby Atterbury's liquor license for Caprice began flickering on and off right up to December . . . Mary Harkins of El Paseo picked up honors at the National Restaurant Convention for her popovers and "Tamal-pies."

SEPTEMBER brought a new manager—Etienne Provost—to Fleur de Lys . . . Roy Bolton returned to Cloud 5 after a long air force stretch in Germany . . . And Hector Rubini went in the opposite direction with the McInnes party to see what Russian restaurants were like . . .

October was National Restaurant Month and many happenings: Mountain Home Inn had its first successful "Oktoberfest" . . . Jim Bigelow at Sam's Anchor Cafe uncovered some 40-year-old menus and tried to return to those prices; didn't make it . . . People became aware that Juanita had moved her galley to the Canton Ferry . . . Johnny Scioli joined John Mangini at the Cellars and set up lunches and dinners . . .

Fleur de Lys had a wine contest and Eugene's one for old and young pancake eaters . . . Clay Wright bought the old Sundberg Inn at Olema, planning someday to make it a full restaurant . . . And in November, Greek actress Melina Mercouri, being the star of "Never on Sunday," made a Saturday appearance at Alta Mira Hotel . . . Horace Fong detained an escaped con at Confucius until he could be talked into going home . . .

RANCHO NICASIO pounded out a lot of money for the Nicasio Women's Club and 4-H Club with an auction . . . Thanksgiving set some kind of a record for restaurant attendance . . . Buckeye Restaurant celebrated its 25th anniversary with champagne on the house for diners.

Last month of the year wound up with the Palate completing its long remodeling and introducing a regular Saturday "Palate Party" . . . Tiburon Tommie's Pier 41 had its annual open house celebration . . . And Rubini's forgot its fourth anniversary . . . Ramona's featured its third annual ceremony of the Mexican Posadas . . . And Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club topped all social events of the year with the Debutante Ball.

And the crowds that gathered in Marin restaurants on New Year's Eve were by far the biggest in the county's history.

Wonder what 1963 will bring?
